Advancing Knowledge.
Transforming Lives.

CONGRATULATORY LETTERS

May 2008

Dear Graduates and Families:

At Michigan State University, we recognize that graduation is an important milestone for our graduates and their families. At commencement ceremonies we acknowledge our graduates for their accomplishments at MSU, and we acknowledge the encouragement and support that family and other significant individuals have provided them. Reaching this milestone marks the completion of a degree program and the beginning of the next chapter in each student's life.

Graduates become a part of a tradition that spans more than 150 years. As a person with a long-standing connection to Michigan State—for more than three decades—I have had many opportunities to interact with alumni, students, faculty, and staff who, on a daily basis, Advance Knowledge and Transform Lives. Although much has changed along the banks of the Red Cedar River since I first enrolled in 1970, the core values of the University remain—quality, inclusiveness, and connectivity.

Nearly a half-century ago, our legendary President John A. Hannah confirmed the bond that is forged with our graduates. He said:

Until the moment degrees are conferred and diplomas presented, a university and its students are in a temporary relationship. Either can disclaim the other at any time before that final moment. But when commencement is concluded, Michigan State University places its stamp of approval upon you. You become part of this University . . . forever.

In our transformation from Land-Grant to World-Grant we are seeing many meaningful firsts which have enhanced the student experience and expanded our international reach. On June 14, the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources will hold a commencement ceremony in Beijing, China for students who are earning a Michigan State University baccalaureate degree. This is Michigan State University's inaugural college commencement ceremony held at an international location. We congratulate these students and their families.

Our graduates go forth as caring global citizens, and although we bid you farewell and wish you a very bright future, we invite you to come home often.

Sincerely,

Lou Anna Kimsey Simon, Ph.D.
President

May 2008

Dear Graduates and Families:

Congratulations to our graduates and your families! And, I add my congratulations to the students in China who are earning Michigan State University baccalaureate degrees, and to their families!

More than three decades ago, I earned a bachelor's degree at Michigan State University, and although I earned advanced degrees at other institutions, that first college degree has served me well. It gives me great pleasure to be here at a time when Michigan State University is extending its academic reach to new places around the world. Our students have had the opportunity to study and to expand their views, and to grow as individuals and global citizens.

As a student of Michigan State University you are a member of a vibrant community united by the common interest we share as scholars. I hope that, even after earning your degree, you will always remain members of this community—that is, be hungry to learn, to seek new knowledge, and to share and apply that knowledge for the betterment of others.

As you and your families celebrate your accomplishments at Michigan State University, we join you in that celebration and wish you the best in all of your personal and professional pursuits and in your future endeavors as Spartans. May the relationships you forged here with your professors and other students continue to inspire you. As President Simon encourages you to come home often, so do I!

Sincerely,

Kim A. Wilcox, Ph.D.
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, founded in 1855, is defining what it means to be a land-grant university in the twenty-first century. From its roots as the nation's pioneer land-grant institution, the university has had a long tradition of using the research and knowledge developed at MSU to create practical solutions that make a difference in the lives of individuals and in communities across Michigan and around the world. As a major public university with global reach, MSU continues this proud tradition of advancing knowledge and transforming lives.

The East Lansing campus looks different than it did in 1855. 5,200 acres of land encompass 579 buildings. 15,000 acres throughout Michigan are used for agricultural, animal, and forestry research.

MSU has more than 45,000 students from all 83 counties in Michigan, all 50 states in the United States, and about 130 other countries. More than 460,000 Spartan alumni live around the globe.

Since its agricultural beginnings, MSU has grown to 17 degree-granting colleges offering more than 200 programs of study, and is the only university in the country with three on-campus medical schools. According to both Newsweek and MSNBC, MSU ranks as one of the Top 100 Global Universities.

The Honors College attracts young scholars internationally and enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced more Rhodes Scholars in the past 25 years than any other Big Ten school.

Sponsored research totaled nearly $377 million in 2006–07. The top federal funding agencies included: National Science Foundation, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and U.S. Department of Agriculture. Other externally funded national and international research programs include the MSU–U.S.

Department of Energy Plant Research Laboratory, the Center for Advancing Microbial Risk Assessment, the Composite Vehicle Research Center, the U.S.–China Center for Research on Educational Excellence, the Center for Advanced Study of International Development, and the Center for International Business Education and Research. The National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory is the premier rare isotope research facility in the nation.

MSU Extension reaches into all 83 counties in Michigan to provide practical, university-based knowledge. Providing technical information and course work for Michigan citizens, the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station funds the research of more than 300 scientists on campus and at a network of 12 field research stations across the state.

University Outreach and Engagement connects faculty with external audiences to address community issues. MSU Global extends academic and professional degree and certificate programs to off-campus learners, with more than 13,000 enrolled in 29 degree and certificate programs, making MSU one of the top three in online learning in the Big Ten.

The national leader in study abroad among U.S. public universities during 2006–07 (according to the Institute of International Education Open Doors report), MSU has more than 245 programs on all continents in 62 countries. 2,975 students studied abroad through MSU during 2006–07.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials, HC. Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.

UNIVERSITY MACE

A GLIMPSE OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University is pleased to include the University mace in commencement ceremonies. The introduction of the mace, at the 2005 Founders' Day celebration and inauguration of MSU's twentieth president, serves to commemorate the sesquicentennial celebration. The University, founded in 1855, celebrated its 150th birthday in 2005. The mace is designed by University Relations and was produced by Physical Plant staff.

Historically, the mace is a symbol of authority dating from medieval times when knights carried them during processions with their kings. As the tradition grew, the mace became a ceremonial symbol of peaceful leadership, and maces were embellished with jewels and metals. Today, a university's mace is carried before the president or chancellor and platform-party dignitaries during commencement and inaugural and other academic ceremonial processions.

The Michigan State University mace, 42 inches in length, includes important institutional symbols in its finial, crown, and shaft. The finial is the circular University seal, which includes an image of "Old College Hall." This oak-carved seal derives from an 1869 State Board of Agriculture (now, Board of Trustees) authorization for a woodcut to be used as the frontispiece of the college academic catalog. College Hall, built in 1856, was the first instructional building erected in the United States for the teaching of scientific agriculture. When it collapsed in 1918, John Beaumont (class of 1882) provided funds to erect Beaumont Tower in 1928 at the same location. The tower stands as a symbol of Michigan State's beginnings as the first land-grant college dedicated to teaching "agriculture and the mechanic arts" with a "liberal and practical curriculum."

The mace's crown is trimmed with a maple samara and acorn pattern carved from walnut, a pattern drawn from the "Michigan State College" limestone relief at the Abbot Road campus entrance that also adorns markers at other campus entrances. An image of Beaumont Tower lies in the crown's oak center. Below the crown is the cylindrical shaft, whose alternating, horizontal oak and walnut bands descend to a brass tip. Its oak is purported to be "Beaumont oak," from one of the original saplings surrounding College Hall. Its walnut is from a tree removed to clear land for the Wharton Center for Performing Arts of 1982.

In its soaring verticality, Beaumont Tower continues to inspire the MSU community and is an appropriate symbol for the MSU mace. As President Robert S. Shaw (1928-41) stated at the tower's dedication, it has served as "a unifying factor" to remind us, even through our individual activities, of the overall mission of Michigan State University: to inspire us by "appealing to many of the better things in us" and to encourage us to "live up to higher standards, scholastically, socially, morally, and spiritually in all of our affairs."

HONORARY DEGREES

Gro Harlem Brundtland

You are a politician, diplomat, physician, and international leader known for your commitment to social justice, human rights, and global awareness and for your ability to engage others in working toward important goals.

As a young doctor you developed a vision for linking health and environmental issues, beginning with a focus on schoolchildren in Norway where you were Director of Health Services. As Minister of the Environment you were an early advocate for environmental causes. After you became Norway's first woman and youngest Prime Minister, you led the government to introduce a carbon dioxide tax that has resulted in development of clean oil technology.

Invited by the UN Secretary-General in 1983 to establish and lead the World Commission on Environment and Development, you selected influential politicians and academics from twenty-one countries, drawing more than half of the members from developing nations, and held public meetings around the world. Your enthusiasm and determination to accomplish change resulted in the highly respected report, Our Common Future, which promoted sustainable development. That revolutionary concept reflected your belief that social justice and the elimination of poverty should be part of environmental conservation and economic development. The report became the basis for the 1992 Earth Summit.

In 1998, you were elected director-general of the World Health Organization, the first woman to hold that position. There you engaged world political and business leaders to work on your priorities: provide medicines to people in developing countries, eradicate polio, curb tobacco use, and address global diseases. Scientific American named you Policy Leader of the Year for your leadership in responding to SARS.

Since then you served as Health Policy Fellow at Harvard University and were appointed by the UN Secretary-General to the High-level Panel on Threats, Challenges, and Change. For the past year, as a Special Envoy on Climate Change for the UN Secretary-General, you have been encouraging world leaders to cut greenhouse gas emissions. You are also a member of The Elders, a group of esteemed leaders who contribute their wisdom to making the world a better place.

For your commitment to improving health and addressing environmental issues around the world and for your pioneering leadership in promoting sustainable development, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Laws from Michigan State University.

Steven E. Koonin

You are a renowned theoretical physicist acclaimed for your ability to analyze and explain complex scientific and technological problems even outside your own field.

In your long and distinguished career as an academic researcher, you developed seminal ideas on imaging nucleus-nucleus collisions via two-proton intensity interferometry that had a profound influence on nuclear physics generally and in the nuclear science program at Michigan State University in particular. You also played a major role in advancing many-body theory by developing a variety of innovative and insightful concepts and computational techniques. As provost at Caltech and in other administrative roles, you were always a highly respected, visionary leader.

Because of your technical and political savvy and your ability to use science to inform public and private sector policy, you are sought for service on advisory boards. Among the agencies that have benefited from your thoughtful scientific advice are the Department of Energy, the National Science Foundation, the Department of Defense, and the National Research Council.

You have a long-standing interest in global environmental science and in the 1980s developed a program to measure the Earth's albedo in order to monitor the effect of greenhouse gases.

Now at British Petroleum, you are chief scientist, responsible for the firm's long-range technology plans and activities. You advise senior executives on technical matters and oversee the company's university research programs around the world. As a continuation of your efforts to bring science into decision making, you help lead the company toward implementation of their slogan, "Beyond Petroleum." Since you have been chief scientist, the firm has made substantial commitments to research on alternative energy sources, establishing among other efforts the Energy Biofuels Institute at the University of California at Berkeley.

You have been honored frequently for your scientific leadership, including the Lawrence Award from the Department of Energy and election to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. You are a fellow of the American Physical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

For your longstanding role as advocate for excellent science and for your contributions to global energy needs and global environmental science, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREES

Nelson Mandela

You are best known for leading the revolution to end apartheid and create a democratic country in South Africa. Your courage and moral integrity improved lives in your country and inspired others to pursue equality and an end to racism.

As a young man you were a leader in the African National Congress, known as ANC, helping to develop passive resistance programs that advocated boycotts, strikes, civil disobedience, and non-cooperation to fight racism in South Africa. Your inspiring keynote address to the All-in African Conference in 1961 challenged the government to assemble a national convention with all South Africans represented and create a democratic constitution. When the apartheid regime instead mobilized the military and prohibited the means to protest peacefully, you and other ANC leaders accepted the need to respond with force. You helped establish the military arm of the ANC, the Umkhonto we Sizwe, Zulu for "Spear of the Nation," and served as its commander in chief.

You were able to travel and enlist support for the freedom movement until you were arrested and sentenced to five years in prison. While you were serving that sentence, the Rivonia Trial for sabotage began. You eloquently expressed your commitment to democracy and a free society but were convicted and sentenced to life in prison. During your incarceration, you developed a system of self-education for the inmates and filled recreation hours with cultural activities. From prison you also began correspondence with the Minister of Justice, negotiating your release and the move to democracy.

After your release, your vision and wisdom led to the country's first democratic election. You were awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 with F. W. de Klerk for your work toward equality and democracy. In 1994 apartheid formally ended and you became the first democratically elected president of South Africa. Your administration focused on social issues that had been neglected during apartheid and created the Truth and Reconciliation Commission to help the country recover from the divisive conflict of the apartheid era. You led by listening to others and encouraging others to engage in dialogue as well.

After a term as president, you continued your work for reconciliation and social justice through foundations that advance your vision and values through support for dialogue that addresses critical social issues.

In recognition of your unwavering commitment to democracy, equality, and education, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Laws from Michigan State University.

Peter H. Raven

You are a preeminent biodiversity expert and a highly respected environmentalist known for your ability to bring people together to work on important projects.

As a young faculty member you worked with Paul Ehrlich to develop the theory of coevolution to describe the reciprocal evolutionary influences of two species. Your research identifies numbers of species lost since humans began living in new areas of the world and makes predictions about the future of biodiversity at the current rate of habitat destruction. You have identified the threat of a "sixth extinction"—the first massive loss of organisms caused by human actions. You have called for the 21st century to be designated the age of biology in recognition of the need to avoid that threat.

You believe that sustainability is the means for preserving biodiversity and extend the definition of sustainability to include the need to reduce wasteful consumption and improve lives of the poor. You recognize the need to sustain biodiversity in cities, suburbs, and agricultural areas as well as in undeveloped natural areas.

As president of a leading botanical institution and a university professor, you are committed to educating young people about ecological issues. Your own education in biodiversity began in your youth when you discovered a subspecies of the heather family growing in San Francisco. The plant, later named for you, had not been seen for half a century.

Under your direction since 1971, the Missouri Botanical Garden has become the leading tropical plant research facility in the world. You have guided it to dramatic growth and overseen its development of a widely used botanical database and a large library. You have guided its major research projects, which include documenting the plants of North America and China.

You have received the U.S. National Medal of Science and the prestigious International Prize for Biology from the government of Japan. You are a member of the National Academy of Sciences and served as president and chair of the board of directors of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Time magazine designated you a Hero for the Planet.

For your commitment to preserving the Earth's biodiversity, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree Doctor of Science from Michigan State University.

America the Beautiful

O beautiful for spacious skies America! America!
For amber waves of grain, God shed his grace on thee
For purple mountain majesties And crown thy good with brotherhood

Star-Spangled Banner

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows Beneath the pines we'll gather
When twilight silence falls, To give our faith so true,
Flushing deep and softly paling Sing our love for Alma Mater
O'er ivy-covered halls. And thy praises, M.S.U.

The lyrics of the Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. It was not until March 30, 1949, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as the MSU Shadows.

The University acknowledges candidates for the bachelor's degree who will graduate as Academic Scholars (A), from the Honors College (H), With Honor (*), or With High Honor (). Academic Scholars completed a two-year honors program including at least four honors-caliber courses. Honors College graduates are academically talented students who have participated in rigorous, highly individualized programs of study, including at least eight honors-caliber courses. Graduation Honors. The current minimum grade-point average for seniors graduating With Honor is 3.55 and those graduating With High Honor is 3.82, which is approximately 20 percent of graduating seniors who have earned the highest grade-point averages. Recognition of graduation honors in the commencement program is based on the grade-point average of all work at MSU completed prior to the opening of the semester of graduation. To be eligible for graduation honors, transfer students must earn a minimum of 50 semester credits at MSU.

ADVANCED DEGREES

Star-Spangled Banner

*Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming.
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!*

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows	Beneath the pines we'll gather
When twilight silence falls,	To give our faith so true,
Flushing deep and softly paling	Sing our love for Alma Mater
O'er ivy-covered halls.	And thy praises, M.S.U.

The lyrics of the Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. It was not until March 30, 1949, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as the MSU Shadows.
