VOL. XXVII. No. 30

EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN

MAY 19, 1922

MONEY FOR M. A. C.'s two new buildings, the Home Economics building and the library and administration building, will not be available until after July 1, according to a ruling of the state administrative board this week. The appropriations for these buildings, along with those for building programs of all other state colleges, including the University of Michigan, have been held up pending a check on state finances which will be available on July 1. The possibility that the state may run behind this year is said to be the reason for the action of the administrative board. While press reports have indicated that building appropriations might have to be pared down, college authorities are proceeding with plans for the entire M. A. C. program, in the expectation that the money will be forthcoming in the near future.

THE ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT will be host to more than a half hundred state high school track teams on June 3, when the preparatory school teams gather at East Lansing for the sixteenth annual Michigan Interscholastic Track and Field Meet. There will be three classes of competition: one for schools with an enrollment above 500, one for schools under 500 but over 175, and one for schools under 175. Cups for winning teams and medals for individuals finishing in first, second, or third places will be awarded in the different classes by the college. These meets bring hundreds of the state's best high school athletes to the campus each year and prove an important factor in acquainting prospective students with the equipment and advantages available at M. A. C.

THE EDITORIAL STAFF of the Michigan Agriculturist, monthly magazine published by students of the college agricultural club, banqueted last Wednesday evening. The staff for the past year, the first in which the Agriculturist has been published, finished their term with the last issue and turned over the official editorial pencil to their successors at the Wednesday banquet.

FEATURING OLD GREEK DANCES, the annual college pageant, to be held Tuesday night of commencement week this year, promises to equal or excel the splendid performances of recent years in point of beauty and dramatic effect. A king and a queen of the pageant will be selected from the senior class, the various dances and games centering around these leading figures.

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENTS who are taking courses in institutional management will visit the Battle Creek sanitarium next Tuesday under the direction of Miss Avis Sprague, of the college home economics faculty.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of the college, members of the faculty will be in full academic regalia for the commencement procession this year. The fact that commencement is to be combined with President Friday's inaugural led the faculty committee to recommend the donning of caps and gowns in order that all possible dignity might be given the occasion. There are enough masters and doctors degrees among the college faculty to add a very generous touch of color to the procession. The bright colors which go with advanced degrees make an interesting addition to the gowns at academic assemblages.

THE M. A. C. VARSITY TENNIS TEAM won first honors in the Michigan state tournament held at Kalamazoo College last Friday and Saturday. Eight points toward the victory were contributed by the men's team, while girls entered in the tournament picked up four points. Kalamazoo College was second in the tournament. Captain Coe and Croll won the finals in the men's doubles play, while Croll won the singles championship.

THE PRESENT SENIOR CLASS held its "swing out" last Monday evening, parading the campus headed by the college band, which later gave a concert in the Forest of Arden.

MAJOR-GENERAL GEORGE BELL reviewed the college military forces last Wednesday. The reviewing officer spent several hours on the campus, making a detailed inspection of troops before the general review.

THE JUNIOR CLASS will be in charge of cap night exercises this year, action of the student council having placed this responsibility at a meeting this week.

THE SIXTH ANNUAL COUNTY NORMAL DAY was held on the M. A. C. campus Friday of last week. More than two hundred students and instructors from normal schools scattered all over the state were in attendance. The Boys' and Girls' Club section of the extension division acted as hosts for the occasion, while the State Board of Agriculture provided a complimentary luncheon for the guests. President Friday addressed the gathering after the luncheon.

RESULTS OF STEER AND SWINE feeding experiments carried on at the college during the past few months were presented at the annual Steer and Swine Feeders' Day, the program for which was held in the agricultural building last Tuesday afternoon. Prof. G. A. Brown and Prof. W. E. J. Edwards of the animal husbandry department interpreted the experimental results for the assembled farmers, while President Friday delivered an address upon the "Trend of Prices."

Will Combine Inaugural and Commencement

Inaugural ceremonies for President David Friday will be held on Wednesday, June 21, in connection with the regular commencement exercises.

Definite announcement to this effect was made this week when details of the 1922 commencement program were given out. At the time President Friday took office, there was some consideration of a plan to hold a special inaugural on Founders' Day, May 13, but the greater opportunities for holding such ceremony during commencement week led to the adoption of the joint program.

A combined inaugural and commencement address will be delivered by President Friday during the commencement program on Wednesday morning, June 21.

Jason Woodman, senior member of the State Board of Agriculture, will have charge of the formal inauguration, which will immediately precede the presidential address.

FACULTY RECEPTION.

A faculty reception for President and Mrs. Friday and Secretary and Mrs. H. H. Halladay is scheduled for Tuesday evening, June 20. Visiting alumni, all members of the college teaching staff, and members of the senior class and their parents are to be invited to this reception, it is understood.

A special inaugural program, on which leading graduates of the college, former presidents, and other Michigan college presidents will appear, will be held on the afternoon of commencement day. Details of this and other programs of the week are listed under the complete commencement schedule in this issue of the Record.

Radio Message Unites Alumni on Founders' Day

District alumni associations of the college were united literally, as well as in spirit, when President David Friday broadcasted a radio message from the college station on Saturday evening, May 13.

The President's Founders' Day address was received by many individuals, who gathered at radio receiving sets, as well as by alumni clubs, and the result was that M. A. C. people all over the Middle West were able to hear the address which was delivered before the Founders' Day mass meeting at the college.

Members of the Central Michigan Alumni Association, students, and faculty gathered in the college gymnasium Saturday evening in recognition of Founders' Day, and listened to talks appropriate to the day.

E. W. Ranney, '00, president of the general alumni association, opened the meeting by enumerating things in which the alumni were most vitally interested. Ranney told of the need for a Union Building and a Stadium, and also of the interest of the alumni in the question of changing the name of the college.

Judge C. B. Collingwood, '85, followed with a splendid review of the history of the college. Judge Collingwood told of the early pioneer days, of the long intermediate period after the college was first established but during which small growth was made, and then of the later years of expansion and development. He spoke of the illustrious alumni of the institution and sounded a note of optimism for the future.

A. L. Brown, '22, represented the undergraduates in a brief but effective talk. Brown expressed the confidence of the undergraduates in the new administration and in the future growth of the college.

President Friday, in delivering the final address, sounded the keynote of policies which will govern the administration of the college during the next few years. He praised the glorious past of M. A. C., speaking of her illustrious alumni, and expressed his ideals for her future. That the college must continue to develop leaders in its different fields of endeavor and that the faculty must be capable of inspiring zeal for research and investigational work in the student body, were points brought out by the new president.

A synopsis of President Friday's address indicates the breadth of ground covered:

"The policies of the Michigan Agricultural College during the coming years will be shaped with a view to placing the institution in a position of leadership in the field of agricultural, home economics, and engineering education. M. A. C. has supplied leaders in these fields for educational institutions in all parts of the world during the past, and it must continue to do so in the future.

"The program of expansion which has been planned for the next two years contemplates the erection of three new buildings. The first one of these is the Home Economics Building, to be located on the present site of Howard Terrace. Next will come a new library and administration building. Appropriations were provided by the last Legislature for both these. The next Legislature will be asked to appropriate funds for the construction of a new Horticultural Building, including cold storage facilities and commercial greenhouses.

"The engineering department will offer, beginning next September, a new course in Engineering Administration. This course will give students, in addition to the fundamental engineering subjects; training in accounting, economics and finance. We are convinced that this type of course will be one of the most outstanding developments in education during the next ten years.

"In the older fields of instruction the work in horticulture and in economics will be re-organized and expanded with a view to making the Michigan Agricultural College a leader in both these fields in the United States. Plans are also on foot for the establishment of graduate work in agriculture and in science, which will utilize the excellent facilities of the college for this work. This field has been rather neglected during the period of the war, and it must be taken up and pushed vigorously once more.

"With the large body of loyal and interested alumni which M. A. C. boasts we are assured of that moral and financial support which will maintain the institution in the foremost ranks of American education.

Commencement Week Program Announced

Tentative program of commencement week events, as prepared by special committee and approved by the faculty, was announced this week by Prof. J. F. Cox, chairman of the faculty committee.

While the program conforms in general with the plans followed in former years, there are a few changes and additions which will prove of interest to alumni.

The fact that inaugural ceremonies are to be combined with the regular commencement exercises lends especial interest this year.

Cap Night.

THE SEVENTH ANNUAL Michigan Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet will be held on college field Saturday, May 27. While M. A. C. is held a slight favorite to win the championship, several other state colleges have unusually strong teams this year and may upset predictions. Western State Normal, Kalamazoo College, and Ypsilanti Normal have squads which are certain to cut into the point total heavily. M. A. C. won the state meet last year.

ATHLETICS

Track Team Wins Easily From Oberlin

Exhibiting strength in every event on the program, the varsity track squad won a 77 1-2 to 48 1-2 point victory from Oberlin College on college field last Saturday. The showing of Coach Barron's men exceeded the expectations of the team's most ardent supporters, improvement being shown all through the squad.

Captain DeGay Ernst was again the individual star of the meet with firsts in the 100 and 440 yard dashes and in the 220 yard low hurdles to his credit. Ernst incidentally equalled the M. A. C. record of 10 seconds in the 100 and tied his own record of 50 and 2-5 seconds in the 440. The low hurdle time, 25 and 2-5 seconds, was also unusually fast.

Gorsuch of Oberlin turned the 220 yard dash in 22 seconds, a fifth of a second faster than the M. A. C. record, set by Moon in 1904.

One of the prettiest races of the day came in the half mile run. Brendel, veteran varsity runner, allowed Clipson of Oberlin to take a big lead early in the race and then was forced to make a desperate attempt to overhaul the flying visitor in the home stretch. The result was the most sensational finish of the day, with Brendel's sprint leaving him six inches short of victory. The time was fast—2:11-5.

Ohio State Dual Meet Saturday

The varsity track team meets Ohio State University in a dual track meet on college field Saturday, May 20. Great improvement in the work of the squad in recent weeks and the fact that Barron has developed strong candidates for second and third places, in addition to his leading entries, are factors expected to result in a satisfactory accumulation of points against the Conference men.

Ohio has several real stars on her squad, but the general impression on the campus is that the varsity is in shape to give the visitors a great battle all the way.

Michigan Game Rained Off Again—Ypsi Defeated

The weather again interfered with scheduled competition between the M. A. C. baseball varsity and the University of Michigan last Wednesday when wet grounds caused cancellation of the game at Ann Arbor. Two weeks before, rain barred the game which was to have been played on college field.

An effort will be made to arrange a game with the University later in the season, either at Ann Arbor or at home, but indications are that this will be difficult. The U. of M. schedule seems to be so full that the addition of postponed games is scarcely possible.

Captain Al Brown and his team came through again last Saturday, winning from the strong Ypsilanti Normal team by a 5-4 score. The Normalites, boasting a veteran infield and one of the best college pitchers in the Middle West in Rynearson, had lost but one game this year and were set to turn back Morrissey's charges in the Saturday tilt.

Good pitching by Johnson and timely hitting accounted for the victory. An error, two bases on balls, and two hits, coupled with some good base running, brought in four runs for the varsity in the third inning. This lead was held until the first of the ninth.

With a two run lead, the score standing 4 to 2, two men out and two strikes on the batter in the final inning, Johnson yielded one of the five hits made off his delivery. An error followed, putting two men on bases, and the next batter caught a curve ball for a long double, bringing in two runs and tying the count.

The varsity came right back in its half of the inning, however, and chalked up the winning run. Brown was safe on an error and after two were out, Fullen connected for a triple to the river, scoring the winning run.

NECROLOGY

ALFRED RUSSEL LOCKE, 1891

A. R. Locke '91, well known citizen of Ionia, died at his home Sunday afternoon, May 14, 1922, after an illness of six months. Burial was made in Belding, Michigan.

Mr. Locke served in various public capacities. He was for three years after graduation United State deputy consul at Glasgow, Scotland. He was a member of the board of control of the Michigan reformatory for twenty years, and served two years as prosecuting attorney for Ionia County. He had been city attorney for Ionia and a member of the board of education for a number of years. He was actively connected with the Masonic lodges at Ionia, the Elks, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, and the Sons of Veterans. His funeral services were in charge of the Masons.

IVA SUTHERLAND, '17

Miss Iva Sutherland, graduate of the class of '17, died at her home, six miles east of Benton Harbor, on Friday, May 5th. Miss Sutherland had been teaching in the Benton Harbor high school until two days preceding her death, which was due to heart trouble.

Miss Sutherland was born near Benton Harbor in 1894. She attended school at Benton Harbor, graduating from the high school, and entered M. A. C. in 1913. She was a member of the Sesame Literary Society.

After leaving M. A. C. with the class of '17, she took charge of the Domestic Art department in the Benton Harbor High School, in which position she continued until her death.
