On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE MAILED TO DEGREE RECIPIENTS
APPROXIMATELY ONE MONTH AFTER THE END OF THE SEMESTER.

FOR INFORMATION ABOUT THE SENIOR CLASS GIFT, PLEASE SEE <http://www.givingto.msu.edu/seniorgift/>

MSU is an affirmative-action, equal-opportunity institution.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Now, 140 years later, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

Today, the East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 3,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students — 85 percent from Michigan — attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and 107 foreign nations. Minority students comprise more than 14 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, Michigan State has a Graduate School and 14 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges also provide outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 13 Rhodes Scholars, six Marshall Scholarship winners, and 11 Churchill Scholarship recipients. These British scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic award that an American student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Pesticide Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, which has been designated as a National Research Preserve. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest nationwide, annually hosts some 30,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicted by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

HONORARY DEGREE

JEFFREY N. COLE

As an attorney, innovative entrepreneur, successful industrialist, noted sportsman, and generous philanthropist, your vision, determination, accomplishments and deep commitment to strong human values have made you an inspiration to others.

Your determination and capacity for hard work as a student at Michigan State University earned you admission to the Honors College, where you spent long evenings studying in Eustace Hall. After earning an undergraduate pre-law degree at MSU, you went on to earn a law degree from Cornell University and practiced law until challenges and opportunities in the world of business changed your career and life.

Moving into the metal recycling industry, you used the development and application of new technology, a consensus-building management approach, and your financial and legal acumen to build Ferrous Processing and Trading Company into an innovative, worldwide leader in the business of reclaiming and recycling a wide variety of valuable metals. Using scientific knowledge and principles, you explored mechanisms of turning discarded metal into clean material processed to the highest specifications. Your ability to develop imaginative solutions and envision their application to industrial problems, coupled with your insightful management decisions, led you and your firm to the pinnacle of business success.

A firm believer in the value and importance of education, you have contributed your time and resources to Michigan State University and especially the Honors College. With high ideals and broad vision you have created an abundance of opportunity for current and future MSU students. Through your own participation and lectures, the encouragement of visiting scholars and lecturers, and your support of international study, you inspire students to move beyond knowledge to wisdom. As an appreciative student of history, you have led efforts to honor MSU's heritage by restoring our historical facilities. In recognition of your many contributions to the university and Honors College communities, MSU has renamed the building where you spent so many study hours Eustace-Cole Hall.

Your academic and professional experiences have illustrated the extraordinary value you place on determination, excellence, respect for others, and service—characteristics that are a model for current and future leaders. In recognition of your commitment and support for education, your concern for others, and your visionary leadership, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

HARLEY N. HOTCHKISS

You are a renowned geologist, businessman, entrepreneur, citizen, and sportsman. From a farm in eastern Canada and a stint in the Canadian Merchant Marine, you came to Michigan to study geology at what was then Michigan Agricultural College. After graduation, you returned to Canada and began a distinguished career that included serving as president of two petroleum companies and helping foster the growth of the Canadian oil and gas industry to world prominence.

Your peers recognized your accomplishments by electing you a Fellow of the Geological Association of Canada, among other honors. Because of your understanding that oil and gas resources are the basis of important political and economic relationships between Canada and the United States, you were an active member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. Your lifetime of achievement and service to your country was recognized when you were named an Officer of the Order of Canada and a member of the Alberta Order of Excellence.

Beyond your professional life you have been deeply involved in your community, particularly contributing your time and support to health care institutions. You are a part owner of a national hockey franchise and the current chair of the Board of Governors of the National Hockey League. You are also a strong and loyal supporter of Michigan State University, having served on the MSU Foundation Board for eight years. You named the investment firm you currently head Spartan Resources Ltd.

In recognition of your distinguished career as a scientist and businessman and your strong commitment to the communities you participate in, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

ALEJANDRO JUNCO de la VEGA

You have used the power of information to raise the quality of journalism in Mexico and the level of democracy in Latin America.

As publisher of the newspaper El Norte in the early 1970s, you introduced professional journalism techniques and ethics. Over the next 20 years, despite significant opposition, you established highly respected daily newspapers in Mexico's three largest cities. Now your company also delivers financial and other information to computer subscribers and is the most important Internet content provider in Latin America.

When El Norte condemned government practices in 1974, the president suspended sale of newsprint to the paper. You reduced the number of pages and kept publishing, and eventually the president lifted the suspension but banned the newspaper in Mexico City. You subsequently launched Reforma, which quickly gained the most influential readership and advertisers in Mexico City. When the government tried to limit distribution of Reforma, you established a system that conveyed it to readers ahead of other papers. In recent years, despite violence against reporters investigating drug rings, you have refused to be intimidated.

As a result of your strong journalistic ethics and standards, your papers have won numerous international awards. In 1991 you received the Maria Moors Cabot Award from Columbia University in New York, the most prestigious recognition given to a Latin American journalist.

For your courage and accomplishments as a journalist, newspaper publisher, and Internet provider, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

RAYMOND KURZWEIL

You have dedicated your life to the humane use of technology, and your accomplishments have improved life and created opportunities for many people, especially those with disabilities.

The list of your technological "firsts" is long, and they all reflect your commitment to human values: the first print-to-speech reading machine for the blind, the first optical character reader (OCR) that recognized virtually any print, the first charge-coupled device (CCD) flat bed scanner, the first text-to-speech synthesizer, the first music synthesizer capable of recreating the grand piano and other orchestral instruments, and the first commercially marketed large vocabulary speech recognition products.

Not only did you develop the first practical reading machine, you also built a company to assure its delivery. Your speech-recognition technology set standards for others, and your company helped make it affordable. You are recognized for your achievements in software applications to numerous fields including medicine, education, music, literature, mathematics, and business. Your innovative electronic instruments are the choice of many professional musicians; physicians and their patients benefit from your Virtual Patient software; investors use your intelligent systems based on genetic algorithms and neural networks to make decisions on stock market transactions. You have written extensively and thoughtfully about the place of technology in modern life.

Your accomplishments exemplify the qualities of a liberally educated person. The 1999 National Medal of Technology from President Clinton and scores of other national and international awards, including Carnegie Mellon University's top science prize and MIT's Inventor of the Year award, have recognized your accomplishments.

For the vision in linking scientific skills and humanistic values and your distinguished technical inventiveness applied to improving the lives of others, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

SHEILA TOBIAS

For more than 25 years you have been an independent scholar asking insightful questions, raising the level of public discourse, and inspiring progressive cultural change. A critic and observer of American life, you have worked to develop and implement policies and practices that help students gain the most from their education.

Your broad, multidimensional academic background has enabled you to emerge as a nationally recognized advocate for women in education. Because of your concern about the low numbers of women in the sciences and mathematics, you have written and lectured extensively on gender issues in the classroom. You have taken the lead in addressing "math anxiety." Your first book, Overcoming Math Anxiety was instrumental in bringing issues of access to national attention. You have been the author of ten books, more than 150 papers and many national and international presentations.

Teachers and students have benefited significantly from your assessments of learning styles and your ability to untangle the complex variables that discourage many students from studying science and mathematics. In Breaking the Science Barrier you concentrated on the role of "disciplinary cultures," putting students' "failure to thrive" in mathematics and science in a new light. You reported how faculty and graduate students in non-scientific fields encountered chemistry and how physics and science faculty responded to studying literature.

A graduate of Harvard-Radcliffe and Columbia Universities, you have held administrative and/or teaching positions at Vanderbilt, Wesleyan, and Cornell Universities as well as the Claremont Graduate School. You have served as a board member for the American Association of Higher Education and as an adviser to several NSF-funded consortia.

Focusing attention on post-baccalaureate alternatives in the sciences, you have argued that academic institutions need to develop curricula that better meet the employment needs of the private sector. Through your work with the Sloan Foundation, you have encouraged Michigan State University's development of professional masters degrees in science. You have visited the campus on numerous occasions to work with faculty coordinators of the developing programs and to help shape these initiatives.

In recognition of your intellectual courage, your active commitment to humanitarian concerns, and your advocacy for excellence and equity in education, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

ALMA MATER.....Traynor

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.
ALLISON BERRY, Junior, Music Performance, School of Music
The MSU Symphony Band, JOHN T. MADDEN, Conductor, and Audience

RECESSIONAL

The MSU Symphony Band
JOHN T. MADDEN, Conductor

We would like to express our appreciation to the staff for their assistance at the commencement exercises. The audience is requested to remain at their seats while those in the processional are entering and leaving the arena.
