MICHIGAN STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

VOL. 15.

LANSING, MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1910.

No. 22.

THE JUNIOR HOP.

A social drama of rare enjoyment was that enacted at the J-hop, the greatest of college parties, given by the class of 1911 of M. A. C. for members of the class 1911, in the Masonic temple, Friday night. All of the dancers and banqueters were "actors" and "actresses."

The first "act" took place in the parlors of the temple, lasting from 5:30 until 6:15. In this act, every actor took occasion to become acquainted with every other "actor." The second "scene" was staged in the banquet hall of the temple and that capacious room could hardly have presented a daintier appearance. The tables, at each of which an even dozen "actors" and "actresses" were stationed, were elaborately decorated with southern smilax and carnations. The banqueters found their places by means of neatly written place cards. While Finzel's complete orchestra of Detroit furnished music, all made merry at the banquet tables. An eight course banquet of exceptional sumptuousness was served. In addition to the table decorations, the banquet hall was artistically decorated with green and white bunting and palms. Southern smilax was also used to a considerable extent about the walls of the large room.

Without a shift of "property," the scene of activity was quickly changed from a great company enjoying the best possible sort of a banquet to an interested audience. The toasts were a big feature in the function. Pres. C. W. McKibbin, of Lansing, in introducing the "scene shifter" of the evening, James G. Hayes of Pittsburg, told how that worthy toastmaster had climbed down the fire escape with his dress suit in one hand and his pumps in the other, and sought safety in the far away city of Manistee. Hays did himself proud. He was witty and clever at all times and kept his fellow "actors" and "actresses" in convulsions of laughter constantly. The following program was of exceptional brilliancy and each of the respondents were applauded to the echo: "Enacted Scenes," by Actor W. W. Shanor of Pittsburg, Penn., ("Each one in his time plays many parts."); "The Actors," by Actress Mary Pennington, of Grand Rapids, ("O, heaven, were man but constant, he were perfect."); "The Actresses," by Actor William J. Sproat, of Grand Rapids, ("Out upon it. I have loved thee three whole days together; and am like to love thee more the more, if it prove fair weather."); "The Stage Fixtures," by Actor Guy N. Smith, of Detroit, ("It is a tale full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."); and "The Applause," by Actress Edna Chamberlain, of Lansing, ("O, wonderful, wonderful, wonderful, and most wonderful, and yet again wonderful, and after that, out of all hoping.") All of the "actors" and "actresses" who responded to toasts told of the great value of the class

COSMOPOLITANISM A MOVEMENT.

The Cosmopolitan Club had its first open meeting Saturday night. About two hundred persons from Lansing and the college were present. Besides other addresses and songs given by the local members, Mr. Kiyo S. Inui, a graduate of

KIYO S. INUI

Michigan University, and lecturer on the subject of "Universal Peace," "The New Japan," etc., presented a message that will long be remembered by those who heard it. Mr. Inui is an eloquent and entertaining speaker, and a firm believer in universal peace.

The national organization of Cosmopolitan clubs, of which the local organization expects soon to become a member, has for its motto, "Above all Nations is Humanity." Cosmopolitanism has been defined as "democracy writ large." As exemplified by the spirit Saturday evening, it stands for more than democracy in its broadest sense. It stands for universal brotherhood.

There is a quorum of nations represented in our local organization. It is composed of four Japanese, four Americans, two Jews, one Mexican, one Russian, one Indian, one Chinese, one Egyptian, and one Roumanian.

The program of the evening was as follows:

Opening Address by President—"Above All Nations is Humanity."

Mexican National Hymn—Mexican Students.

The Political Situation in Russia—Coplan.

Jewish Song—Ellman—(Other Jewish Students).

The Culture of Egypt—Osman Abdel Rasik.

Japanese National Hymn—Japanese Students.

"East vs. West"—Inui.

ELECTRICAL SHOW THIS WEEK.

The annual electrical show occurs this week, March 3d, 4th and 5th. The exhibition each day begins at three o'clock in the afternoon and lasts until nine o'clock in the evening. This is the second annual electrical show, and considerable interest is being manifested.

The object of these shows is educative. There is nothing to sell, but the department of electrical engineering cooperates with the manufacturers in showing various applications of electricity to industrial purposes. The show is carried on mainly by the students of the department. An important part of each show is an exhibition of the various types of illuminants, the applications of motors to industrial purposes, and some uses of high tension electricity.

HORTICULTURAL CLUB.

Last Wednesday evening a large number gathered to greet their old friend, Mr. B. B. Pratt, who graduated last June. Mr. Pratt was always an active member of the club, and at one time its president. He took the civil service examination and, after graduation, went to California to assist Uncle Sam with experiments on packing fruit.

The first two months he worked on lemons. He showed the club some photographs of the lemon industry, one of them being a panorama of the largest lemon ranch in California, consisting of 3500 acres. It also contains some English walnut plantings.

The first of September he went to Lodi, Cal., where he worked entirely on the Tokay grape. More grapes are shipped from here than from any other place in California. The work of the government there consists of experiments on the packing of grapes so that they will reach eastern markets with the least amount of decay. The government cars are received in New York city by an official who determines the percentage of decay upon arrival and again at the end of the third, fifth and seventh days. The top and the bottom of the car are determined separately. The packing can be divided into the commercial pack and the careful pack, the former of which always gives the greater percentage of decay. Several of the growers, however, pack their fruit quite carefully. Mr. Pratt illustrated the results of the experiments with charts, which showed the results of the different packs and of the top and bottom of the car. He also had photographs showing the process of the work, from the ripe fruit on the vines to the packed cars ready for shipment. One of the most interesting showed a car being artificially cooled by an ammonia plant on wheels.

After enjoying Rhode Island Greenings and listening to a short history and description of them by Mr. J. G. France, the club adjourned by giving Mr. Pratt a rising vote of thanks.

THE JUNIOR HOP.

of 1911 to M. A. C. and gave proofs of what an original and non-precedent-following class the juniors were.

The last "act" was put on in the ball room—the stage above, as it was called. The dancing hall was a veritable bower of greenery and lattice work. Owing to the fact that the class colors, maroon and blue, are not well adapted to decorative purposes, the general color scheme was green and white, the college colors. All woodwork was covered with greenery and under the balconies, booth effects were produced by lattice-like partitions, on which southern smilax and green and white draperies were hung. A part of each lattice partition was a Grecian pillar, surmounted with a tropical plant beneath the leaves of which glowed a red electric light. White bunting was artistically hung around the balconies, in semi circular alcove effects. The gallery was divided into numerous booths by green and white lattice work. These were filled with college pillows and chairs and closely resembled the mezzanine boxes at a metropolitan theater. Southern smilax was used generously in all parts of the building, the reception rooms being especially well decorated with this green climber from southern climes.

The orchestra, instead of being placed in a pit as at the ordinary theater, was exalted above the level of the dance floor in the rostrum. A drop curtain, showing a very beautiful landscape, gave the orchestra setting a very pretty appearance. Palms and flowers were used elaborately in providing the twelve music-manufacturers with a beautiful environment conducive to exalting music. The music as furnished by Finzel's orchestra was another great feature of the night's party. In a number of the selections, a member of the orchestra sang the songs, these dances being highly appreciated. The hit of the program, however, was a local production, "The Jolly Juniors," the words of which were composed by Miss Louise Kelly, of Lansing, a member of the junior class, and the music for which was written by Mrs. Edwy B. Reid, of East Lansing, formerly of M. A. C. The juniors could hardly get enough of this wonderful dance, which was "sprung" for the first time Friday night. In other feature dances, the light was furnished only by the red lights under the tropical plants on the Grecian pillars and a search light from the balcony which was cast over the dancers. One of the prettiest dances was, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," in which a big round moon with an ultra large smile could be seen rising over the horizon. Other feature dances which helped to make the dance program one that can never be forgotten by those who attended are: "The Coon's Birthday," in which the orchestra represented the clogging, crap-shooting, and general merry-making that accompanies a colored gentleman's advent into this world; "M. A. C. Extra," in which the Alma Mater song had been adapted to waltz music and as the music was being played, a curtain slowly unrolling showed the immortal insignia, "M. A. C., 1911;" and a favor dance in which toy drums were tossed out to the fair "actresses" who then swelled the music by their drum beats so that the ball room was fairly flooded with sound waves.

The grand march was a very pretty feature. At the end of the march, in which ninety-seven couples took part, the following led the long line into four sections, forming the living numbers, "1911:" President Clifford W. McKibbin of Lansing, and Miss Ruth Mead of Detroit, Vice-president Miss Elizabeth Frazer of Buffalo, N. Y., and Homer E. Dennison of Fulton, N. Y., W. W. Shanor of Pittsburg, Penn., and Miss Leona Lee of Flint, Eduard C. Lindeman of St. Clair, and Miss Ella Yearn of St. Clair.

The dance programs were elaborate affairs of leather embossed with the college seal and the class numerals in gold. They are so arranged as to be used as card cases if desired. The menu and toast programs were also elaborate and were in the nature of souvenirs which will undoubtedly grace the walls of "actresses" rooms for many years to come.

The party was elegantly chaperoned by Dean Robert S. Shaw, of the agricultural division, Dean George W. Bissell, of the engineering division, Prof. E. Sylvester King, of the English department, Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Mrs. G. W. Bissell, and Mrs. E. S. King. Members of the junior class filled out the patrons' programs two weeks ago and each of the faculty representatives stated that the juniors were the best kind of hosts.

Much credit for the great success of the big party last night is due to the untiring efforts of the juniors who comprised the committee having the party in charge. They are G. Harris Collingwood, of East Lansing, Clarence S. Roe, of Lansing, Stanley A. Martin, of Freedom, N. Y., James G. Hays, of Pittsburg, Penn., Kenneth D. Van Wagenen, of Denver, Colo., Herbert I. Duthie, of Grand Rapids, John R. Cornwell, of Cadillac, George H. Buckley, of Spring Lake, and Charles B. Turbegen, of Grand Rapids.—State Republican.

Wendall Paddock, '93, Professor of Horticulture at the Ohio State College, addressed the institute last week on the subject of orchards.

Class '07.

Wilmer E. Johnson, '07, who has been employed by the Canadian Bridge Co., has accepted a position with The Trussed Concrete Steel Co., of Canada, Ltd.

With '07.

Dwight Rapp, with '07, is running a dairy farm west of Lansing.

V. M. SHOESMITH, HEAD OF NEW DEPARTMENT.

Prof. Vernon M. Shoesmith, whose picture is given herewith, is the latest addition to the faculty. His position is that of Professor of Farm Crops, and he assumed charge of this work Feb. 15th.

Mr. Shoesmith was born at Leslie, Ingham County, Michigan, was reared on a farm, and graduated from Leslie high school. He entered M. A. C. in the fall of 1897, graduating in June, 1901. Soon after graduation he accepted a position as Assistant Agriculturist of the Experiment Station, Kansas Agricultural College. Later he was made Assistant Professor at the same institution, and remained there five and one-half years. In January, 1907, he accepted the position of Agronomist of the Maryland Experiment Station. In January, 1908, he was called to the Ohio State University as Assistant Professor of Agronomy, which position he held until the present time.

Mr. Shoesmith has had a fine line of experience, and it is needless to say that he has made good or he would not be called back to his Alma Mater and placed in charge of an important and growing department.

Mrs. Shoesmith, who was formerly Miss Elsie Morrison, with '05, and their two children will join Mr. Shoesmith here in a few days.

THE WEATHER BUREAU.

The weather bureau which is being completed on the campus east of the arboretum, will commence operations in a few days with Mr. Dewey A. Seeley, '98, in charge. Mr. E. B. Calvert, inspector of departmental buildings, will be here this week to accept the building from the contractors.

Mr. Seeley will have two assistants, one messenger boy and one assistant observer. The observer will probably come from Washington, while the other will be appointed from the civil service list.

Mr. and Mrs. Seeley will reside in the building. There are two office rooms on the first floor and two work rooms in the basement of the building. The bureau will have a complete set of instruments, and probably a few more than are furnished many other bureaus. About two hundred weather maps will be made daily.

GOVERNOR E. W. HOCH HERE

The fourth and last number of the entertainment course furnished by the Redpath Lyceum Bureau was filled by Governor E. W. Hoch, of Kansas. It is putting it mildly when we say that the audience was well pleased.

Governor Hoch is one of a few men with a message. He also belongs in the class which is notorious for having done things. There are few reforms or questions of interest to the people of Kansas but what that legislature acted upon during his administration. Some of these acts have been very drastic, as in case of the cigarette and tobacco law. They have been straight from the shoulder. That was the way Gov. Hoch spoke. It is impossible to summarize what he said, for he wandered over as many subjects as a great man could. He did it in a brilliant and interesting manner. He is thoroughly human and appeals not to the intellectual but the human side of his hearers.

THE COMING CARNIVAL.

A large committee, representing every society on the campus, also the independents, have already held four sessions in preparation of the coming carnival. Much has been done in the way of arrangements for the big day which will be, without exception, the greatest day for genuine fun the students of old M. A. C. have ever had the pleasure to enjoy.

Every organization on the campus has promptly and willingly responded and promised to put forth every effort to make the big parade a feature long to be remembered. Then will come the carnival proper. Held in the new Ag. building where an abundance of splendid room can be had, no show will be limited, but will be free to enlarge and elaborate on anything ever given here before. Already the societies have chosen their respective parts, together with the non-society members who are coming to the front with "stunts" that they claim will open the eyes of all.

The following are parts definitely known: Eclectic society—a minstrel show; Forensics—patent medicine show; Phi Deltas—Bijou performance; Olympics—dance; Hesperians wild west saloon; Delphics—police court; Aureoreans—games of chance; Eunomians—German school; Athenciums—Coney Island; Union Lits.—shooting gallery. These are only part of the many attractions that will go to help furnish amusement for the big crowd that is expected. Many others are being kept a secret to be sprung as surprises. One of the latter, (heard of on the side), is said to be a real high dive, from the roof of the Ag. building, into a net stretched to receive the daring performer. The spirit of the thing is in the air. There is room for everybody with a good stunt and the way offers are being made would make the managers of a centennial exposition wonder where he would put them all.

Notices have been posted offering $5.00 to the student who draws the best design to be used on posters and program covers and a number of designs have already been submitted to the committee in charge.

The section of agriculture of the Michigan Academy of Science, which has been held at the college
for several years, will meet in Col-

Eustace is vice president of the section and Prof. Geo. D. Shafer is acting secretary and treasurer.

The department of bacteriology and hygiene is making an effort to get before the farmers and live stock breeders of the state, the need of attention toward the subject of Tuberculosis among cattle.
Dr. Marshall will treat the subject this week by demonstrations and lectures to those attending the one week dairy course. Monday and Tuesday of next week will be devoted to the actual testing of animals.

OUR HERD OF HOGS.

The college herd consists of two hundred head, representing six breeds, of all ages from breeding stock six years old to pigs of a couple of months. A majority of the breeding stock has been bred and raised here, but some has been purchased.

The Yorkshires have at their head a young boar of great promise in Lake Park Standard 11381, purchased of Thos. H. Canfield, Lake Park, Minn. The sows are College
Countess 5th 7380, a 200 pound
matron, College Princess 11935, College Princess 2d 11936, and several younger sows and gilts of great promise.

The Bershires have as their leader
Star Master Baron Duke 125828, a grandson of Masterpiece 77,000,
and closely related to Premier Longfellow 68,600, Baron Duke 50th, Lord Premier 50,001, Queen Perfection 69,931, and many more of the most famous of Berkshire breeding, bred by C. D. Woodbury, Lansing, Mich.

The matrons with him are Michigan Belle 22d 118,703, Windsor
Maid 107,177, College Maid 2d 121,426, Hupp Fann Mina 115,722,
and several gilts, all of great promise and the most approved breeding.

The Poland China herd at present is a little low and consists of a sire, Enchantment, of Okemos, 135,383, and three sows of good type and development.

Bub, purchased of E. N. Ball, of Ann Arbor is at the head of the Tamworth's, and with him are four matrons of excellent type and superb development, Belmont Girl, purchased of Stanley Manning and weighing, in ordinary flesh, 700 pounds. Besides these there are several gilts, promising to be something very good.

The Duroc Jersey herd leader is Bill Boy 89837, a young hog purchased recently of J. H. Banghart.
The matrons are of good quality and excellent development and good mothers. College Ann, 59752, College Mary Ann, 39100, and College Mary Ann 2d, 54714, with several bred gilts.

These, with some of their produce now on feed, and a few Chester Whites constitute the herd which is used exclusively for class room and experimental work.

The lots and pens cover about six acres of ground. "The piggery" is a large roomy building, containing 18 pens, each with a concrete runway outside. It is equipped with a large feed room, having a set of scales, water hydrant, feed bins, etc.

Chas. Shever is the herdsman in charge.

A COMPLETELY SHAKESPE-REAN MAGAZINE.

Probably the first completely Shakesporean magazine ever printed will be brought forth this year by one of the higher English classes.
It will be Shakesporean from cover to cover, even to the advertisements and illustrations. It is also probable that one issue will be the only one attempted, but the editorial staff promises that this one effort will be unique and interesting. The present plan will mean the appearance of this literary oddity about the last of the present term.

The idea was presented to the class by Roscoe Gilmore Stott, of the English department, and was enthusiastically accepted. Mr.
Stott's constant work for the magazines brought about the idea and the class will test its skill. The position of Editor-in-chief was the gift of the members, and Harry L.
Baker was elected. His associates are Floyd Gibbs and Miss Iva Wilson. Others on the staff are: Z.
C. Goddell, advertising manager;
J. F. Campbell, business manager;
George Harris Collingwood, art
editor; current events department, Miss Helen Dodge; humorous department, Miss Elizabeth Frazer; athletic department, E. F. Hoek, and G. W. Dewey, dramatic editor.

But the editors will not attempt to make the magazine, no more than would the staff of a popular monthly or weekly. The entire class will have a definite part, and only "available matter" will be used, each member being free to submit whatever he may desire. There may be some "special orders" for those particularly gifted in one definite line.

The magazine project is entirely apart from the regular work of the class, but from the recitation-room it will be possible to take much that will be of help in the writing-up of the periodical. It is the hope of all concerned that they are not creating a novelty but something genuinely worth while in the study of the world's greatest dramatist.

The features were Cole in the shot put, Lord in the high jump, Bancroft and Courtright in the high dive, while the work of Shaw and Barcroft in the pole vault, considering the short run, was excellent.

Thursday evening of this week Hope College comes here for a basketball game, which should prove the most important and best of the year's schedule. Hope and M. A. C. have, for the last year or two, outclassed all the college teams of the state and each has claimed the college title. Last year Hope won every game on her schedule, which included Detroit Y., State A. A. U. champions. M. A. C. and Hope did not meet, as no agreement could be reached in regard to rules, since Hope played under the A. A. U. code, while M. A. C. played the rules laid down for college teams. This year Hope is stronger than ever, having defeated Hull House of Chicago, runner-up in the National Championship, also Notre Dame 37 to 26, of the strongest Western teams. This game will be played one-half A. A. U. rules and one-half collegiate rules, and A. G. Huebner, of Detroit, one of the best officials in the west, will serve as referee. The game will start promptly at 7:30, with no preliminaries.

Hope comes down with 100 rooters for the game and oratorical contest, and the largest crowd ever at a basketball game here is expected out.

In the interclass basketball series the sophomores beat the juniors 21 to 14, and the freshmen the sub-freshmen 19 to 7. The juniors still lead with 5 victories and one defeat, while the sophomores are second with 4 victories and 2 defeats.

The annual Athletic Association election will be held in the chapel this week Saturday. The polls will be open from 9 to 1 o'clock, and all members of the association are urged to get out and vote. Sample ballots will be posted on the bill boards. Only members of the association are eligible to vote.
