COLLEGE SCORES HEAVILY AT FARM SHOW

A. W. Jewett, '20, Again Takes Long List of Prizes on Farm Crops; Six Horses Take Eight Awards at International.

Winning prizes, all the way from ribbons and medals to grand championships, seems to be more of an ordinary occurrence for the college with each succeeding year. The International Hay and Grain show and Livestock Exposition recently held in Chicago served to further strengthen the position that the college holds in this strenuously contested class of exhibits.

In the livestock show the college horses were in a class by themselves. Although only six animals were exhibited, the honors they carried away would have done justice to an entry several times greater. As usual, the Belgian class was the most fertile field, two first, one second and one fourth being the regular prizes carried off by M. A. C. in this breed. Many additional trophies were also taken by the Belgians. The two-year old mare "Margelotte" won fourth in her class; the stallion "Range Line Phoenix" won second in the three-year old exhibit of his class. The mares "Pervenche and "Betty de Camille" won firsts in their classes, namely three and four-year old respectively. Pervenche also carried off the senior and grand championship. This makes the third consecutive year that this mare has won the grand championship.

In the Percheron class the college mare "Leila" won first place in the five-year old class, as well as the reserve grand championship. "Marie" won second honors in the four-year old class of the same breed.

On group horse exhibits the college also came in for a good share of the ribbons, securing second place in the three-mare Belgian group, as well as second in the stallion and three-mare group, also a Belgian competition.

In short, the college, by the exhibition of these six horses, won a total of 10 ribbons, one trophy and $250 in cash; or expressed in another way, the winnings amounted to three firsts, two seconds, one fourth and two grand championships, a record which will go down in college history.

Aside from the horse entries, there were also other animals of various breeds. Several ribbons and cups were won by exhibits of Hereford cattle, as well as of hogs and sheep. However, these winnings were not as formidable as those won by the horses.

Michigan farmers came in for a good share of honors in the grain and hay show of the exposition. The outstanding exhibitor was again A. W. Jewett, Jr., '20, of Mason. Jewett is a law unto himself in this show, at least as far as high average for places won is concerned. Mr. Jewett won 7th in yellow dent corn, 20th in white dent, 2nd in flint, 3rd in soft red winter wheat, 1st in soft white winter wheat, 6th in oats, 1st in flax, 4th in rye, 22nd in six-rowed barley, 1st and grand championship in alfalfa hay, 1st in red clover hay, 1st in timothy hay, 2nd in mixed hay, 6th in yellow soy beans, and 4th in field beans. This is a record which stands practically unparalleled in the history of the International. He took the grand championship for the third successive year.

Mr. Jewett was not the only Michigan man to gain fame at the show, as the records of the exposition reveal. Notable amongst the winnings of Michigan farmers are three first places in yellow soy beans, the first five places in mixed hay, first five places in timothy hay, first four in red clover hay, first four in alfalfa hay, first two in rye, first four in flax, first eight in soft red winter wheat, first three in flint corn and first three in 10 best ears of junior corn, as well as many more places further down the list of each class.

The work of the crops and plant breeding departments of the college through the extension division is bearing significant fruit and establishing the vital relation of the College to state agriculture more forcibly than ever.

NEW YORKERS EXPECT BUTTERFIELD TO SPEAK

In announcing his plans for the meeting of the Western New York M. A. C. Association at Syracuse on January 17, R. L. Nye, '12, president of the organization declares he expects President Butterfield to be the chief speaker of the day. Nye holds out glowing promises for the dinner to be served and expresses himself in the following language:

"We are pulling every wire to have President Butterfield with us for a meeting on January 17. Supplementing my own invitation, one has gone from Chancellor Flint of Syracuse university urging him to spend the day with us. I have delayed the matter of announcing a completed program pending the president's decision. In case a different date should suit him better, we would be glad to change. I expect to urge Ray Stannard Baker, Liberty Hyde Bailey, and any other prominent M. A. C. alumni within reach, to be here and to make this the biggest reunion ever held outside of Michigan.

"We have in mind a noon-day dinner with some M. A. C. talks, and followed in the afternoon by a meeting for all interested, with a talk from President Butterfield on rural leadership. If other prominent men such as Ray Stannard Baker were present we should expect other talks along the same line. Chancellor Flint of the university will be our local guest. This afternoon meeting would be held under the joint auspices of the M. A. C. alumni and our Syracuse Chapter of the Collegiate Country Life Club. We are anxious to put out a program to our alumni who are within reach that will fairly compel them to come in. The dinner will be served by the girls of the Home Economics college and their dinners are famous in this part of the state. They serve banquets which outdo anything the hotels can put up, for about half the price, and the Dean of the College, who has recently been elected Secretary of State for New York, Dean Knapp, has assured me that they will give us their best.

Yours truly,
R. L. NYE, '12.

CHICAGO ENTERTAINS VISITORS FROM M. A. C.

The presence of Director Young, Assistant Director Frimodig, Dr. Huston, and I. J. Cortright, '11, added considerably to the enjoyment of the regular luncheon meeting of the Chicago alumni, December 5. Coach Young told the alumni something of the difficulties of schedule making, particularly the problem of getting good home games. The new stadium and a better outlook for football prospects should help solve the problem, he said.

Assistant Director Frimodig described the physical changes that have taken place at M. A. C. during the past few years. Dr. Huston spoke of the spirit of optimism prevailing at M. A. C., and of the cooperation which the student body is giving the athletic department. I. J. Cortright, of '11 fame, brought greetings from Cincinnati, and urged the hearty support of all alumni to M. A. C.

At an impromptu luncheon meeting Wednesday, December 3, a number of the college men in Chicago for the International meet with alumni at the College Inn, at Hotel Sherman. The following were present:

From M. A. C.: Dr. Ward Giltner, Dr. E. T. Hallman, D. F. Rainey, G. W. Putman, H. J. Stafseth, Larry Kurtz, J. I. Huddleson, and J. W. Weston.

From outside Chicago: P. R. Taylor, '15, Harrisburgh, Pa.; G. V. Branch, '12, Detroit, Mich.; R. A. Runnells, '16, Blacksburg, Va.; P. R. Miller, '24, Ames, Iowa; A. W. Jewett, Jr., '20, Mason, Mich.; Mark F. Welsh, '19, College Park, Maryland.

From Chicago: W. R. Rummner, '86; P. B. Woodworth, '86; George F. Davis, '21; Ove F. Jensen, '14, and W. L. Nies, '13.

CHICAGO ALUMNI PLEASE NOTICE

Regular luncheon meetings are held on the first and third Fridays each month at the Chicago Engineers club, 314 South Federal street, 12:30 o'clock. Next meetings Dec. 19, Jan. 2, and Jan. 16.

KAPPA DELTA CHAPTER INSTALLED ON CAMPUS

With the acquisition of a chapter in Kappa Delta, national sorority by the Letonian society there are now three such chapters among the College organizations. Alpha Phi and Alpha Gamma Delta are the others. The former was originally the Feronian society while the latter was organized as a branch of the sorority, both were installed in 1922.

Installation services for the Alpha Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta were held at the home of the Letonian society on Evergreen avenue on November 27, 28, and 29. Representatives from chapters at Michigan, Minnesota and Beloit, Wis., aided in the ceremonies.

The charter members are Orma Simons, Lansing; Frieda Gilmore, Mt. Pleasant; Beatrice Nelson, Farwell; Emily Perry, East Lansing; and Helen White, Middleville. The college members are Bernice Mitchell, Holly; Virginia Jorgensen, Dearborn; Evelyn Paul, Hinsdale, Illinois; Wanda Hack, Milan; Marian Crosby, Three Oaks; Norma Collins, Okemos; Myrtle VanHorne, Rives Junction; Geneva Church, Elaine Alvord, Mable Biery, Marie Fiske, East Lansing; Winifred Landon, Dorothy Schaibly, Alice Hathaway, Lansing; Erva Prescott, Lincoln; Tina Skeels, Whitehall; Nina Ray, New Era; Dorothy Fisk, Jackson, and Lelas Frost, Dansville. VARSITY FINDS ADRIAN EASY IN FIRST GAME

There was not much opposition of a serious nature offered to the M. A. C. basketball team when it met Adrian college in the first game of the season at the gymnasium, December 10. The final score was 41 to 16, and at no time were the visitors dangerous although the first few minutes found the teams on even terms in respect to points acquired. Coach Kob's team with a lineup of veterans demonstrated power, it also had acquired some polish in the art of shooting baskets from the floor or foul line but roughness was a fault quite common among the Green and White players. This characteristic was no doubt due to the presence on the team of Richards and Robinson who, a few weeks previously, had completed the football season.

McMillan made fourteen points with five baskets from the floor and four from the foul line. He and Captain Nuttilla featured the contest with some exceptional passing under the basket. Robinson repeated his feat of last year in the Michigan game when he knocked a ball into the basket on a toss-up in the end zone. Marx, playing his first game as a regular, and he was the only member of the squad to stay through the entire contest, proved himself a steady guard and good shot. Poor shooting by the Adrian players cost their team several points.

Theta Alpha Phi, the former dramatics club, presented the four-act comedy "Mr. Blank" in the assembly room of the Home Economics building on December 11.

VIEWS AND COMMENT

To leave a task partially completed is an acknowledgement of weakness, an admission of failure. Consoling yourself with the pap that you did what you could is a poor substitute for the exhilaration which accompanies success. The Union Memorial building in its present state is concrete evidence that part of the power of the alumni body of M. A. C. has not yet been demonstrated, that the reserves of strength and energy which are the real elements which make any organization worth while have not yet been drained, have not even demonstrated a part of their true worth. The football team that plays a wonderful game the first quarter to find at the end it has exhausted its last resource is not the one to win a championship. The alumni organization unable to carry out its purpose is also in a fair way to be classed among the "also rans".

The Union Memorial building is the first project of its magnitude to be attempted by the alumni of M. A. C. It is not too great a task for the association, for others with less than half the numbers and no greater in affluence have done proportionately as well. It would be an easy matter to attempt an effort with the goal set at half the present height and have it prove successful, it would produce a self-satisfied feeling, an air of content, both of which would vanish as soon as the achievement thus attained was placed alongside of those of smaller colleges.

Completing the Union Memorial building is a task which the M. A. C. Association set for itself in 1919. It has taken five years to get the shell of a building erected. In those years the depth of M. A. C. loyalty has not been plumbed, the weight of sentiment for Alma Mater has not been recorded, the sense of indebtedness to the institution which gave you more than you returned has not been truly valued or the Union building would now be performing the functions for which it was designed. It stands now a job almost completed, it represents part of what the alumni and former students of M. A. C. can accomplish, it is the acknowledgement of a weakness which does not exist. It is a false testimonial to failure for all that can be done has not yet been done hence it is premature as an indication of a lack of effort. But there it stands, its argument is irrefutable. To fail in its first big task would be the death knell of the M. A. C. Association; to succeed would mean the acquisition of a boundless wealth of strength. Which shall it be?

If you have not pledged to the Union Memorial building fund, send in your subscription immediately.

If you have not pledged all that you know you should, send in the renewal of your subscription.

If you have pledged but have not paid, send in your check to cover all you owe.

Follow any of these directions and you will be aiding the Union Memorial building project and bring to yourself the satisfaction of having participated in a project which will prove a lasting benefit to the College and to the generations of students and alumni to come. The Union building has been built to endure, only the spirit back of it is more enduring. It will stand after all others now on the Campus have crumbled.

There is but little change in college life. Year after year finds a large proportion of those enrolled studying late nights when the era of examinations comes around. This week is the one for burning the midnight oil. By Thursday night the Campus will be almost deserted for a surprisingly small number of tests are set for Friday. Winter term classes are due to start January 6, with registration the preceding day.

"Close Beside The Winding Cedar"

The M. A. C. rifle team will match targets with eighteen teams during the season.

Dwight B. Waldo, '85, president of Western State Normal was the speaker at the convocation on December 3.

T. W. Keating, '18, who is representing the Ingersoll-Rand company in western Canada was a Campus visitor last week.

Christmas will probably find the Campus appropriately decorated with snow, a storm during the past week liberally covered the ground.

Virtually the entire staff of the horticultural department attended the meeting of the State Horticultural society and the state apple show at Grand Rapids, December 2, 3, 4. President Butterfield was one of the speakers.

Entrances to the Campus are giving conclusive proof these days of the need of paving with all three of them perilous to automobiles and uninviting to pedestrians.

Sophomores won the inter-class swimming meet on December 6. Collett took first place in the 50 and 100-yard dashes and swam with the winning relay team for the second year men.

"Crop Production and Soil Management" is the title of a book by J. F. Cox, professor of farm crops, which will be placed on sale January 1. It is published by John Wiley & Sons.

Yale university has recently announced a gift of a million dollars for the establishment of a department of dramatic art and the construction and equipment of a theater for the use of the department.

Freshmen are so numerous and husky this fall that the sophomores are having a strenuous time keeping them up to the mark in the matter of obeying regulations in regard to the proper caps to be worn by the members of the new class.

Co-ed debaters will argue the question: "Resolved, that the Japanese Exclusion act should be repealed", in their public appearances this winter. Tryouts were conducted to select the personnel of the squad on December 11. This is the third year in which the fair sex has taken part in this recognized activity and they plan on a schedule of six meets, one of which will take them out of the state.

Senior engineering students elected to membership in Tau Beta Pi include: L. H. Nagler, South Haven; Marlin R. Bigelow, Kalamazoo; John Killoran, Lansing; Donald Pflug, Massillon, Ohio; Donald A. Stickle, Midland; Seth Goodman, Flint; Frank Bornor, Parma; Donald Smith, Ironwood; W. H. Bezenah, Bay City; L. Hollerbach, Massillon, Ohio; Floyd Holmes, East Lansing, was the juniors admitted.

COLLEGE ASKS CONFERENCE MEMBERSHIP

Huston Presents Request at Chicago Meeting; Move Made in Effort to Arrange Better Schedules With Constant Competition.

With the increasing difficulty of arranging satisfactory schedules for athletic teams growing more of a problem each year the application of M. A. C. for membership in the Western Conference was made at the meeting in Chicago, December 6, in an attempt to gain recognition for the College and place it in a position where it will be able to conduct its affairs with the greatest efficiency. R. C. Huston, chairman of the board of control of athletics presented the matter to the Conference delegates and asked that M. A. C. be considered first should that organization decide to enlarge its numbers. There is no likelihood of immediate action but should a chance arise M. A. C. will be in a position to be taken into membership.

For the past two years Director Young and Chairman Huston have been active in attending Conference meetings and learning the attitude of its members toward the desirability of M. A. C. It has been pointed out that, territorially, East Lansing is close to the center of the group, that M. A. C. has maintained standards of scholarship and intercollegiate ethics comparable to those of the Big Ten, that it has competed on even terms in several sports and would be desirable competition for the smaller colleges in the organization immediately. With its new stadium and athletic fields the College is in a position to handle crowds which attend Conference games and could develop facilities not now available should the need arise. All of these points were placed before the gathering for consideration in connection with the application for entrance.

It is a matter of note that it is not difficult for M. A. C. to obtain dates on Conference schedules at any time, nor has it been for some years. These dates, are of course, set by the larger institutions but most of them are willing to take on the Green and White at some time in the course of their schedules. With the introduction of inter-sectional contests on most schedules for next fall Director Young found it almost impossible to get the extra football games he tried to arrange on the dates he had open.

The Michigan game has been set for October 3. It will be played at Ferry Field and will probably be the first game of the season for the Maize and Blue. Northwestern has offered October 10, for a game at Evanston but this date may be changed as it is not a suitable one for Coach Young's plans for the squad.

It was Michigan's early contention that it would be impossible for its basketball team to play at East Lansing but later developments may allow for this classic which has come to be recognized as the best attraction on the home court, with the possible exception of Notre Dame, and which has hitherto brought the largest crowd of the year to the gymnasium.

A schedule has been fixed for the wrestling squad. M. A. C. is a member of the Western Intercollegiate Wrestling association, the other members of which are the Big Ten and Iowa State. The list for this season includes the following: January 17, Michigan at East Lansing; January 24, Northwestern at Evanston; January 31, Indiana at East Lansing; February 7, M. A. C. at Ohio State; February 21, Iowa State at East Lansing; March 7, Purdue at East Lansing; Wrestling association championships late in March.

With a schedule comprising some of the best teams in the middle west the varsity basketball team has been launched on a season of training which should prove the mettle of the veteran squad. Three Conference fives are met in preliminary games; Franklin, the strongest team in this section last year, Notre Dame and Western State Normal are fair samples of what Coach Kobs has lined up for competition for his men.

SQUAD NAMES HASKINS 1925 FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Donald R. Haskins, '26, for the past two seasons the outstanding lineman on the M. A. C. football squad was chosen captain of the 1925 team at a meeting of monogram winners last Thursday. It was also announced that Haskins was the winner of the Killoran trophy for his persistence in following the ball during the past season.

Haskins played football at Saginaw Eastern high school before entering M. A. C. He was also a basketball and baseball player of promise in his high school days but has not had the time to follow those sports consistently since entering college. He is a junior in the applied science division and has been self-supporting throughout his college career.

Alumni Opinion

EDITOR OF THE RECORD:

I have been melancholy every time after reading the discussions in THE RECORD concerning the changing of the name of my alma mater from M. A. C. to something else. I have watched the battle of words with a saddened heart, and wonder what the outcome will be. The situation seems to be crystallizing and no statement from alumnin in such a crisis means silent consent, and if the inevitable does happen, then, such alumni in such a crisis means silent consent, that a rose by any other name would smell just as sweet, but to me M. A. C. by any other name loses traditions, historic prestige, and cherished memories.

The alumnus who looks to the name of his alma mater as a basis for gaining recognition in a chosen field of work is doomed. Whether we have a B. S., M. S., or Ph. D. attached to our name, we must deliver the goods. M. A. C. alumni have in the past and are not the oncoming graduates able to do so? I no longer feel humiliated if someone mentions a college or university I am not familiar with, for there are hundreds in U. S. A., Canada and Europe. Can we expect all people to be familiar with the various curricula of M. A. C.?

The articles appearing the columns of THE RECORD have been for the most part personal slaps at the name. We have yet to see strong, constructive and unbiased argument for a new name. Will M. A. C. have ten years of greater development than the past decade if given a new name? Will the state legislature be more liberal in its appropriation? Will the number of students increase at a greater per cent? Will the alumni attain greater success in their chosen field of work? Will other colleges and universities look with more favor on graduates of M. A. C.? Will educators rate M. A. C. as giving a higher quality of instruction?

Such arguments if convincing will make, I am sure, a bigger and better M. A. C. and would lead to the need of a new name, and then my acquiescence is assured. But pampered and personal arguments should not be taken as the basis for changing the name of the Michigan Agricultural College.

Yours truly

HOWARD C. ABBOTT, 18, Ag.
