On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE MAILED TO DEGREE RECIPIENTS
 APPROXIMATELY ONE MONTH AFTER THE END OF THE SEMESTER.

MSU is an affirmative-action, equal-opportunity institution.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Now, 140 years later, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

Today, the East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 3,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students — 85 percent from Michigan — attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and 107 foreign nations. Minority students comprise more than 14 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, Michigan State has a Graduate School and 14 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges also provide outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 13 Rhodes Scholars, six Marshall Scholarship winners, and 11 Churchill Scholarship recipients. These British scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic award that an American student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Pesticide Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest nationwide, annually hosts some 30,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicted by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

HONORARY DEGREE

HARM J. de BLIJ

You are respected as a scientist, educator, and interpreter of the complexities of human interactions with the environment in different world areas. Through your skill as a communicator of the science of geography, you have enlightened both the American public and your discipline.

You began your academic career at Michigan State University, rising to full professor before joining the University of Miami, Florida, as chair of the Department of Geography. Your scientific contributions include more than a dozen college textbooks and ten books on topics ranging from environmental issues to African cities to viticulture. Your honors include recognition from the Association of American Geographers, the American Geographical Society, the National Geographic Society, and the National Council for Geographic Education. Since 1980 you have served on the National Geographic Society's Committee for Research and Exploration and were the founding editor of the Society's scholarly journal, National Geographic Research.

You were the popular geography editor on ABC's "Good Morning America" for seven years and in 1996 joined NBC News as its geography analyst. You have appeared from locations around the world using your trademark maps to explain the geographic background of major events. As America's television geographer, you shared an Emmy Award from the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

A native of the Netherlands, you attended college in Africa and earned advanced degrees at Northwestern University. In the course of your teaching and research, you have visited more than 100 countries.

For educating the public about regional differences and the place of the United States in world affairs and for interpreting complex global linkages in ways that engage and challenge the public while maintaining your own scientific integrity, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

HONORARY DEGREE

CLARE FISCHER

You are recognized by jazz professionals as one of the most original and creative composers, arrangers, and pianists of our time. You have recorded more than fifty albums and received two Grammy awards. You have composed and arranged music on more than a hundred albums and compact discs for other artists, including some of the most famous contemporary jazz artists and pop performers.

What makes your music unique is the remarkable depth of your understanding and assimilation of the essential aspects of classical music, jazz, and Latin American music. Your consistently excellent music balances spontaneity and highly sophisticated organization and incorporates melodic and rhythmic elements that are rooted in the folk music of the Americas as well as the classical music of early twentieth-century European composers. You have synthesized these elements into a personal and convincing vocabulary for musical self-expression that places you in the forefront of modern musicians.

You are considered, with Duke Ellington, one of the most significant American composers and one of the greatest living jazz pianists and arrangers. Your creativity is universally lauded. One reviewer described your improvisations as something "even Mozart would envy."

Your music communicates equally well with audiences in Europe and the United States. Michigan State University, where you earned both Bachelor's and Master's degrees in music, is a particularly fortunate beneficiary of your accomplishments as you frequently return to share your musical expertise with students.

For your creativity and excellence as a jazz composer, arranger, and performer, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts.

HONORARY DEGREE

STEPHEN JAY GOULD

You are a distinguished scholar who challenges people to think about science and its complex social consequences. The popularity of your books, lectures, and magazine columns as well as the numerous awards bestowed on you demonstrate your effectiveness as an interpreter of science for the public.

Your challenging presentations cover even controversial subjects: scientific arguments for racial equality, theories on the nature of excellence, humanity's amazing but not miraculous origins, Darwin's revolutionary breakthrough in thought. For your ability to communicate about such profound topics, you won the National Magazine Award for Essays and Criticism in 1980 and in 1981 received an American Book Award for The Panda's Thumb and the National Book Critic's Circle Award for The Mismeasure of Man.

You were among the first recipients of the MacArthur Foundation Prize Fellowship. The Zoological Society of London awarded you its Silver National Medal.

You are a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the National Academy of Sciences, and Fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh. Discover magazine named you Scientist of the Year in 1981. You received the Glenn T. Seaborg award for contribution to public interest in science and the Committee for the Scientific Investigation of Claims of the Paranormal In Praise of Reason Award.

You earned your Bachelor's degree in geology at Antioch College in 1963 and your Ph.D. at Columbia University in 1967. You have been a professor of geology and zoology at Harvard University ever since. Although you describe yourself as a paleontologist and an evolutionary biologist, you also teach the history of science.

For your achievements as an accomplished scientist and thought-provoking interpreter of science to the public, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

HONORARY DEGREE

JOHN G. LAURIE

Your vision, leadership, and service across a broad spectrum of activities have benefited citizens in Michigan and beyond. You have demonstrated initiative and leadership in agriculture and agribusiness primarily through the Michigan Farm Bureau where you have held elected offices since 1977 and been president since 1986. Your openness to broad alternatives for agricultural and rural community sustainability makes the Michigan Farm Bureau one of the most progressive in the nation.

A graduate of Michigan State University in agricultural economics, you were also in the first class of the Kellogg Leadership Program, which produced unusually talented and visionary leaders in agriculture. You have applied your educational experience in organizations and associations including the Michigan Milk Producers Association, the Michigan Livestock Exchange, and your local farmers cooperative elevator, to name a few. You served as chairman of the State Fair Council and as a member of the Michigan International Trade Coalition and the Task Force on Michigan Farmland and Agriculture Development. Nationally you served on the 7th District Federal Reserve Agricultural Advisory Council and were appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture to the National Commission on Dairy Policy and the Commission for the Improvement of the Federal Crop Insurance Program. You are a member of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

You have been a champion of university-based research to help solve society's problems, not only in Michigan but also on the national level. Through your leadership, the Michigan Farm Bureau continues to be one of the most active and persistent champions of Michigan State University and its role as a premier land-grant institution.

For your commitment to the mission of the land-grant university and for your exemplary service as a local citizen, Michigan agricultural leader, and internationally renowned policy practitioner, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Agriculture.

HONORARY DEGREE

GEORGE F. VANDE WOUDE

You are an internationally recognized expert in molecular oncology who has made remarkable contributions to cancer research as a scientist, as director of a national laboratory, and as a mentor of young researchers.

After earning M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at Rutgers University, you served as a research virologist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In 1972 you joined the National Cancer Institute as head of the Human Tumor Studies and Virus Tumor Biochemistry Sections. A decade later you were director of the ABL-Basic Research Program at the National Cancer Institute's Frederick Cancer Research and Development Center. Your success there was evident in the number of acclaimed scientists and new companies that chose rural Maryland for their work. You also founded and are president of the Foundation for Advanced Cancer Studies, which sponsors annual meetings designed to accommodate and encourage the participation of young investigators.

The newly formed Van Andel Research Institute recruited you in 1998 to become its first director. Reflecting the esteem of your peers, this appointment was widely applauded within the medical scientific community. Other indications of your stature as a researcher are evident in the many awards you have received. Among them are election to the National Academy of Sciences, a Merit Award from the National Institutes of Health, the Robert J. and Claire Pasarow Foundation Award for Cancer Research, and a Lifetime Achievement Award in Technology Transfer from NASA.

You were founding editor of Cell Growth and Differentiation and have served as editor or advisor to several other journals. Your contribution to the scientific record includes more than 240 scientific research articles and more than 60 books or monographs.

For the significance of your own cancer research and your contributions to nurturing other researchers, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

ALMA MATER.....Traynor

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.
(The Band, Mr. MacMullen and Audience)

RECESSIONAL

The MSU Symphony Band

We would like to express our appreciation to the staff for their assistance at the commencement exercises. The audience is requested to remain at their seats while those in the processional are entering and leaving the arena.
