On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE MAILED TO DEGREE RECIPIENTS

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

For nearly 150 years, Michigan State University has been advancing knowledge and transforming lives. MSU, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Today, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

The East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 4,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students—85 percent from Michigan—attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and more than 100 nations from around the globe. Minority students comprise more than 15 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs. MSU's Study Abroad program, which offers 180 programs in 57 countries, is the third largest of any single-campus university in the nation.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, MSU has a Graduate School and 14 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges offer outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 16 Rhodes Scholars, six Marshall Scholarship winners, 14 Churchill Scholarship recipients, one Mitchell Scholar, and one recipient of the Gates Cambridge Scholarship. These scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards a student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, home to one of the National Science Foundation's long-term ecological sites. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest hotel and conference centers nationwide, annually hosts some 500,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 1,400 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

HONORARY DEGREE

Karlyn Kohrs Campbell

You are a distinguished scholar of rhetoric and public address whose commitment to the future of research excellence in your field led you to establish a significant award to recognize others' scholarship.

With your late husband, Paul Newell Campbell, a noted scholar of dramatic theory and criticism, you established the largest and most significant book manuscript award in the field of rhetorical criticism. You selected Michigan State University Press to administer the award to enhance the visibility and status of its already renowned Rhetoric and Public Affairs Series. Your generosity in establishing the Kohrs-Campbell Prize will perpetuate interest in and study of rhetoric and rhetorical criticism into the future.

You have received numerous awards for your own work as a theorist and scholar of argumentation, genre and social form, and presidential rhetoric. Your books and other publications on rhetorical criticism, rhetorical theory, political communication, women's communication, and social movement rhetoric are important scholarly contributions. In your teaching and research you have advocated for social and political equality and championed women's writing and speaking, demonstrating your respect for students and colleagues.

In addition to your dynamic career as a researcher, you are known for your enthusiasm for sharing your knowledge and inspiring countless students in this country and abroad. Your current position as chair of the Department of Communication Studies at the University of Minnesota confirms the esteem in which your colleagues hold you.

For your dedication to education and scholarship and your commitment to securing continued excellence in scholarship in your field, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Humanities, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Hernando de Soto

You are an economist who identified the crucial role of property rights as a determinant of poverty in poor countries and established the Institute for Liberty and Democracy to develop ways to encourage formal property ownership as a means of reducing poverty.

After a successful business career in Europe, you returned to your native Peru and devoted your life to understanding why some countries are rich and others poor. You demonstrated that capitalism will thrive and overcome threats such as terrorism only when legal systems give people a sense of inclusion. Your research showed that restrictive laws and regulations that prevent people from holding formal titles to their property and businesses create untitled assets that are worth at least $3.9 trillion worldwide. Without formal property rights, citizens lack access to capital markets, investment tools, and business opportunities. Their assets are effectively "dead capital" that can rarely be used as collateral for bank loans to expand businesses or improve property. You demonstrated how a country's recognition of the property rights of its poor would spur growth of the sort that preceded rapid development in every rich country.

For your innovative research that revolutionized the understanding of the causes of wealth and poverty you were awarded the prestigious Milton Friedman Prize for Advancing Liberty in 2004. Leaders around the world have also acclaimed your work. Time magazine named you one of the five leading Latin American innovators of the century. Forbes magazine called you one of fifteen innovators who will reinvent the future. The New York Times Magazine identified your economic approach as "one of the most hopeful things" leaders of poor countries could hear. The Economist magazine identified your Institute for Liberty and Democracy as one of the top two think tanks in the world.

Your methods of identifying property owners and convincing countries to recognize their ownership offer real hope for the world's poor. For these efforts to transform the lives of the world's poorest citizens, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Humanities, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Ernest J. Moniz

You are a distinguished scientist known for your clear and straightforward presentation of complex concepts in the field of nuclear physics.

You advanced knowledge about the role of quarks in nuclei and were a leader in understanding how to use high-energy electrons to probe nuclei and how to explain the interactions of pions in nuclei. In recognition of your scientific leadership, you were named director of the Bates Linear Accelerator Laboratory at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and then chair of the physics department.

In addition, you chaired the federal Nuclear Science Advisory Committee charged with planning for the future of nuclear science, with emphasis on identifying new scientific opportunities and setting priorities for new facilities. This effort produced the long-range plan that highlighted the future of research with rare isotopes and recommended as national priorities the upgrade of MSU's National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory and further developments that ultimately produced the Rare Isotope Accelerator concept.

You also served as associate director for science at the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy and are a member of the Science and Technology Advisory Group to the premier of Taiwan. You are widely regarded as an expert on issues related to energy and science and technology policy and served as Undersecretary of the Department of Energy where you received the Gold Award for Exceptional Service. After returning to MIT you were appointed director of energy studies at the Laboratory for Energy and the Environment, charged to provide the technical basis for an appropriate energy policy.

For your outstanding dedication to the advancement of nuclear science, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Science, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Condoleezza Rice

You are a major contributor to the foreign policy of the United States, insightfully advising the president on all matters of national security.

The daughter of educators, you learned early the value of education, graduating from college cum laude at 19. An accomplished classical pianist, you pursued your interest in political science and international relations instead of a music career and earned a doctoral degree from the Graduate School of International Studies at the University of Denver. You joined the faculty of Stanford University's political science department and became a member of the Center for International Security and Arms Control and a fellow of the Institute for International Studies and the Hoover Institution. You are also a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

An expert on the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, you served the George H. W. Bush Administration as adviser on Soviet and East European affairs in the National Security Council and as Special Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. While an international affairs fellow of the Council on Foreign Relations, you served as Special Assistant to the Director of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. When you returned to Stanford, you became provost—the youngest person, the first female, and the first African American to hold that position.

As President George W. Bush's Assistant for National Security Affairs—the first woman to hold that position—you negotiated with Russia over missile defense, helped manage a crisis with China, and pursued tactics for brokering peace between Israel and Palestine. You have been a key strategist in the war against terrorism, providing coordination between Washington and the Coalition Provisional Authority in Iraq. You are highly respected for your strength of character and your ability to present articulate analyses of complex international issues.

You have served your community as a member of many boards. You were a founding board member of the Center for a New Generation, an educational support fund for schools in East Palo Alto and East Menlo Park, California, and served as Vice President of the Boys and Girls Club of the Peninsula.

For your commitment to education, your pursuit of excellence, and your dedicated public service, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Humane Letters, from Michigan State University.

Gary L. Seevers

You are an accomplished economist and financial market specialist whose career has encompassed academia, government service, and private sector financial markets.

A member of the first class of the Michigan State University Honors College, you went on to earn master's and doctoral degrees in agricultural economics. As an assistant professor at Oregon State University, you were tapped to serve on the U.S. President's Council of Economic Advisers. President Gerald Ford appointed you to the newly formed Commodity Futures Trading Commission. From that experience you went on to start a new commodities business as a vice president at Goldman, Sachs & Company, subsequently retiring as a partner.

You have shared your professional expertise generously at Michigan State University, helping to strengthen the management of the MSU Foundation investment portfolio and contributing your time as co-chair of the President's Campaign Cabinet, as a member of the Honors College Campaign Advisory Committee, and as a member of the Stakeholders Advisory Council for the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. You have also supported numerous scholarships and programs at MSU, including developing and funding an endowed chair in natural resource conservation. Designed to help prepare students to become leaders in natural resource conservation and find answers to the challenges of managing the environment, the chair reflects your own interests and national concerns.

For your commitment to investing in the future of Michigan State University students as a means of repaying the investment that others made in you as a student, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Business, from Michigan State University.

Processional The MSU Wind Symphony, John L. Whitwell, Conductor

Star-Spangled Banner*Key*
 Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light
 What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
 Whose broad stripes and bright stars thru the perilous fight,
 O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
 And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
 Gave proof thru the night that our flag was still there.
 Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
 O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?
 (The MSU Wind Symphony and Audience, led by John Bragle, MSU School of Music)

Alma Mater M.S.U., We love thy shadows
 When twilight silence falls,
 Flushing deep and softly paling
 O'er ivy-covered halls.
 Beneath the pines we'll gather
 To give our faith so true,
 Sing our love for Alma Mater
 And thy praises, M.S.U.
 (The MSU Symphony Band, Bragle and Audience)
