On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE MAILED TO DEGREE RECIPIENTS
APPROXIMATELY ONE MONTH AFTER THE END OF THE SEMESTER.

MSU is an affirmative-action, equal-opportunity institution.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Now, 140 years later, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

Today, the East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 3,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students — 85 percent from Michigan — attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and 107 foreign nations. Minority students comprise more than 14 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, Michigan State has a Graduate School and 14 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges also provide outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation. Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 13 Rhodes Scholars, six Marshall Scholarship winners, and 11 Churchill Scholarship recipients. These British scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic award that an American student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Pesticide Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest nationwide, annually hosts some 30,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicted by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

HONORARY DEGREE

MARY LOWE GOOD

Your expertise in the field of Chemistry and Materials Science, your distinguished leadership in integrating the capabilities of technology with a broader concern for societal issues, and your prophetic voice as an advocate for responsible technology have contributed significantly to our understanding of the impact that science and technology have on society.

After receiving your doctorate in chemistry from the University of Arkansas in 1955, you immediately established yourself as a teacher and research scholar at Louisiana State University where you achieved the University's highest professional rank, Boyd Professor of Chemistry and Materials Science. In 1980, you began a new career in the engineering materials industry where you rose to become the senior vice president for technology at Allied Signal Corporation. You also began your involvement in national science policy, distinguishing yourself as a member and chair of the National Science Board. In 1991 you were appointed to serve on the President's Council of Advisors on Science and Technology.

The third phase of your professional life began when you were appointed Under Secretary for Technology at the U.S.

Department of Commerce. You continue to challenge scientists and engineers to attend to their role in society, and have now become the national conscience for responsible technology and its effect upon human life.

Your leadership in the fields of engineering and chemistry has been recognized by your election to the Council of the National Academy of Engineering, the highest professional honor bestowed on engineers, and as president of the American Chemical Society, the largest organization of chemists in the U.S. Your numerous national and international awards and honors include the National Science Foundation's Distinguished Public Service Award, the American Chemical Society's Priestley Medal, Honorary Fellowship in the Royal Society of Chemistry, Fellow of the Royal Swedish Academy of Engineering Science, and the Industrial Research Institute's Medalist Award.

For your continual dedication to the responsible development of science and technology, I am privileged to present you with the Honorary Doctor of Science degree from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

CLAUDE HOPE

Your lifetime of exceptional contributions to the advancement of horticulture has revolutionized the nursery and floricultural industries throughout the world. Your humanitarian business practices show an uncommon concern for the social and economic conditions of your employees and established standards for U.S. owned companies operating throughout Central America.

In 1935, after six years as Horticulturist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, you entered graduate school at Michigan State University. Within two years you completed your course work and took a position at the U.S. Plant Introduction Station in Maryland. During World War II, as a captain in the military, you were put in charge of a quinine plantation in Costa Rica. Following the war, you jointly started Pan American Seeds, Incorporated. You also founded Linda Vista S.A., a flower seed company in Dulce Nombre, Costa Rica where you served as president until your retirement in 1989.

As a scientist, you co-developed the first ever Comanche hybrid red petunia and developed the Elfin and Super Elfin series of hybrid impatiens. As a result of your achievements, the impatiens has become the number one bedding plant in the United States. Most importantly, you developed, invented, and improved nearly all of the technologies used today for large scale production of F1 hybrid flower seeds.

As a businessman, your concern for your employees led you to establish the highest levels of health care benefits available in Costa Rica; to provide financial support and assistance for both formal and informal educational opportunities for employees and their families; and to create an employee Trust Fund for home loans. These uncommon business practices and the standards they set throughout Central America were recognized by Costa Rica when you received its Award of Merit in Agriculture "Farmer of the Year" and its el Guarcio Special Award.

The American Society of Horticultural Science recognized your research and contributions in 1991, when you received its first Outstanding Industrial Scientist Award. Among your other awards, are the American Association of Scientist's Award of Merit and the Bedding Plant Industry's International Award. You were inducted into the Floriculture Hall of Fame by the Society of American Florists, and honored as a Fellow of the American Society of Horticultural Science.

Because of your significant contributions to horticultural science—as a scholar, a businessman, and a philanthropist—I am privileged to present to you the honorary degree of Doctor of Agriculture from Michigan State University.

BRANFORD MARSALIS

Throughout an illustrious career spanning more than two decades, you have distinguished yourself as an internationally renowned jazz saxophonist and educator. Your musical achievements, along with your dedication to musical scholarship, rank you as a pre-eminent scholar and performer.

You began your musical career around the age of four, first playing the piano, then the clarinet, and finally settling on the saxophone. As a young man you decided to pursue the tenor sax, which you regarded as the closest instrument to the human voice. You studied jazz at the New Orleans Center for the Creative Arts until 1978 when you attended Southern University in Baton Rouge to study under clarinetist Alvin Batiste.

Included in your accomplishments are numerous albums, among them the album LOVED ONES performed with your father, and several recordings for motion pictures and documentaries. You move with ease among pop, rock, jazz and classical groups, always maintaining your status as a premier jazz saxophonist. The musical world has acknowledged your talents several times with the prestigious Grammy award. In 1992, at NBC's invitation, you became the music director and arranger for "The Tonight Show" with Jay Leno.

Michigan State University's School of Music appointed you as its first Catherine Herrick Cobb Distinguished Lecturer in 1996, where you taught saxophone studio classes, coached jazz bands, led a Jazz Styles Listening Forum for improvisation classes, conducted clinics for jazz combos and provided innumerable opportunities for interacting with students and enriching the broader community. Along with your involvement in directly educating young artists, you are constantly campaigning to promote music education and appreciation among youth.

Not only are you a singularly gifted musician and a distinguished lecturer and guide, you have also shown yourself to be a tireless humanitarian, performing for numerous benefit concerts such as the "Freedomfest" for Nelson Mandela, the Rain Forest Foundation, and the AIDS Project Los Angeles.

In recognition of your passionate and ceaseless quest for mastery in your diverse musical endeavors and for your ongoing commitment to mentoring the musical artists of tomorrow, I am privileged to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts from Michigan State University.

PETER F. SECCHIA

While you have distinguished yourself in both business and public service, your particular achievements and continued commitment to international relations make you a model citizen for a global society.

You began your business career after obtaining a Bachelors Degree in Economics from Michigan State University in 1963. After only 9 years with Universal Forest Products, you became its President, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman from 1971 to 1989. During this time you also began your long commitment to educational, professional and nonprofit community service. In 1989 you were called by President Bush to serve as U.S. Ambassador to Italy, where you distinguished yourself as one of the most popular and effective U.S. Ambassadors in recent memory. In 1993, the Republic of Italy bestowed on you the Cavaliere di Gran Croce (The Knight of the Great Cross), its highest recognition for exceptional service in international affairs, an award rarely given. You were also recognized by the State Department as having a major impact on U.S. foreign policy and received the Distinguished Honor Award, an honor rarely accorded to non-career ambassadors.

Upon your return to the United States you resumed your position as Chairman of the Board of Universal Forest Products where you continue to distinguish yourself with a record of community involvement that includes support of community centers, camps for underprivileged youth, community substance abuse rehabilitation and scholarship support for international programming and study abroad. In 1994, you were honored as Michigan's Master Entrepreneur of the Year, a recognition as the state's outstanding self-made businessman.

You have served on numerous public service committees including the National Advisory Council for Vocational Education, the Executive Committee of the Gerald R. Ford Foundation and chaired "The Secchia Commission to Reengineer State Government".

For your commitment to, and active support of, the values of international service and for your many contributions to society, I am privileged to present you with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

THEDA SKOCPOL

Your research on the politics of social policy, particularly your innovative work on the social and political foundations of revolutions, have become classics in the fields of sociology, political science, history, economics and social anthropology. Your insightful studies of the role of the state in shaping the future of societies have made you one of the premier scholars in the international community of American, European and Asian comparative social scientists.

As an undergraduate student at Michigan State University and a National Merit Scholar, you showed exceptional abilities as an independent and creative scholar, even being appointed a teaching assistant in the Department of Sociology, a position normally reserved for graduate students. You went on to earn an M.A. and a Ph.D. in Sociology from Harvard University, where you continued your scholarly achievements as a Wilson Fellow, a Danforth Fellow and a recipient of several National Science Foundation Fellowships.

After being granted the Ph.D. in 1975, you were selected to remain at Harvard as an Assistant Professor of Sociology, where you began your brilliant professional career. Within two years you were named Administrator of the Graduate Program and Chair of the Committee on Higher Degrees in Sociology at Harvard. In 1981, you moved to the University of Chicago where you were appointed Director of the Center for the Study of Industrial Societies with a dual appointment in the departments of Sociology and Political Science and in Social Science. You returned to Harvard in 1986 with full professorships in both Sociology and Government, a rare honor at Harvard.

You are a remarkably productive scholar, with six major published books, seven edited books and more than fifty scholarly articles. Your seminal works on the political origins of social revolutions have been translated into Italian, Korean, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Japanese, and soon will be translated into Greek. You have received numerous research grants from the Russell Sage Foundation, the Pew Charitable Trust, the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, and the Ford Foundation. Your awards and honors include a Guggenheim Fellowship and appointment as a Senior Visiting Scholar at the Russell Sage Foundation.

With deep pride in your achievements as an international leader of comparative scholarship in the social sciences, I am privileged to present you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from your alma mater, Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

JOHN F. SMITH, JR.

Your distinguished career in international corporate leadership and your philanthropic support of medical research, community outreach, and education projects have benefited not only the state of Michigan and the nation, but the entire world.

Born in Worcester, Massachusetts, you began your business career making and selling ice cream at a family owned business. The work ethic and values you learned in your youth are still applied in your current position, running the world's largest manufacturing company. Hard work, an unpretentious manner, a low profile and complete confidence in subordinates have characterized all your achievements.

You attended The University of Massachusetts where you studied industrial administration and finance. After earning your Master's of Business Administration degree from Boston University in 1965 you transferred to the General Motors financial office in New York where you began your brilliant rise within corporate management of General Motors. From comptroller, to director of worldwide product planning, to president and general manager of General Motors of Canada, Limited, to president of General Motors Europe, to president and finally chairman of the Board, you embodied a leadership that most can only strive to emulate.

You have led GM in developing strong environmental principles through such initiatives as improved fuel economy, diversity, health, safety and philanthropy. As chairman of the General Motors Foundation and the General Motors Cancer Research Foundation you have enlarged GM's ongoing support of cancer research, contributing more than $22 million over the past 20 years, including a $5 million corporate leadership pledge to Detroit's Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute.

You have served as a representative to the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation Business Advisory Council, chairman of the American Manufacturers Association and co-chairman of the Business Roundtable. You presently serve as a member of the Board of Trustees of the United Way of Southeastern Michigan, the Nature Conservancy Board of Directors and the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center.

In recognition of your international corporate leadership, your dedication to the fight against cancer and your varied philanthropic endeavors, I am privileged to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

ALMA MATER.....Traynor

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.
