ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties. Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood. Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, a leading land-grant university and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in providing students a broad curricula of liberal and practical education. MSU also serves people of the state, nation and world through its numerous research, extension and international programs.

Now in its 132nd year, Michigan State University has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the largest universities in the nation. It has more than 3,000 faculty/staff engaged in teaching, research and public service, 432 campus buildings, and more than 5,200 acres of land, of which some 2,100 acres are in existing or planned campus development. More than 41,000 students now attend the University at East Lansing, of which about 86 percent are from Michigan.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day — farming — MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of today. The University now has a Graduate School and 14 colleges — Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science, and Veterinary Medicine.

At the center of all major universities is a cluster of disciplines which comprise the liberal arts and sciences. At MSU, this center consists of three colleges — Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. Providing outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines, these colleges also have special programs which enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. In addition, in collaboration with the College of Education, the three colleges prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan and the nation. These colleges touch the lives of all undergraduate students at MSU by providing the general education that constitutes approximately one-quarter of the undergraduate program. The Honors College, which enables superior undergraduate students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. MSU's record in producing Rhodes Scholars, a total of thirteen (ten in the last fourteen years), is unmatched among public universities; the University also has provided six Marshall Scholarships winners in the last eleven years. These British scholarships are two of the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards that an American student can receive. Michigan State University also is a prominent sponsor of National Merit Scholars.

MSU adds to the store of knowledge with a wide array of outstanding research activities which are supported by a multimillion dollar sponsor-funding program. Some major facilities include the Pesticide Research Center, which presents a model program of multidisciplinary research and teaching; the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W. K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU will examine the nuclei of the heaviest of elements.

Benefits of the University are brought to the public by the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lifelong Education Programs, and the Cooperative Extension Service. Their programs provide technical information and formal course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 60,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

The University's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU maintains research and educational assistance projects on a worldwide basis. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

HONORARY DEGREE

JACWEIR BRESLIN

Coming to Michigan State University as a student in 1939 you were an outstanding athlete in three sports before your graduation with an education degree in 1946. After four years with the Chrysler Corporation, you returned to this University in 1950 to serve as Assistant Alumni Director and Field Secretary, earning your master's degree in guidance and counseling in 1957. Your University assignments expanded to include the Directorship of the Student Placement Bureau, Assistant Vice President for Off-campus Education, and Assistant to then President John Hannah.

In 1961 you were appointed as Secretary of the MSU Board of Trustees, and in 1969 you were appointed as Executive Vice President and Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Your role representing Michigan State University to Michigan legislative and executive branches began in 1958, and for nearly 30 years you have performed this demanding role with great distinction. Many of the contemporary buildings on the University campus are physical testimony to the effectiveness of your liaison with state government.

Establishment of the University's two new medical schools was also a reflection of your ability to work successfully with all parties in state government for the best interests of the people of Michigan.

You presided over the emergence of collective bargaining for staff of this University shortly after this process was made possible by changes in state law. Your influence, both personal and professional, has reached throughout the campus.

Students have always been central to your concept of Michigan State University. You have worked in many different ways for their interests and have received accolades from many students over the years.

Quality academic programs have been the focus of your vigorous promotion and you have served as the liaison between faculty and state legislators on various occasions to improve mutual understanding and support.

You have served on or chaired major public and private boards of directors including the Fruehauf Corporation, Bank of Lansing, Michigan State University Foundation, Jackson National Life Insurance Company, Ingham Medical Center, Akers Trust Fund, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, and Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

You have received many honors and awards for your dedicated and effective efforts for higher education in this state, including the Boy Scouts Distinguished Citizen Award, the MSU Distinguished Faculty Award, the Duffy Daugherty Award, the College of Education Distinguished Faculty Award and, most recently, the naming of MSU's soon-to-be constructed Jack Breslin Student Events Center.

For 36 years of unique, multidimensional, and distinguished service to this University, to its students, alumni, staff and faculty, and to the people of Michigan, Michigan State University is pleased to present you with the Honorary Degree Doctor of Laws.

ALMA MATER Traynor

M.S.U., we love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.
