Advancing Knowledge.
Transforming Lives.

CONGRATULATORY LETTERS

December 2008

Dear Graduates and Families:

At Michigan State University, we recognize that graduation is an important milestone for our graduates and their families. At commencement ceremonies we acknowledge our graduates for their accomplishments at MSU, and we acknowledge the encouragement and support that family and other significant individuals have provided them. Reaching this milestone marks the completion of a degree program and the beginning of the next chapter in each student's life.

Graduates become a part of a tradition that spans more than 150 years. As a person with a long-standing connection to Michigan State—for more than three decades—I have had many opportunities to interact with alumni, students, faculty, and staff who, on a daily basis, are Advancing Knowledge and Transforming Lives. Although much has changed along the banks of the Red Cedar River since I first enrolled in 1970, the core values of the University remain—quality, inclusiveness, and connectivity.

Nearly a half-century ago, our legendary President John A. Hannah confirmed the bond that is forged with our graduates. He said:

Until the moment degrees are conferred and diplomas presented, a university and its students are in a temporary relationship. Either can disclaim the other at any time before that final moment. But when commencement is concluded, Michigan State University places its stamp of approval upon you. You become part of this University. . . forever.

In our transformation from Land-Grant to World-Grant we are seeing many meaningful firsts which have enhanced the student experience and expanded our international reach. In spring, the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources held a commencement ceremony in Beijing, China for students who earned a Michigan State University baccalaureate degree. This was MSU's inaugural college commencement ceremony held at an international location.

Our graduates go forth as caring global citizens, and although we bid you farewell and wish you a very bright future, we invite you to come home often.

Sincerely,

Lou Anna Kimsey Simon, Ph.D.
President

December 2008

Dear Graduates and Families:

Congratulations to our graduates and your families! As President Simon encourages you to come home often, so do I!

More than three decades ago, I earned a bachelor's degree at Michigan State University, and although I earned advanced degrees at other institutions, that first college degree has served me well. It gives me great pleasure to be here at a time when Michigan State University is extending its academic reach to new places around the world. Our students have had the opportunity to study and to expand their views, and to grow as individuals and global citizens.

As a student of Michigan State University you are a member of a vibrant community united by the common interest we share as scholars. I hope that, even after earning your degree, you will always remain members of this community—that is, be hungry to learn, to seek new knowledge, and to share and apply that knowledge for the betterment of others.

As you and your families celebrate your accomplishments at Michigan State University, we join you in that celebration and wish you the best in all of your personal and professional pursuits and in your future endeavors as Spartans. May the relationships you forged here with your professors and other students continue to inspire you.

Sincerely,

Kim A. Wilcox, Ph.D.
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, founded in 1855, is defining what it means to be a land-grant university in the twenty-first century. From its roots as the nation's pioneer land-grant institution, the university has had a long tradition of using the research and knowledge developed at MSU to create practical solutions that make a difference in the lives of individuals and in communities across Michigan and around the world. As a major public university with global reach, MSU continues this proud tradition of advancing knowledge and transforming lives.

The East Lansing campus looks different than it did in 1855. 5,200 acres of land encompass 579 buildings. 15,000 acres throughout Michigan are used for agricultural, animal, and forestry research.

MSU has more than 46,000 students from all 83 counties in Michigan, all 50 states in the United States, and about 130 other countries. More than 460,000 Spartan alumni live around the globe.

Since its agricultural beginnings, MSU has grown to 17 degree-granting colleges offering more than 200 programs of study, and is the only university in the country with three on-campus medical schools. According to both Newsweek and MSNBC, MSU ranks as one of the Top 100 Global Universities.

The Honors College attracts young scholars internationally and enables students to waive standard graduation requirements and undertake enriched academic programs. MSU has produced more Rhodes Scholars in the past 25 years than any other Big Ten school.

Sponsored research totals nearly $400 million a year. The top federal funding agencies include: National Science Foundation, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and U.S. Department of Agriculture. Other externally funded national and international research programs include the MSU-U.S. Department of Energy Plant Research Laboratory, the Center for Advancing Microbial Risk Assessment, the Composite Vehicle Research Center, the U.S.-China Center for Research on Educational Excellence, the Center for Advanced Study of International Development, and the Center for International Business Education and Research. The National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory is the premier rare isotope research facility in the nation.

MSU Extension reaches into all 83 counties in Michigan to provide practical, university-based knowledge. Providing technical information and course work for Michigan citizens, the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station funds the research of more than 300 scientists on campus and at a network of 12 field research stations across the state.

University Outreach and Engagement connects faculty with external audiences to address community issues. MSU Global extends academic and professional degree and certificate programs to off-campus learners, with more than 13,000 enrolled in 29 degree and certificate programs, making MSU one of the top three in online learning in the Big Ten.

MSU is a national leader in study abroad among U.S. public universities. MSU has more than 245 programs on all continents in 62 countries. Nearly 3,000 students study abroad each year.

Michigan State University is a member of the Association of American Universities, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, American Council on Education, American Council of Learned Societies, International Association of Universities, Association of Graduate Schools, Council of Graduate Schools, and the Committee on Institutional Cooperation.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, introduced an academic costume code which by design of gowns and hoods would indicate the various degrees, and which by colors would identify the various faculties.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. Doctoral gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round, and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of the bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree (e.g., green and white for MSU; burnt orange and white for the University of Texas; blue and gold for UCLA). If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department of faculty to which the degree pertains.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. Generally, the code for the velvet of the hood is the same as listed below for tassels.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the candidates graduating from the different areas of study by tassels of the official color as established by the Intercollegiate Code. Candidates graduating from the Honors College wear a white stole with the initials, HC. Candidates graduating "With Honor" or "With High Honor" wear a gold braid.

UNIVERSITY MACE

A GLIMPSE OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University is pleased to include the University mace in commencement ceremonies. The introduction of the mace, at the 2005 Founders' Day celebration and inauguration of MSU's twentieth president, serves to commemorate the sesquicentennial celebration. The University, founded in 1855, celebrated its 150th birthday in 2005. The mace is designed by University Relations and was produced by Physical Plant staff.

Historically, the mace is a symbol of authority dating from medieval times when knights carried them during processions with their kings. As the tradition grew, the mace became a ceremonial symbol of peaceful leadership, and maces were embellished with jewels and metals. Today, a university's mace is carried before the president or chancellor and platform-party dignitaries during commencement and inaugural and other academic ceremonial processions.

The Michigan State University mace, 42 inches in length, includes important institutional symbols in its finial, crown, and shaft. The finial is the circular University seal, which includes an image of "Old College Hall." This oak-carved seal derives from an 1869 State Board of Agriculture (now, Board of Trustees) authorization for a woodcut to be used as the frontispiece of the college academic catalog. College Hall, built in 1856, was the first instructional building erected in the United States for the teaching of scientific agriculture. When it collapsed in 1918, John Beaumont (class of 1882) provided funds to erect Beaumont Tower in 1928 at the same location. The tower stands as a symbol of Michigan State's beginnings as the first land-grant college dedicated to teaching "agriculture and the mechanic arts" with a "liberal and practical curriculum."

The mace's crown is trimmed with a maple samara and acorn pattern carved from walnut, a pattern drawn from the "Michigan State College" limestone relief at the Abbot Road campus entrance that also adorns markers at other campus entrances. An image of Beaumont Tower lies in the crown's oak center. Below the crown is the cylindrical shaft, whose alternating, horizontal oak and walnut bands descend to a brass tip. Its oak is purported to be "Beaumont oak," from one of the original saplings surrounding College Hall. Its walnut is from a tree removed to clear land for the Wharton Center for Performing Arts of 1982.

In its soaring verticality, Beaumont Tower continues to inspire the MSU community and is an appropriate symbol for the MSU mace. As President Robert S. Shaw (1928-41) stated at the tower's dedication, it has served as "a unifying factor" to remind us, even through our individual activities, of the overall mission of Michigan State University: to inspire us by "appealing to many of the better things in us" and to encourage us to "live up to higher standards, scholastically, socially, morally, and spiritually in all of our affairs."

HONORARY DEGREES

Jack Epps, Jr.

You are an accomplished screenwriter, counting many box office hits among your successes, and an educator who inspires creativity in students.

As a student majoring in English at Michigan State University, you founded and directed the critically acclaimed Mid-West Film Festival in the early 1970s. You were the film critic for the MSU State News as well as a walk-on member of the hockey team. You wrote and directed award-winning short films, one of which became an NBC Movie of the Week.

After graduation, you went to Hollywood, where you wrote scripts for the TV series Kojak and Hawaii Five-O. A 1975 meeting with Jim Cash, whose screenwriting class you had taken at MSU, launched a long-distance writing partnership that resulted in more than 25 screenplays. Together at that meeting in the MSU Union Grill you sketched out the plots for ten movies, several of which were ultimately produced. Your first movie success, Top Gun starring Tom Cruise, was the number one film in 1986. Subsequent films you wrote together include The Secret of My Success with Michael J. Fox; Dick Tracy, starring Warren Beatty and Madonna; and the thriller Anaconda with Jennifer Lopez, Ice Cube, and Jon Voight.

Your manuscripts for those and other movies now are part of the Special Collections Division of the MSU Libraries. That gift, which includes first, second, third, and final drafts as well as tape transcriptions and out-takes, will help future students understand the scriptwriting process.

You are now chair of the writing division at the University of Southern California School of Cinematic Arts and a teacher known for guiding students toward ways to make imagination, creativity, and successful collaborations part of their lives. You describe your delight in creating a magical world through your writing and advise your students to be passionate about their work. You have also shared your expertise with MSU students in special lectures.

For your artistic accomplishments and your commitment to education, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Fine Arts, from Michigan State University.

Haijing Fu

You are one of the world's outstanding baritones and a well-liked and respected professor of voice.

Your career was launched when you won the 1988 Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions for New England after studying at Boston University with esteemed soprano Phyllis Curtin. You joined the Metropolitan Opera Company, making your debut as Germont in La Traviata. You have performed in Europe, Canada, and South America as well as throughout the United States and in China in both operas and concert engagements.

Critics praise your powerful and expressive world-class voice and your ability to connect with your audiences. You are also respected and admired for your integrity, kindness, and generosity.

You are deeply committed to teaching and sharing your expertise in developing a successful operatic career with young people. In 2003 you established a vocal institute at the Shenyang Conservatory of Music, the first privately operated singing school in the People's Republic of China. You employ master teachers at the institute and invite well-known artists and master teachers to China as coaches. Several students have won international competitions.

To enhance the educational experiences of your voice students, you and tenor Richard Fracker, a Metropolitan Opera colleague and MSU faculty member, initiated an exchange program for faculty and students from your respective institutions. The singers share songs from their cultures, learn operatic music, and participate in joint master classes. You have performed at MSU and at MSU's Beijing office.

For your consummate musical skill, your personal integrity, and your commitment to education, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Fine Arts, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREES

James L. Herbert

You are an astute business leader who developed a start-up company based on MSU research into an international, publicly traded corporation known as one of the top small businesses in the United States.

Recruited in 1982 as CEO of the Neogen Corporation, you enlisted the support of Michigan investors and reinvested profits to advance research that led to new products. You used resources prudently, acquiring abandoned buildings and remodeling them for the company's headquarters and laboratories. You developed a strong team of scientists and sales representatives who enabled the company to grow to a $100 million enterprise with more than 400 employees and offices around the world.

Neogen began by manufacturing and marketing test kits based on MSU research on fungal toxins that contaminate the food supply. As the company grew, Neogen scientists and university researchers developed other diagnostic products to enhance food safety as well as the health and safety of humans and animals. Your strategy for growth aims to make Neogen the dominant provider of such products. The company's success is evident in its increasing revenues and consistent profits.

Neogen has been repeatedly named to the Forbes magazine's list of the 200 Best Small Companies in America. The company was chosen for inclusion in the new Russell Microcap Index and the NASDAQ National Market's top tier of listed companies, the Global Select Market.

Under your guidance, Neogen has offered numerous internships and research opportunities for MSU undergraduate and graduate students and employed many MSU graduates. You were an ardent supporter and a founding member of the board of directors of the Core Technology Alliance, a large state-funded research infrastructure collaboration of Michigan's primary research universities. You served on the boards of the Michigan Biotechnology Institute and the Greater Lansing Chamber of Commerce. Governor Jennifer Granholm appointed you to the board of the Michigan Strategic Fund.

For your commitment to the state of Michigan and your accomplishments in applying scientific discoveries to food safety, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Agriculture, from Michigan State University.

Thomas M. Krigas

You are known as part of the team that discovered the highly effective and widely used cancer drugs, cisplatin and carboplatin. Your contribution to this important medical advance has contributed to saving thousands of lives.

As a doctoral student at Michigan State University, working with Max T. Rogers, you carried out some of the essential magnetic resonance experiments on platinum complexes. While working part time in Barnett Rosenberg's laboratory, you helped to identify the platinum compound that was responsible for the cessation of cell division—a vital step in developing the effective clinical anti-cancer drugs.

You went on to have a successful career as a polymer research chemist studying the behavior of molten polymers and structure-property relationships. You later became manager of product development and a research consultant in oriented plastic films.

You maintained strong ties with the MSU Department of Chemistry, helping to establish and continue support of the Max T. Rogers Lecture Series. You were a charter member of the Dean's Board of Advisors for the College of Natural Science and regularly provided assistance in forming industrial connections, helpful insights and counsel about changes in the industrial approach to chemistry, and advice on ways to prepare students for careers in industry. You have also been active in your community, serving on charitable and foundation boards.

For your important scientific discoveries that contributed significantly to human health and your generosity in supporting and sharing your wisdom with students, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Science, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREES

John B. McCoy

You are a business leader in national financial services markets, known for carrying out innovative strategies to meet the challenges of a competitive industry.

The third generation of your family to lead Bank One, you continued your father's acquisition program that expanded the Columbus, Ohio, bank throughout the state. You took the company even farther while retaining its focus on small business and middle-market customers, maintaining high expectations, and encouraging innovation. In three decades at the bank, you set strategic goals for growth and quality improvement. Under your leadership, Bank One grew from $4 billion to $270 billion and completed more than 100 acquisitions to become one of the largest banks in the nation.

You have maintained a strong commitment to your community, serving on boards of charities, arts organizations, educational institutions, and economic development associations as well as numerous companies. You were chairperson of the boards of Corillian, a provider of eFinance solutions for the Internet; the Battelle Memorial Institute, the world's largest non-profit independent research and development organization; and Kenyon College.

You were a trustee of Stanford University, where you earned an M.B.A. and a director of the Stanford Management Company, which oversees the university's investments. You established the John B. McCoy Fellowship Fund to assist Stanford M.B.A. students. At Bank One you supported continuing education programs for senior executives as well as middle managers and also encouraged advanced education for entry-level positions.

For your business leadership, your commitment to education, and your investment of time and energy in your community, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Business, from Michigan State University.

David C. Morris

You are known for your stewardship of resources, your appreciation for applied learning, and your dedication to the future of Michigan agriculture and your community.

With knowledge gained from the agricultural technology course at Michigan State College in the 1940s plus careful stewardship and astute business decisions, you and your wife Betty turned your 245-acre family farm into a thriving livestock operation growing to almost 1,700 acres. It was a model agricultural enterprise that you made available as a virtual laboratory for thousands of Michigan State University students.

You have worked to ensure the success of your community and Michigan's agriculture industry, serving as a leader in the Michigan Farm Bureau, a township supervisor, and county commissioner. A visionary leader, you showed foresight in creating a joint fire and emergency medical service long before such consolidated services were common. You were an early advocate of the principles of environmental, economic, and community sustainability.

You have been a strong advocate for MSU's agriculture teaching, research, and extension programs at both the state and national levels. You were a representative to the Council for Agricultural Research, Extension and Teaching (CARET), a national organization advocating for land-grant universities before Congress and executive branch agencies. Your passion, understanding of the issues, personal commitment to the values of the agricultural community, and pragmatic perspective encouraged dialogue and innovative thinking on the Farm Bill.

You are known for your concern for individuals and your generous support of organizations, such as your church and the university, that reflect your values. Your endowments to MSU will have a major impact on the future of livestock research, local government policy, and agriculture education.

For your leadership in agricultural practice and policy and your commitment to education and your community, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Agriculture, from Michigan State University.

HONORARY DEGREES

Calvin T. Rapson

You are a respected leader known for your integrity, commitment to fairness, and advocacy for working men and women worldwide.

You are in your second term as vice president of the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agriculture Implement Workers of America—the UAW. Your career with General Motors and the UAW began after attending Michigan State University in the 1960s.

You graduated from the UAW-GM apprenticeship program and soon were elected to committee chair positions in Local 659. As you took on greater challenges, you were recognized as a creative coalition builder and played key roles in bargaining National Agreements with GM in the 1980s and 1990s. In 1995 you became assistant director of Region 1-C, an eleven-county area in south-central Michigan with 90,000 active and retired members, and were elected director in 1998. You became UAW vice president in 2002. You are the only American labor union member elected to the Adam Opel AG Supervisory Board in Germany.

You are committed to supporting union members and working toward win-win solutions that are fair to both employees and employers. You have shown foresight in adjusting negotiations to global and economic changes that affect the automotive industry. A recent negotiation demonstrated your courage and intelligence and resulted in a precedent-setting bargaining agreement with effects that will be felt for decades. Because of your honesty, your ability to understand complex situations, and your genuine concern for others, individuals on both sides of the negotiating table consider you a friend.

You recognize the social responsibilities of the union and lead in charitable and community causes that benefit all. A strong advocate for education, you worked with the MSU School of Labor and Industrial Relations to offer a two-year certificate program in Modern Labor Concepts for workers. You have also created a scholarship at MSU for union workers and their dependents.

For your commitment to the well-being of workers and your support of education and community causes, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Humanities, from Michigan State University.

Steven W. Squyres

You are the principal scientific investigator on the team that designed the Mars rovers Spirit and Opportunity, both of which have exceeded expectations for their time on Mars.

An expert on the large solid bodies of the solar system, you were part of the Voyager science team, participating in analysis of images from Jupiter and Saturn. You were a radar investigator on the Magellan mission to Venus, a member of the Mars Observer gamma-ray spectrometer flight investigation team, and a co-investigator on the Russian Mars '96 mission.

In addition to your role on the Mars Exploration Rover Mission, you are a co-investigator on the Mars Express and the Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter missions. You are part of the gamma-ray spectrometer flight investigation team for the Mars Odyssey mission and a member of the imaging team for the Cassini mission to Saturn.

Spirit and Opportunity, the rovers launched in 2003 and 2004 for missions expected to last 90 days, are still exploring Mars, reading the geologic record at various sites to study the role of water and whether conditions at some point in the past might have been favorable for life. Data from the rovers demonstrate that Mars was habitable at some point but not whether life existed.

You are a Goldwin Smith professor of astronomy at Cornell University and a sought-after speaker and commentator on space exploration. You provide regular Web site updates on the Mars mission for the public and contributed to an IMAX film, "Roving Mars," about the rovers and their development.

A former student of the late Carl Sagan, you received the 2004 Carl Sagan Memorial Award for your contributions to exploration of the cosmos. Among other awards, you received the prestigious Benjamin Franklin Medal in Earth and Environmental Science from the Franklin Institute in 2007.

For your scientific accomplishments and your commitment to communicating about science to the public and especially to young people, I am pleased to award you the honorary degree, Doctor of Science, from Michigan State University.

MSU Fight Song

*On the banks of the Red Cedar
Is a school that's known to all;
Its speciality is winning,
And those Spartans play good ball;
Spartan teams are never beaten,
All through the games they fight;
Fight for the only colors,
Green and White.*

*Go right thru' for MSU,
Watch the points keep growing.
Spartan teams are bound to win,
They're fighting with a vim.
RAH! RAH! RAH!
See their team is weakening,
We're going to win this game.
Fight! Fight! Rah! Team, Fight!
Victory for MSU.*

Lyrics by Francis Irvin Lankey, (MSU Engineering, 1916).
Arranged by Diego H. Rivera, Instructor, College of Music.

Star-Spangled Banner

*Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!*

Alma Mater

*M.S.U., We love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.*

*Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.*

The lyrics of the Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. It was not until March 30, 1949, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as the MSU Shadows.

The University acknowledges candidates for the bachelor's degree who will graduate as Academic Scholars (A), from the Honors College (H), With Honor (*), or With High Honor (). Academic Scholars completed a two-year honors program including at least four honors-caliber courses. Honors College graduates are academically talented students who have participated in rigorous, highly individualized programs of study, including at least eight honors-caliber courses. Graduation Honors. The current minimum grade-point average for seniors graduating With Honor is 3.55 and those graduating With High Honor is 3.82, which is approximately 20 percent of graduating seniors who have earned the highest grade-point averages. Recognition of graduation honors in the commencement program is based on the grade-point average of all work at MSU completed prior to the opening of the semester of graduation. To be eligible for graduation honors, transfer students must earn a minimum of 50 semester credits at MSU.

ADVANCED DEGREES

Star-Spangled Banner

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming.
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!

Alma Mater

M.S.U., We love thy shadows	Beneath the pines we'll gather
When twilight silence falls,	To give our faith so true,
Flushing deep and softly paling	Sing our love for Alma Mater
O'er ivy-covered halls.	And thy praises, M.S.U.

The lyrics of the Alma Mater were written by Bernard Traynor (MSC Athletic Department, 1925-1927). The melody is based on Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. It was not until March 30, 1949, after a vote by the students, that the popular song on campus known as the MSC Shadows was finally adopted as the official Alma Mater. Today, the Alma Mater is known as the MSU Shadows.
