On the cover is Beaumont Memorial Tower, constructed in 1928, a gift of John W. Beaumont, class of 1882. Restoration of the tower, carillon, and clock was completed in 1996, reviving the bells which had been silent since 1987. Beaumont Tower once again is a functioning symbol of the beauty and strength of Michigan State University.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

For 150 years, Michigan State University has been advancing knowledge and transforming lives. MSU, one of the nation's leading land-grant universities, was founded in 1855 as the first agricultural college with only six faculty members and three buildings to provide youths with an education in farming. Today, MSU continues to strive for excellence in providing a diverse student body with a broad and rich combination of liberal and practical education.

The East Lansing campus looks quite different than it did in 1855. More than 5,200 acres of land encompass more than 400 buildings, and more than 4,000 faculty and staff are engaged in teaching, research and public service. More than 40,000 students —85 percent from Michigan—attend the University's main campus.

Our student body represents every county in the state, every state in the nation, and more than 100 nations from around the globe. Minority students comprise more than 15 percent of the campus population, and our campus includes the largest number of African American students among all Big Ten schools.

Michigan State University's commitment to diversity and multiculturalism in its student body, faculty, staff, curriculum and outreach programs is exemplified through world-wide services in numerous research, extension, and international programs. MSU's Study Abroad program, which offers 180 programs in 57 countries, is the third largest of any single-campus university in the nation.

More than a century after its agricultural beginnings, MSU has a Graduate School and 15 colleges: Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, the Broad College of Business, Communication Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Law, Natural Science, Nursing, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science and Veterinary Medicine.

Today, three colleges represent the central academic disciplines which most universities refer to as the liberal arts and sciences: Arts and Letters, Natural Science, and Social Science. These colleges offer outstanding undergraduate and graduate degree programs with majors in traditional disciplines while also providing special programs that enable students to obtain a broad, multidisciplinary education. The College of Education collaborates with the colleges to help prepare students to become teachers in the secondary schools of Michigan as well the nation.

Our residence hall system is designed to complement and enhance the learning experiences of our students.

The Honors College, which attracts fine young scholars nationwide, enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced 16 Rhodes Scholars, 11 Marshall Scholarship winners, 14 Churchill Scholarship recipients, one Mitchell Scholar, and one recipient of the Gates Cambridge Scholarship. These scholarships are among the most distinguished and prestigious academic awards a student can receive.

Multimillion dollar, sponsor-funded programs support a wide array of outstanding research activities at MSU. Major facilities include the Plant Research Laboratory, operated with the U.S. Department of Energy as a national plant biology center; and the MSU/W.K. Kellogg Biological Station, home to one of the National Science Foundation's long-term ecological sites. In collaboration with both the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Department of Energy, the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at MSU is able to study the nuclei of the heaviest elements.

The public significantly benefits from the University through University Outreach, MSU Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experiment Station which provides technical information and course work for many Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center, one of the finest hotel and conference centers nationwide, annually hosts some 500,000 adults who come to the campus for approximately 1,400 conferences and other educational meetings.

Service to the international community is equally important. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, MSU sustains educational and research assistance projects internationally. These projects have given many faculty members overseas experience and have added new dimensions to their teaching.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials, HC. Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.

A GLIMPSE OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY:

HISTORY, FUTURE, AND THE UNIVERSITY MACE

Michigan State University is pleased to include the University mace in commencement ceremonies. The introduction of the mace, at the 2005 Founders' Day celebration and inauguration of MSU's twentieth president, serves to commemorate the sesquicentennial celebration. The University, founded in 1855, is celebrating its 150th birthday this year. The mace is designed by University Relations and was produced by Physical Plant staff.

Historically, the mace is a symbol of authority dating from medieval times when knights carried them during processions with their kings. As the tradition grew, the mace became a ceremonial symbol of peaceful leadership, and maces were embellished with jewels and metals. Today, a university's mace is carried before the president or chancellor and platform-party dignitaries during commencement and inaugural and other academic ceremonial processions.

The Michigan State University mace, 42 inches in length, includes important institutional symbols in its finial, crown, and shaft. The finial is the circular University seal, which includes an image of "Old College Hall." This oak-carved seal derives from an 1869 State Board of Agriculture (now, Board of Trustees) authorization for a woodcut to be used as the frontispiece of the college academic catalog. College Hall, built in 1856, was the first instructional building erected in the United States for the teaching of scientific agriculture. When it collapsed in 1918, John Beaumont (class of 1882) provided funds to erect Beaumont Tower in 1928 at the same location. The tower stands as a symbol of Michigan State's beginnings as the first land-grant college dedicated to teaching "agriculture and the mechanic arts" with a "liberal and practical curriculum."

The mace's crown is trimmed with a maple samara and acorn pattern carved from walnut, a pattern drawn from the "Michigan State College" limestone relief at the Abbot Road campus entrance that also adorns markers at other campus entrances. An image of Beaumont Tower lies in the crown's oak center. Below the crown is the cylindrical shaft, whose alternating, horizontal oak and walnut bands descend to a brass tip. Its oak is purported to be "Beaumont oak," from one of the original saplings surrounding College Hall. Its walnut is from a tree removed to clear land for the Wharton Center for Performing Arts of 1982.

In its soaring verticality, Beaumont Tower continues to inspire the MSU community and is an appropriate symbol for the MSU mace. As President Robert S. Shaw (1928–41) stated at the tower's dedication, it has served as "a unifying factor" to remind us, even through our individual activities, of the overall mission of Michigan State University: to inspire us by "appealing to many of the better things in us" and to encourage us to "live up to higher standards, scholastically, socially, morally, and spiritually in all of our affairs."

HONORARY DEGREE

Dale E. Bauman

You are a renowned scientist whose research has profoundly influenced the dairy industry and now offers the promise of increased benefits for human health. You are a respected and admired teacher and mentor for undergraduate and graduate students.

You combined your expertise in nutrition with knowledge of endocrinology to demonstrate that bovine somatotropin (bST) is the hormone that controls metabolism during lactation. Your pioneering basic research identified the biological mechanisms of that process, and your applied research showed its commercial potential. Your group conducted the original studies with recombinantly derived bST, which is now widely used to increase milk production.

Your research has contributed importantly to knowledge about the regulation of milk fat and milk protein synthesis. You have found that conjugated linoleic acid (CLA), a fatty acid in milk, offers anti-carcinogenic and other health benefits, and that feeding cows more soybeans and certain oils may increase the CLA content and make milk fat more beneficial.

For your willingness and ability to explain food and agricultural science concepts to the media and the general public, the Council for Agricultural Science and Technology honored you with the Charles A. Black Award. You have also received agriculture's highest recognition, the Alexander von Humboldt Award, and you are one of a very few animal scientists elected to membership in the National Academy of Sciences.

You served the public on the Board of Agriculture and Natural Resources of the National Research Council for nearly a decade, half of that time as its chair. During your service, the board published more than thirty reports that covered such science and policy issues as drug use in food animals, the food safety system, and the future role of agriculture colleges at land-grant institutions.

For your pioneering research and its contributions to the field of animal science and for your ability to instill a passion for science and critical thinking skills in your students, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Agriculture from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Jonathan K. S. Choi

You are a successful businessperson with a long record of support for education and technology advancement in support of education.

You have been president of the Sun Wah Group since 1982 when you succeeded your father. Under your leadership, the seafood processor, wholesaler, and distributor has added real estate; financial services; and infrastructure, technology, and media to create a diversified conglomerate. The group employs more than 4,000 people in Asia, Europe, and North America.

As chairperson of the Sun Wah Education Foundation, you support educational initiatives from preschool through continuing adult education. Believing that technology strengthens nations, you are particularly concerned to advance technology in China's education programs. Under your direction, the foundation established and furnished schools for the youngest children, institutes to educate the software engineers needed to meet increasing technology demands, and evening programs for working adults interested in further education.

You have established awards programs for young Chinese scientists and for senior scientists in recognition of lifetime efforts.

You have set up scholarships for young people from underdeveloped areas of China. You also support cultural development in China and elsewhere.

You contribute your time and expertise to other educational initiatives, as well, serving as economic adviser to the president of the Chinese Academy of Sciences and on the boards of directors of several universities.

Among the programs you support is the United States-China Center for Research on Educational Excellence. Headquartered at Michigan State University, it links U.S. and Chinese scholars to research and develops effective education models that integrate strengths of both Eastern and Western practices. The center's goal is to implement the new education models in both Chinese and U.S. schools.

For your commitment to furthering education in China and around the world for people of all ages, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Mary R. Dawson

You are a renowned paleontologist who educated visitors to the Carnegie Museum of Natural History through exhibits you curated over a long career there.

Your love of animals began during your childhood in Michigan's Upper Peninsula and brought you to Michigan State for a bachelor's degree in zoology. After earning a doctorate at the University of Kansas, you became assistant curator at the museum, with a focus on early Tertiary Period faunas and the evolution of rodents and rabbits and their relatives. You rose to become the first woman curator and finally head curator of vertebrate paleontology and chair of the Division of Earth Sciences at the museum, where you were responsible for the fourth largest paleontology collection in North America. On your retirement, you were named Curator Emerita.

In the 1970s you were part of the first team of scientists to document the migration of mammals across the Thulean Land Bridge between North America and Western Europe in the Early Eocene epoch, almost 50 million years ago. The small rodents whose fossils you found on Canada's Arctic Ellesmere Island evolved into modern dormice. This fossil evidence validated the plate tectonics theory of continental movement. For this discovery the National Geographic Society awarded you the prestigious Arnold Guyot Prize.

As a museum curator you assured that specimens were well preserved and well presented and that the exhibits presented as much of the story behind the specimens as possible. You pursued creative ways to present exhibits in order to challenge visitors—especially children—to think in new ways and to stimulate their interest in science.

In 2002 you became the first American woman to receive the highest award of the Society of Vertebrate Paleontology, the A. S. Romer-G. G. Simpson Medal in recognition of your "outstanding scholarly excellence and service to the discipline of vertebrate paleontology."

For your commitment to advancing the science of animal origins and to encouraging the interest of young people in science, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Jared M. Diamond

You are an accomplished scholar renowned for your ability to draw from many disciplines to address global issues and for your books that make complex scientific topics understandable and interesting.

You began your career as a professor of physiology at the University of California at Los Angeles and went on to study the ecology and evolution of New Guinea birds. Your studies on bird diversity in tropical rainforests there made fundamental contributions to the understanding of species coexistence. You rediscovered New Guinea's long-lost golden-fronted bowerbird and played a critical role in helping the governments of Indonesia, Papua New Guinea, and the Solomon Islands conserve their biodiversity. You are currently professor of geography and environmental health sciences at UCLA, and your recent work links those disciplines with your interests in areas like history and linguistics.

You have set yourself a major undertaking: trying, as you describe it, "to explain the broad pattern of human history, on all the continents, for the last 13,000 years." In recent books you have tackled big questions: why some societies prosper, why some collapse, why some dominate others. Your answers draw on a broad range of disciplines including geography, ecology, archaeology, molecular biology, and genetics. You have demonstrated that geography and environment are crucial factors in how societies develop. You have shown that mistreatment of fragile ecosystems often results in the collapse of a society.

Your book, Guns, Germs, and Steel, was awarded a Pulitzer Prize for General Nonfiction in 1998 and was made into a National Geographic special shown on PBS last summer. You have received a MacArthur Foundation Fellowship genius grant. Among your many other awards are the U.S. National Medal of Science and Japan's International Cosmos Prize. You are a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the American Philosophical Society.

For your creative work to develop new knowledge and make it accessible and your innovative global thinking, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Ahmed M. Kathrada

In your life as a political activist in South Africa, committed to human rights and social justice, you played a significant role in your country's transformation from apartheid to democracy.

As a child of Indian descent in South Africa, you were prohibited from attending either the school for African children or the one for white children. That injustice precipitated your lifelong struggle for freedom and fairness, and you were first jailed for political activism at the age of seventeen. At 34 you were convicted of sabotage, along with your long-time friend Nelson Mandela and eight others who had been challenging the apartheid regime. You were all sentenced to life imprisonment and sent to Robben Island.

While in prison you earned two bachelor's degrees with honors. During the early years of your incarceration you were allowed to write only two 500-word letters each year. With other political prisoners, you fought for and won concessions and ultimately wrote nearly a thousand letters from prison. Recognizing Michigan State University's early divestiture of funds from apartheid South Africa, you donated copies of those letters to the university, and a selection of them was published jointly by MSU Press and the Mayibuye Centre in Cape Town.

You were released from prison in 1989 and immediately returned to the South African struggle for democracy. In 1994, in the country's first democratic election, Nelson Mandela was elected president and you were elected to parliament. President Mandela appointed you Parliamentary Counselor in his office, a position you held until you retired in 1998.

Since then you have led the effort to make Robben Island a UNESCO World Heritage site and a museum symbolizing the triumph of freedom over oppression. In addition to your lectures and writing, you have helped MSU establish close ties with museums and universities in South Africa and have generously interacted with MSU students studying in your country.

For your commitment to liberty and a truly multi-racial society and for your support of education as the basis for political transformation, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Humanities from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREE

Michael S. Turner

You are a distinguished scientist who has had an influential career as a researcher in astrophysics and cosmology, as an educator, and as an administrator.

You were the first to recognize the connection between the physics of the very small—particle physics—and the physics of the very large—the evolution of the cosmos. By establishing the theoretical astrophysics groups at the University of Chicago and Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory and through your influential, widely cited papers and lectures, you helped pioneer this interdisciplinary area of research that is thriving today. Your research has made important contributions to inflationary universe theory, to the understanding of dark matter, and to the origin of galactic structure. You were one of the key participants in the discovery that most of the universe is made of dark matter and dark energy.

You have had a major impact on science policy with your role as chair of a National Research Council Study on "Connecting Quarks with the Cosmos: Eleven Science Questions for the New Century." This report has already been influential in setting directions for federal funding in this field, including for research at the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory at Michigan State University and at a proposed Rare Isotope Accelerator. In your current position as assistant director of the National Science Foundation's Directorate for Mathematical and Physical Sciences, you oversee the distribution of funds to an extensive research portfolio.

Your work has been recognized with many awards, including election to the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Among your many prizes are the Paul Klopsteg Prize from the American Association of Physics Teachers and the Julius Edgar Lilienfeld Prize from the American Physical Society, of which you are a fellow.

For your many significant contributions to the study of astrophysics and to science policy, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

The lyrics of the Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. The arrangement used today is by Leonard Falcone, director of bands at MSU (1926-1967), and edited by John T. Madden, the current associate director of bands.

It was not until March 30, 1949, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as the MSU Shadows.

The University acknowledges candidates for the bachelor's degree who will graduate as Academic Scholars (A), from the Honors College (H), With Honor (*), or With High Honor (). Academic Scholars completed a two-year honors program including at least four honors-caliber courses. Honors College graduates are academically talented students who have participated in rigorous, highly individualized programs of study, including at least eight honors-caliber courses. Graduation Honors. The current minimum grade-point average for seniors graduating With Honor is 3.5 and those graduating With High Honor is 3.8, which is approximately 20 percent of graduating seniors who have earned the highest grade-point averages. Recognition of graduation honors in the commencement program is based on the grade-point average of all work at MSU completed prior to the last semester of graduation. To be eligible for graduation honors, transfer students must earn a minimum of 50 semester credits at MSU.

ADVANCED DEGREES

Diplomas will be mailed to degree recipients approximately one month after the end of the semester.

Star-Spangled Banner

Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars thru the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thru the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

The lyrics of the Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. The arrangement used today is by Leonard Falcone, director of bands at MSU (1926-1967), and edited by John T. Madden, the current associate director of bands.

It was not until March 30, 1949, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as the MSU Shadows.
