ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND NATURAL RESOURCES Maize Forestry, Packaging Russet	COLLEGE OF COMMUNICATION ARTS AND SCIENCES Peacock Blue Journalism Crimson Speech Silver Gray	JAMES MADISON COLLEGE Citron
COLLEGE OF ARTS AND LETTERS White Fine Arts Brown Music Pink Philosophy Dark Blue	COLLEGE OF EDUCATION .. Light Blue	COLLEGE OF NURSING Apricot
COLLEGE OF BUSINESS Drab Economics Copper	COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING Orange COLLEGE OF HUMAN ECOLOGY Maroon	COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE Green

		COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE Dark Gray

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, a leading land-grant university and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in providing students a broad curricula of liberal and practical education. MSU also serves people of the state, nation, and world through its numerous research, extension, and international programs.

Now in its 134th year, Michigan State University has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the largest universities in the nation. It has more than 3,000 faculty/staff engaged in teaching, research, and public service; more than 400 campus buildings; and more than 5,200 acres of land, of which some 2,100 acres are in existing or planned campus development. More than 42,000 students now attend the university at East Lansing, of which some 86 percent are from Michigan.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day — farming — MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of today. The university now has a Graduate School and 14 colleges — Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science, and Veterinary Medicine.

At the center of all major universities is a cluster of disciplines that constitute the liberal arts and sciences. At MSU, this center consists of three colleges — Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. Providing outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines, these colleges also have special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. In addition, in collaboration with the College of Education, the three colleges prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan and the nation. These colleges touch the lives of all undergraduate students at MSU by providing the general education that constitutes approximately one-quarter of the undergraduate program. The Honors College, which enables superior undergraduate students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. MSU is proud of its record in producing Rhodes Scholars, a total of thirteen (ten in the last sixteen years); the university also has provided six Marshall Scholarship winners. These British scholarships are two of the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards that an American student can receive. Michigan State University also is a prominent sponsor of National Merit Scholars.

MSU adds to the store of knowledge with a wide array of outstanding research activities that are supported by a multimillion dollar sponsor-funding program. Some major facilities include the Pesticide Research Center, which presents a model program of multidisciplinary research and teaching; the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W. K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is examining the nuclei of the heaviest of elements.

Benefits of the university are brought to the public by the Agricultural Experiment Station, Lifelong Education Programs, and the Cooperative Extension Service. Their programs provide technical information and formal course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 60,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

The university's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU maintains research and educational assistance projects on a worldwide basis. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

M.S.U., we love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,

O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

HONORARY DEGREE

MYRON E. ESSEX

As a leading scientist in the biomedical community, you have brought your brilliant research to bear on animal viruses that serve as models for understanding human disease. Your work on viruses in animals has pointed to parallels in human leukemia, leading to seminal contributions in a key area of cancer research. In recent years, your keen awareness of vital research questions has brought you to concentrate on AIDS, where your discoveries have provided a critical link in the chain of evidence connecting AIDS to a leukemia virus.

After receiving your baccalaureate degree from the University of Rhode Island, your native state, you earned the Master of Science and the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degrees at Michigan State University. In 1970 you completed the Ph.D. in microbiology at the University of California, Davis, before going on to two years as a post-doctoral fellow at the Karolinska Institute in Sweden.

Your scientific stature already widely recognized, you were named a Fellow and then a Scholar of the Leukemia Society of America. In 1972, you were appointed to the faculty of the Harvard School of Public Health. There your interest in a broad range of problems in biology and all aspects of medicine was matched by outstanding administrative ability. These, together with the high respect in which you were held by the scientific and medical communities, led to your appointment as head of the Department of Microbiology, soon to be restructured as the Department of Cancer Biology, in the Harvard School of Public Health.

Wide recognition of your distinguished research, together with your own deep commitment to public service, are marked by your membership on the Board of Scientific Counselors of the National Cancer Institute, on the Medical and Scientific Advisory Committee of the Leukemia Society of America, and on the Lasker Awards Jury. They are marked also by high awards from the Leukemia Society of America, the American Cancer Society, and Harvard University.

Your published research constitutes an extended and vital contribution to the understanding of viruses causing disease in animals and humankind. You have shown broad vision, as well as deep generosity and compassion, in turning your extraordinary energies to research on AIDS—the baffling disease that each year inflicts the most profound suffering on greater and greater numbers of human beings not only in America but throughout the world.

In recognition of a distinguished career in scientific and medical research—which has resulted in a life of high public service—Michigan State University is proud to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.
