On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE MAILED TO DEGREE RECIPIENTS
APPROXIMATELY ONE MONTH AFTER THE END OF THE SEMESTER.

MSU is an affirmative-action, equal-opportunity institution.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Now, 140 years later, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

Today, the East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 3,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students — 85 percent from Michigan — attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and 107 foreign nations. Minority students comprise more than 14 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, Michigan State has a Graduate School and 14 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges also provide outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 13 Rhodes Scholars, six Marshall Scholarship winners, and 11 Churchill Scholarship recipients. These British scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic award that an American student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Pesticide Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest nationwide, annually hosts some 30,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicted by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

HONORARY DEGREE

VERNON J. EHLERS

With your election to Congress in 1993 that body gained a physicist among its members for the first time. As a scientist in the political arena, you are tireless in your efforts to bridge the gap between the scientific community and public policy makers.

Your path to a science career began at Calvin College in Grand Rapids. After three years there you transferred to the University of California at Berkeley to complete baccalaureate and doctoral degrees in physics. You taught at Berkeley and conducted research at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory for six years before returning to Calvin College to teach and to chair the physics department.

Your full-time career in public office began in 1983 with your election to the Michigan House of Representatives. In 1985 you were elected to the State Senate, where you were President Pro Tempore. As a state legislator you led in instituting Michigan's 911 emergency telephone service and authored nationally recognized legislation that provides newborns with early preventive medical screening tests.

In the United States Congress you have continued to work on environmental, education, and public health issues. Among your colleagues, you are highly respected for your strong work ethic and proven leadership skills. Your peers selected you as the president of your class during the 104th Congress and tapped you to serve as a member of the House Republican Transition Team following the November 1994 elections.

Congress has capitalized on your scientific expertise, naming you vice-chair of the Science Committee, relying on your guidance about the science underlying a broad range of policy matters, and asking you to revamp the computer system in the House of Representatives. You are leading the Science Policy Study, a forum to update the national science policy that has been in place since Vannevar Bush developed it in 1945. This bipartisan effort focuses on science and mathematics education and long-range investments in new science and technology knowledge. Because of your efforts to gather input from the nation's science, engineering, and educational organizations, this effort is enhancing communication between Congress and that community.

For your high integrity and dedication as a scientist and politician and your creative combination of those roles, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

GREGORY KELSER

Your contributions to Michigan State University athletics rewrote the basketball record books and provided unforgettable moments of great excitement to thousands of basketball fans.

You were a champion student athlete at Michigan State University: a four-year starter on a basketball team that is legendary. As captain and co-captain, you led that team to two consecutive Big Ten titles and an NCAA Championship. You received many honors for your athletic skills, including Most Valuable Player of the NCAA Mideast Regional and All-Big Ten first team in 1979. Your college career total of 2,014 points broke previous MSU scoring records, and you remain MSU's all-time leading rebounder with 1,092 rebounds.

You were also a serious student, earning a baccalaureate degree in criminal justice in 1981 and considerable recognition for your accomplishments as a student athlete. You were Michigan State University's only basketball first-team Academic All-American and were also named one of the NCAA Today's Top Five Student Athletes and first-team Academic All-Big Ten in 1979. In 1980 you received the NCAA Top Ten Award for Scholastic and Athletic Achievement.

You were a first round draft choice and number one pick by the Detroit Pistons in 1979 and received Honorable Mention NBA All-Rookie for your first season with the Pistons. You also played professionally for the Seattle Supersonics, the San Diego Clippers, and the Indiana Pacers.

Since 1987 you have been a sports columnist, broadcaster, and color analyst. You have covered more than 800 basketball games including the NCAA tournament, Big Ten games, small college basketball, and the Detroit Pistons for CBS Sports, ESPN, Raycom Sports, Creative Sports, and Black Entertainment Television. You also host Coach Tom Izzo's television show.

In the land-grant spirit of service you are a strong supporter of your community. You serve as a member of the board of directors for Big Fellas Association of Detroit, a Career Day and motivational speaker for Detroit Public Schools, and director of free summer basketball clinics for inner-city Detroit youth. You are involved with many charities, including the March of Dimes, Special Olympics, United Way, NAACP, Black United Fund, and the American Cancer Society. You organized and promoted the Summer 1990 Alumni Game between MSU and the University of Michigan to raise money for the YMCA in Lansing and Ann Arbor.

For this rich array of civic accomplishments and your commitment to education as well as excellence as an athlete, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

ALPHA OUMAR KONARE

Your commitment to democracy and basic human values has helped lead the remarkable transformation of Mali to a democracy with substantial economic growth. As an intellectual committed to democracy, you are an important role model for the youth of your country.

In the late 1960s you studied history and archaeology at the School of Higher Education in Bamako. After teaching for several years, you earned a Ph.D. degree at the University of Warsaw. Your study of the archaeology and anthropology of West Africa reflected your concern for Mali's cultural heritage, which you later protected by stopping the plundering of anthropological sites.

As Director of the National Historic and Ethnographic Heritage Division of the Ministry of Youth, Sports, and Culture, you encouraged research in the humanities and social sciences and collaboration by local and international scholars, including some from Michigan State University. You resigned in protest against the authoritarian regime of Moussa Traore and published an influential journal, Jamana, about Malian culture. Additional publications, such as the newspaper, Les Echos; and the weekly Grin Grin for young people, helped keep democratic currents alive during difficult times in Mali.

You were instrumental in forming the Alliance for Democracy in Mali, the democratic opposition party that helped topple the dictatorial regime that had ruled the country for twenty-three years. The overwhelming victor in the country's first multi-party democratic elections, you allowed competing political parties to organize, established universal suffrage for Malians over 21, and held a second free election where you were resoundingly reelected president.

In your role as peacemaker, you helped negotiate a settlement in the long-standing war between the migrant Tuareg and the rival "black militia" in northeastern Mali. In 1996 you symbolically set fire to several thousand weapons to seal the historic peace agreement that few thought possible.

You have also been creative in developing new programs for a land that is two-thirds desert and faces annual nine-month droughts. Annual economic growth now stands at five percent. You have presided over the decentralization of power by fostering local governments, farmer associations, and other institutions. Under your administration sixty private newspapers and twenty radio stations thrive in a country where information was once controlled by the government.

These efforts stand out in Africa for their commitment to democracy, their incorporation of local communities in development planning, and their focusing of government and communities on food security. For these courageous steps toward building a democratic and progressive society, I am privileged to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

VAN RENSSELAER POTTER

You are an internationally known cancer researcher who has moved understanding of carcinogenesis forward in important ways. As a basic cancer researcher at the University of Wisconsin, you produced pioneering techniques in the study of cancer, including the ground glass cell homogenizer that made it possible to study the biochemistry of cancer cells. You were one of the first researchers to predict the existence of tumor suppressor genes and to consider the role of nutrition in cancer. You are widely recognized for your ability to integrate information across disciplines to study cancer as a "disease of development." Your "blocked ontogeny" hypothesis anticipated much of the work now being done in cancer biology.

For these and other scientific accomplishments you were elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, and the presidency of the American Association for Cancer Research. Your passion for science drew the admiration not only of your peers but also of many students from around the world who came to study with you and went on to become international leaders in cancer research.

Your versatile, incisive thought processes led you to develop the concept of global bioethics, an approach that combined biology with humanistic knowledge to establish a system of medical and environmental priorities for acceptable survival of individuals and cultures. It is a visionary ethic of human values and human survival—an ecoethic, derived in part from the land ethic of Aldo Leopold, that recognizes that the health of the human species needs to be defined in terms of harmony with the natural environment. You advocate humility with responsibility as the basic bioethic for professionals in their interaction with individuals and communities, and you exemplify that attitude in your own life.

For your commitment to integrity and rigor in science and your accompanying concern for the ethical use of scientific knowledge for human good, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

WALTER C. WILLET

Your contributions to knowledge about the health effects of diet and exercise have changed the lives of millions of people. Your studies have provided important and useful information, particularly on the impact of nutrition on heart disease and cancer.

After earning your baccalaureate degree in food science at Michigan State University, you earned a medical degree at the University of Michigan and a Doctor of Public Health degree at Harvard University where you were immediately appointed to the faculty of the Department of Epidemiology. Since 1991 you have been the Frederic John Stare Professor and Chair of the Department of Nutrition at the Harvard School of Public Health.

You are world renowned for your fundamental contributions to the field of nutritional epidemiology. The food frequency questionnaire that you developed in 1979 has become the standard for assessing long-term dietary intake for studies on nutrition and chronic diseases.

You began your research career at Harvard with the Nurses' Health Study, a long-term study of diet and health of 121,700 women. In 1986 you initiated a parallel study of 52,000 men and in 1989 began Nurses' Health Study II to evaluate the effect of hormones and diet early in life on breast cancer risk. Your work has shown an association between red meat consumption and colon cancer, the preventive effect of aspirin on colon cancer, and the protective effect of Vitamin E on heart disease. You are also credited with introducing the concept of the "Mediterranean Diet" as a model for optimum nutrition in developed countries.

These accomplishments and many others are documented in almost 400 peer-reviewed publications and a major epidemiology textbook. You are the most-cited epidemiologist in the world and one of the most cited of all scientists.

You have been a good friend of Michigan State University, working closely with our faculty to develop the Department of Epidemiology. You are a consultant on one of our major grants, a National Cancer Institute investigation of breast cancer origins in Polish women and in Polish migrants to the United States. These activities have brought you to campus on numerous occasions.

For your contributions to humanity's health and well being and your generous contribution of your time and energy to Michigan State's Department of Epidemiology, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

JAMES W. BUCHANAN

James W. Buchanan received his bachelor's degree in 1958 and his doctorate in Veterinary Medicine in 1960 from Michigan State University. While in veterinary school, he was President of the MSU Student Chapter of the American Veterinary Association from 1959-60 and was a member of the MSU Marching Band.

A pioneer in veterinary cardiology, Buchanan enjoyed a distinguished career as teacher, researcher, clinical cardiologist and cardiovascular surgeon at the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine, where he worked for 33 years. His method for heart surgery has become widely known throughout the world as "The Buchanan Method." He has published 17 book chapters, 30 scientific articles, 18 case reports, 13 abstracts and 16 proceedings articles.

His leadership in his field was capped by his service as President of the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (ACVIM), Specialty Group in Cardiology, from 1978-81. He also served on the Board of Regents for ACVIM and was President of the Phi Zeta National Honor Society from 1975-80. He has won numerous awards during his career, including the 1992 Distinguished Alumnus Award from MSU's College of Veterinary Medicine.

Jim and Marolyn Buchanan have long been supporters of Michigan State University. They are members of the Hannah Society, and their contributions have helped the renovation of an addition to MSU's Veterinary Medical Center. Buchanan also delivered the first of the Buchanan Lecture Series in the Buchanan Room of the MSU Veterinary Teaching Hospital.

JAMES C. EPOLITO

James C. Epolito earned his B.A. degree in Communication from MSU in 1978 and his Master's in Public Administration in Health Care from Western Michigan University in 1992. In addition, he amassed 300 hours of study in Managed Care Administration from the University of Missouri in 1992.

Epolito is President and CEO of the Accident Fund Company, Lansing, and was former President and CEO of the Blue Care Network-Health Central, also of Lansing. Previously, he had served in many capacities with Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, including as vice president of government and community affairs. A driving force in his industry, he founded MSU's Managed Care Institute, one of the first of its kind in the nation. He is also a founding member of the Michigan Hospice Organization.

Very active in MSU and community affairs, Epolito chairs the MSU Safe Place Advisory Board and is general co-chair of the Greater Lansing Area United Negro College Fund. He also serves on the Board of Directors for Capitol National Bank and the Alliance of American Insurers. He is vice chair of the 1997 United Way campaign in Lansing. He also served on the development committee that successfully raised $6 million for MSU's Clara Bell Smith Student-Athlete Academic Center. He also chaired the American Heart Association's Heart Walk, and co-chaired a reception for Ele's Place.

He has received numerous awards, including recognition for his work involving children's activity in the Lansing area. He received honors from the Boy Scouts of America—Chief Okemos Council for generating more than $3 million in sales during his three-year tenure as popcorn chairman. He was honored by the Michigan Festival for creating the children's activity area.

RICHARD FORD

Richard Ford received his B.A. degree in English from Michigan State University in 1966 and his M.F.A. from the University of California, Irvine, in 1970. He taught at Princeton University in 1980-81, Williams College in 1979 and 1982, and the University of Michigan in 1975-76. He delivered the 1996 Spring Commencement Address for MSU's College of Arts and Letters.

An acclaimed novelist, Ford won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1995 for his novel Independence Day, coincidentally the four millionth volume acquired by the MSU Library. He has published several critically-acclaimed books, including Wildlife, The Sportswriter and Piece of My Heart. His short stories have been published in Esquire, The New York Times, Harpers, The Times (London) and Le Monde (France). He has also written a screen play and a novella.

In addition to the Pulitzer Prize, Ford has won the Pen/Faulkner Award for fiction; Officier, Order des Arts et Letters from the Republic of France; the Rea Award for the Short Story; The American Academy of Arts and Letters Award in Literature; and a Doctorat Honoris Causa from the University of Rennes, France. He won a John Simon Guggenheim Fellowship in 1976 and a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts in 1977 and 1983.

Today Ford lives in New Orleans and is considered one of the world great novelists. His books have enjoyed both commercial success and critical acclaim. At last count, his novels have been translated into 21 languages worldwide.

GORDON GUYER

Gordon Guyer received three degrees in Entomology from Michigan State University—a B.S. in 1950, an M.S. in 1952, and a Ph.D. in 1953. He has been associated with his alma mater for 41 years as student, teacher, researcher and administrator.

In 1993, Guyer retired from Michigan State after serving one year as the university's 18th President. Prior to that, he was Vice President for governmental affairs (1988-92). During his lengthy career at MSU, he served in many administrative posts, including professor and chairman of the Department of Entomology and Director of MSU's Pesticide Research Center; Associate Dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources; Assistant Dean and Director of MSU Cooperative Extension Service; Associate Dean for both the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the College of Natural Science; and Director of the W.K. Kellogg Biological Station. After leaving MSU to serve as Director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (1986-88), he returned to MSU. In 1994, he was named Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Guyer has won numerous awards and honors. They include the MSU Distinguished Faculty Award, the Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award, and the Michigan Association of Governing Boards Faculty Award. He has been inducted into the International Adult and Continuing Education Hall of Fame. Very active in community affairs, he has served on the National 4-H Council Board of Directors and on the Governor's Commission on Economic Development.

RICHARD C. HELFER

Richard C. Helfer received his B.A. in Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management from Michigan State University in 1972 with honors.

Helfer is CEO of Raffles International Ltd. and Executive Director of the Raffles Hotel Pte. Ltd., Singapore, a complex of five hotels which includes the tallest hotel in Asia. In 1994, the venerable Raffles Hotel of Singapore, which he renovated, was named "Best Worldwide Independent Hotel" by the Travel Trade Gazette worldwide survey of 250,000 travel agents. Prior to that, he served in a variety of management posts for Westin Hotels in the U.S. and Canada, including opening Detroit's Renaissance Center. He has been named by the Singapore government as general manager of the nation's top development company, DBS Land. He is also First Vice President of the Singapore Hotel Association.

In public service, he has served as Chair of the Service Sector Advisory Committee in Singapore and as Deputy Chair of the National Training Awards Selection Committee. His ties with MSU have remained strong, as he has helped MSU students and faculty participating in overseas studies in Singapore, providing his services to set up meetings, classes, seminars, and internships.

Helfer has won numerous awards, including MSU's Joon S. Moon Distinguished Alumni Award (1995), the National Public Relations Award for Significant Community Leadership (1984), and the Westin Hotels' Thurston Dupar Award for extraordinary community service and exemplary employee performance.

1998 DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

JAMES QUELLO

James Quello received his B.A. in Arts and Letters from Michigan State University in 1935.

Quello served as Commissioner of the Federal Communications Commission from 1974-97, a 23-year tenure that spanned six U.S. presidents. It has been said that no one in America played a more pivotal role in shaping the massive changes in mass communications. Formerly the general manager of Detroit's WJR radio station, Quello was inducted into the Radio Hall of Fame, Chicago, in 1996, and into the Broadcasting/Cable Hall of Fame, New York City, in 1995. While in Detroit, he served 21 years as Commissioner of Detroit Housing and Urban Renewal and for 22 years as Trustee for the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund, appointed by governors from both political parties.

Prior to his career in mass communications, Quello served five years with the U.S. Army during World War II. He spent 33 months overseas in Africa, Sicily, Italy, France and Germany.

Quello has received more than 40 major awards in telecommunications, believed to be more than any other known individual. In 1995, he was presented with the first Milestone Award from the Institute for Communications at Catholic University. He was honored in 1996 by the John Bayliss Society in New York City. He received the first annual Industrial Telecommunications Association Lifetime Achievement Award in 1997. Ted Turner of CNN presented him the National Cable Television Association's Distinguished Service Award in 1997.

LORETTA L. VANCAMP

Loretta L. VanCamp received her B.A. in Medical Technology from Michigan State University in 1948.

VanCamp was a major collaborator in the discovery of Cisplatin, the world's most widely-used drug to fight cancer. Along with MSU researcher and biophysicist Barnett Rosenberg, she collaborated on more than a dozen scientific publications before their research culminated in the discovery of anti-cancer drugs Cisplatin and Carboplatin. Over the years, besides having made a tremendous impact on humankind, the patents resulting from her work and bearing her name have generated millions of dollars for the MSU Foundation.

Her contributions to the field continued even after her retirement in 1982. VanCamp and Estelle McGroarty, Associate Dean of the College of Natural Science, have continued to probe the mechanism of anti-cancer drugs at the cellular level and to explore possible toxic side-effects as well as antidotes.

A loyal supporter of her alma mater, VanCamp is a major donor to Michigan State University. She is a member of The MSU Benefactors, as well as a member of the Inner Circle in MSU's Ralph Young Fund in support of Spartan athletics.

LLOYD WARD

Lloyd Ward received his B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from Michigan State University in 1970 and his M.B.A. in Business Administration from Xavier University in 1984. In 1969-70, he served as captain of the MSU men's basketball team.

Ward is the President and Chief Operating Officer of Maytag Corporation, headquartered in Newton, Iowa, the leading North American producer of premium brand home appliances, floor care, and cold drink vending products. He is also a member of the firm's board of directors. He oversees more than 16,300 employees in the consolidated businesses of Maytag, Jenn-Air, Magic Chef and Admiral appliances. Previously, he was President of PepsiCo's Frito-Lay, central division, and on special assignment in PepsiCo's Restaurant International business. Prior to joining PepsiCo in 1988, he was with Procter & Gamble Co.

Very active in community affairs, Ward has served as board member of the Ronald McDonald House and Inroads of Southwest Ohio, on the Executive Leadership Council-Washington, D.C., on the Executive Board of Jimmy Johnson Foundation for Children, on the board of Paul Quinn College, and on the board of YMCA-Dallas.

In 1995 Ward was named "Executive of the Year" by Black Enterprises magazine and to the Dollars and Sense list of "America's Best and Brightest Business and Professional Men and Women." In 1996 he won the Jack Breslin Lifetime Achievement Award by the Michigan State University Varsity Alumni "S" Club.

KENNETH L. WAY

Kenneth L. Way received his B.S. in Packaging from Michigan State University in 1961 and his M.B.A. from MSU's The Eli Broad College of Business in 1971. After MSU, he served as an officer in the U.S. Air Force for four years.

Way is Chairman and CEO of Lear Corporation, Southfield, Michigan, the world's largest manufacturer of automotive interior systems with annual sales of more than $4 billion. Under his leadership, Lear has grown 35 percent a year and now employs 35,000 people in 107 facilities in 18 countries. He also serves on the Board of Directors for Hayes Wheels International. Previously, Way was Corporate Vice President of LSI's Automotive Group.

Way serves as a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers and as a member of the MSU Development Fund Board of Directors. He is also a member of The Eli Broad College of Business Alumni Board. He has served numerous organizations and causes, including the Detroit Economic Club, the United Way of Southeast Michigan, the Detroit Renaissance Board, the GMI Board of Directors, and the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Among numerous awards and honors, Way was recently named "Trader of the Year" by the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, and won the Leadership Award from the Engineering Society of Detroit Foundation, the "Newsmaker of the Year" Award from Crain's Detroit Business, and the "Statesman of the Year" Award from the Sales and Marketing Executives of Detroit.

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.
