On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE MAILED TO DEGREE RECIPIENTS
APPROXIMATELY ONE MONTH AFTER THE END OF THE SEMESTER

MSU is an affirmative-action, equal-opportunity institution.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

For nearly 150 years, Michigan State University has been advancing knowledge and transforming lives. MSU, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Today, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

The East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 4,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students—85 percent from Michigan—attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and more than 100 nations from around the globe. Minority students comprise more than 15 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs. MSU's Study Abroad program, which offers 180 programs in 57 countries, is the third largest of any single-campus university in the nation.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, MSU has a Graduate School and 14 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges offer outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 16 Rhodes Scholars, 10 Marshall Scholarship winners, 14 Churchill Scholarship recipients, one Mitchell Scholar, and one recipient of the Gates Cambridge Scholarship. These scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards a student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, home to one of the National Science Foundation's long-term ecological sites. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest hotel and conference centers nationwide, annually hosts some 500,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 1,400 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials, HC. Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.

HONORARY DEGREE

Dan Lewis DeGrow

You are widely recognized and respected for your ardent commitment to education at all levels.

As a state legislator you were among the most aggressive champions of equitable and quality educational opportunity for all children. You were instrumental in the development and passage of the 1994 Constitutional Initiative Proposal A that significantly improved financial support for schools. This was the only school finance reform in the country to be implemented without a court order. You championed Michigan's Math and Science Centers for K-12 and Michigan's Small Class Size Initiative.

As a political leader who transcended partisanship, you were able to accomplish goals that led to your reputation as an intellectual, policy, and opinion leader on legislation affecting education. Now, as superintendent of the St. Clair County Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA), you continue to commit your intellect, integrity, and leadership to benefit Michigan's children.

You have also been a strong advocate of higher education and Michigan State University. Your effective advocacy led to a recurring appropriation for technology improvements at MSU. Your strong and consistent support for Michigan agriculture and natural resources helped gain legislative approval for the Animal Industries Initiative, which enhanced MSU's research, education, and outreach support for the state's livestock industries. Your leadership was also crucial to Project GREEN (Generating Research and Extension to meet Economic and Environmental Needs), which has enabled MSU to deliver rapid responses to situations that affect Michigan plant agriculture. As Majority Leader in the Senate, you established the Task Force on Agriculture Preservation and endorsed the Great Lakes Conservation Task Force report that has helped protect the Great Lakes.

For your long career as a public servant dedicated to education, agriculture, and the environment, and for your strong support as an alumnus of MSU, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Adolphus C. Hailstork

You are a prolific composer of works in many forms and styles. Leading U.S. orchestras under the direction of such prominent conductors as Lorin Maazel, Daniel Barenboim, and Kurt Masur have performed and recorded your compositions.

Many consider you the dean of African-American music, describing your compositions as "rich documentation" of the African-American experience and a hybrid of African-American and European-American music. Your work has won numerous awards, including the Virginia Governor's Award for the Arts and first place at the University of Delaware Festival of New Music. You were named a Cultural Laureate of the State of Virginia where you are currently composer-in-residence and eminent scholar at Old Dominion University.

You began writing music at an early age and had a musical comedy performed when you were a college senior. The Baltimore Symphony performed your master's thesis. In addition to studying with influential contemporary musicians, you earned a Ph.D. in composition at Michigan State University.

Your long list of compositions includes symphonic works and tone poems for orchestra, piano concertos, chamber works, choral works, songs, band transcriptions, and many pieces for piano and other instruments. Critics have described your work as extensive and highly creative, profoundly expressive, and artistically distinct. MSU commissioned you to compose a work for symphony orchestra and chorus in celebration of the university's sesquicentennial.

Your dedication to working with students and helping them master their craft is highly respected. You are a superb teacher who challenges and supports students at the same time, demonstrating patience and a sense of humor along with your profound knowledge of the practical and artistic elements of being a composer.

For your accomplishments as a teacher and master composer whose works have enriched the musical experience of many, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Fine Arts, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Carl Levin

You are a U.S. Senator known for principled leadership to make government more efficient and more ethical and to improve education, the economy, and the environment.

Because you believe educational opportunities must expand for all Americans if the nation is to remain strong and productive, you have pursued increased funding for the Head Start preschool program, for Title I for educationally disadvantaged students, and for Pell Grants and loans for college and vocational school students. A strong advocate for the effective use of technology in K-12 schools, you supported a consortium to help Michigan teachers master technology skills. You back public-private partnerships in school-to-work programs that prepare students for the modern workplace.

As co-chair of the Senate Great Lakes Task Force, you supported the cleanup of contaminated sediments and created new standards of environmental protection. You have also worked to secure funding to prevent introduction of new invasive species to the Great Lakes.

As co-chair of the Senate Auto Caucus and the Senate Auto Parts Task Force, you have worked to open the world's markets to American goods and advocated government-industry partnerships for developing advanced vehicle technologies. These efforts helped establish the Army's National Automotive Center in Michigan, where advanced technologies for military use are developed in conjunction with the private sector.

A ranking member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, you are regarded as an expert on national security issues. For your "exceptional service to the Navy and Marine Corps," the Secretary of the Navy presented the Distinguished Public Service Award in 2003, the highest award given to a civilian. For your work to ensure a bipartisan response following the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks you received the 2002 Christian A. Herter Award, given for contributions that improve international understanding.

You have been a strong supporter of Michigan State University, particularly in times of need. When cases of meningitis were discovered and the university decided to vaccinate students to prevent the spread of the disease, your efforts made it possible to acquire by overnight delivery enough vaccine to inoculate every student on campus and thus prevent additional cases.

In recognition of your effective leadership and consistent efforts to improve life for the people of Michigan, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Myron S. Magen

You are a leader in osteopathic medical education, known for innovations that transformed the curriculum focus from a practice orientation to clinical science and then incorporated this curriculum into the research university.

At Michigan State University, you were the founding dean of the first university-based osteopathic medical school. You recruited academic faculty and solicited and provided the resources to establish this model of educational and research excellence at the first new College of Osteopathic Medicine to be established in 50 years. The result of your effort at MSU is a program that is regularly ranked as the best osteopathic college in the nation for primary care education and one of the top osteopathic medical schools overall. Your efforts extended beyond MSU to the entire profession to ensure that the education of all osteopathic physicians would be rigorously academic.

A scholar of educational process and methods, you continually advocated and implemented innovation in teaching, educational media and technology, faculty and administrator development, and quantitative research. You recruited world-renowned biomedical scholars. You developed the first D.O./Ph.D. curriculum in the nation. You established an extensive system for internship and residency education that was so successful that the osteopathic profession adopted it nationally. You internationalized health care and were a strong advocate for recruiting and nurturing the professional lives of women and minorities.

Federal and private agencies have sought your advice on medical care, medical research, and medical education. For your knowledge, skills, and contributions to society, you were the first osteopathic physician to be elected to the Institute of Medicine, one of the prestigious National Academies.

For your efforts in revolutionizing osteopathic medicine and your contributions as a consummate scholar and innovative and incisive thinker that changed health care around the world, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Science, from Michigan State University.

The University acknowledges candidates for the bachelor's degree who will graduate as Academic Scholars (A), from the Honors College (H), With Honor (*), or With High Honor ().

Academic Scholars completed a two-year honors program including at least four honors-caliber courses.

Honors College graduates are academically talented students who have participated in rigorous, highly individualized programs of study, including at least eight honors-caliber courses.

Graduation Honors. The current minimum grade-point average for seniors graduating With Honor is 3.5 and those graduating With High Honor is 3.8, which is approximately 20 percent of graduating seniors who have earned the highest grade-point averages. Recognition of graduation honors in the commencement program is based on the grade-point average of all work at MSU completed prior to the last semester of graduation. To be eligible for graduation honors, transfer students must earn a minimum of 50 semester credits at MSU.
