M. A. C. SMOTHERS MICHIGAN, 24 TO 0

MICHIGAN OUTCLASSED IN EVERY PARTICULAR

The 24 to 0 beating that the Aggies administered to Michigan's trembling warriors last Saturday afternoon was the most fearful and decisive ever inflicted upon men of Yost by M. A. C., in fact it was one of the worst beatings that Michigan has ever received. The outcome was exceedingly pleasing to Aggie enthusiasts for it established beyond the peradventure of a doubt the superiority of the M. A. C. gridders, and Michigan can bring forth no alibi. And the nice thing about this is, that to our knowledge, followers of the Maize and Blue are not trying to dig out excuses—"there aint none such."

It was clearly a case of the best team winning, and if the report which Dame Rumor has been circulating to the effect that this is Coach Macklin's last year with M. A. C. is true, then the Aggie mentor could leave no finer memory than that of this splendid victory. It was clearly demonstrated, even to the most stubborn, that Coach Yost must bow before the tactics of the Farmer coaches. Surely the past week, when the football warriors on College Field were practicing behind closed gates, Coach Macklin and his associates uncorked a bunch of new plays that had Yost's men dazzled.

The Michigan band came on the field playing "The Victors." (It must be remarked right here that the U. of M. band has been a good pupil of The Best College Band in the World, the past several years, and we predict a brilliant future for it.) The U. of M. aggregation played the same selection after the first half, when the score was 10 to 0, realizing probably that that would be their last chance. If they had any idea that it would help stage a come-back for Yost's men, they were mightily disappointed, for it had the effect of bristling up M. A. C.'s attack so that 14 points were put across in the last half. When the final whistle blew "The Victors" again rang out in the crisp air, but this time it came from gray uniformed experts directed by Sergeant "Paddy" Cross, who led the triumphal procession of band and students up State Street amid an exequial atmosphere.

To speak of the individuals who starred in running up the awful (?) total, one would merely go down the list of participants from beginning to end. It was team work, over and above all, that turned the trick. Probably Fullback Jerry DePrato, who fills "Carp" Julian's cast off shoes so admirably, deserves most credit. He gained a total of 153 yards, by line plunges, end runs, forward passes, in fact, anything he tried was good. He started out the game by drop kicking the ball over after five minutes of play. He took the ball over for two of the three touchdowns and kicked every goal. What more could a man ask for on a team of stars? Captain Blake Miller, reported by some as not able to last but a short while, proved to be up to his old form for the first time in two years. He circled the ends time after time and for a total of 109 yards. Blake was replaced by Beatty in the last quarter who, as in all previous games, tore off for long gains, being really responsible for the last touchdown by circling Michigan's right end for 50 yards. Blacklock at right tackle played his first real form of the season. When he was drawn back at half it was most confusing for the Michigan men for sometimes he took the ball, and then again he didn't. Gideon Smith was a real star. It was he who balled-up Michigan's attack when they did get the ball, and again, Gideon got over half of the tackles. Butler, end, made some pretty gains on a cross buck that Michigan couldn't seem to fathom. Frimodig's passing was fault-

OREGON GAME ANNOUNCEMENT—ERROR LAST WEEK.

A mistake was made in last week's Record regarding the price of reserved seats at the Oregon game this week. We understood that $1 included both admission and reserved seats, but admission alone is $1 and reserved seats are 25 and 50 cents—25 cents in the grand stand and on the bleachers up to the 15-yard lines, and 50 cents between the 15-yard lines.

A block of seats for the alumni has been reserved in the west bleachers, Sections D and E—the middle sections. These seats, including admission will be $1.50 each. For those who have already sent in the $1 as per the notice in last week's Record, we will reserve the seats but expect an additional 50 cents to be sent as soon as this notice is read. If it is too late to mail the tickets, then they may be secured at the alumni office any time Saturday forenoon, and any not called for will be taken to the ticket booth at the athletic bridge.

FORMER RECORD EDITOR FORGING AHEAD.

W. J. Wright, '04, editor of the M. A. C. Record from 1907-1909, is now meeting with much success as director of agriculture, Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y. The freshman registration was considerably over 100 this fall, an increase of 70 per cent. over that of a year ago. The added enrollment, which came as a result of the first advertising the school has engaged in in years, makes a great deal of congestion in the laboratories. It is expected that the next legislature will make due appropriation for this college, which seems to be taking its proper place in the educational domain of southwest-ern New York.

CARD OF THANKS

Old Bill Oversight, who is again acting as fiscal agent for a large number of alumni, wishes to return thanks through the Magazine and assure his patrons that their accounts are being handled with the utmost procrastination.

TESTIMONIAL

The alumni treasurer can vouch for the truth of the above. In fact "procrastination" doesn't half express it.

A KICK-BACK.

Readers of the Record will remember the "kick" that was printed last week from the West, about the way M. A. C. news gets into the western papers. While we had received comments similar to this before, this was the first time that anything was done about them. A copy of the letter was sent to the Associated Press representative in Detroit and we have received the following in reply:

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16, 1915.

Alumni Sec'y and Record Editor,
Mich. Agricultural College.

Dear Sir:

With reference to yours of the 14th, permit me to say that the scores of all M. A. C. football games played in Michigan are sent out of this office on the trunk wires of the Associated Press. M. A. C. has the same rank in the Associated Press reports as the other schools mentioned by Mr. Edwards in his letter to you. Of course, it is up to the judgment of the editors whether the results appear in the various papers. I am forwarding your letter to headquarters and if there is a general demand for M. A. C. results as far west as Missoula, Mont., I am sure they will be carried in that territory.

Sincerely yours,

B. C. WILSON.

Correspondent.

Thus it would seem that one remedy for the trouble is more kicks to the editors using Associated Press reports. No matter who is responsible in this, if the people living in the West, or any other section, want more news and get together on a demand for it, the news will be forthcoming. Newspapers try to print what people want to read.

M. A. C. ALUMNAE WILL FURNISH GUEST ROOMS.

M. A. C. is to have a guest room, where prominent visitors may be entertained over night. This is assured by the fact that there has been turned over for this use the front room between Dean White's apartments and the domestic art room on the first floor of the Women's Building. For eight years the college has been without a place to entertain distinguished visitors.

One of the unique things about this guest room is the fact that the alumnae of M. A. C. are to provide the furnishings. This matter is in charge of a committee composed of the three alumnae members of home economics teaching staff, viz: Paulina Raven, '05; Louise Clemens, '13, and Anna Cowles, '15, and if the way in which the people to whom they have already presented the matter have taken hold is any indication, the room will be properly furnished. Every one has been eager to help and very much interested in the whole scheme.

Homespun draperies and covers, and rag rugs, all in brown, made by the Fireside Industry at Berea College, Kentucky, are to be used. The college has installed the plumbing and indirect lighting and there are yet to be provided pictures and draperies, screens, fixtures for bath room, chairs and many small items that will go to make the room cheerful and homelike.

HOLIDAY MONDAY—BIG CELEBRATION.

While we are going to press the frenzied Aggie rooters are assembling in front of Williams Hall for a gigantic celebration of Saturday's victory. The word has gone out that there will be no classes and we don't dare predict what form the day's activities may assume. It is certain, however, that there will be a march to Lansing, a big bonfire, and a free Bijou. "Prexy" Kedzie says, "It's worth it."

HOME ECONOMICS DIVISION TAKES PROMINENT PART IN STATE FEDERATION MEETING.

The twenty-first anniversary of the State Federation of Women's Clubs was celebrated by a four-day convention in Lansing last week. The first meeting of this organization was held in Lansing and also the one in 1900. At that time, the Woman's Building at M. A. C. was dedicated and a dinner was served to the delegates in the dining room of the new building. In keeping with this precedent and just 15 years later, the college again gave a dinner to the officers and delegates of this convention. At the informal dinner last Friday evening some 300 guests were entertained in the dining room of the Woman's Building and hall adjoining. The room and tables were very daintily decorated with berries and autumn leaves and the simple but unique menu, served by the senior girls, left nothing to be desired. The speakers for the evening were President Emeritus Snyder, Active President Kedzie, Miss Helen Louise Johnson and Dean Georgia Laura White. The Girls' Glee Club sang during the dinner.

At the meeting of the Federation Thursday afternoon Dean White spoke on the subject, "The Smith-Lever Bill—a New Opportunity." She gave the delegates a clear conception of what this meant to the women of the state and showed how they could assist in the extension work which will be done under the provisions of this bill.

The Home Economics Division had several exhibits at the Lansing Women's Club House, relation of science to the various duties of the household being the important point which was brought out. Among the exhibits, which were in charge of Paulina Raven, were: One of the art department, showing textiles and both chemical and microscopic tests, a domestic science exhibit in which diets for a day for various ages were shown, and also the result of bread and cake making by different processes, and an exhibit of the extension department of the equipment used in the one-week schools and also that used in cold pack canning. The bacteriology department also had an exhibit in charge of Zae Northrup, which showed the relation of bacteriology to home economics.

W. A. Melton, a graduate of the Oklahoma A. & M. College, and new instructor in the physics department, gave a talk before the Engineering Society last Tuesday night on the "Construction and Operation of Electrolytic Lightning Arresters," using laboratory apparatus to illustrate the points brought out. The talk was intensely interesting. Bananas were distributed as refreshments after the meeting.

NEW IDEAS ABOUT COLLEGE HALL.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19, 1915.

Editor M. A. C. RECORD:

I rise to support the motion of Henry A. Haigh, '74, as supported by Charley Garfield, '70, to preserve the dear old College Hall—or rather, they are supporting my motion, for I made a very urgent appeal to that end, and it appeared in the Lansing Republican of January 3, 1911.

I would amend Henry A. Haigh's suggestion by placing the new building outside the old building, on a solid foundation, and erecting a steel structure, with girders passing through the old building and so placed as to shore up the floors, and take the load from the walls of the old building. The outside walls should be of granite and the roof of copper, and thus the dear old hall would be protected from the elements and preserved for all time.

This is the plan pursued by Nicholas III. in preserving the hut in which Peter the Great lived at Zaandam, Holland, from 1697 to 1705, while learning from the thrifty Holanders shipbuilding, which enabled him to return home and build a navy with which he conquered Charles II. of Sweden. I am enclosing you postcard views that show the tumble-down condition of the hut and the fine building placed over it to preserve it. Money expended for the preservation of ideals is always well invested.

Very truly,

R. H. CLARK, '76.

Editor of M. A. C. RECORD:

As it is settled that College Hall is to be preserved, of which I have long been a strong advocate, I most heartily support President Haigh's plan to make it useful as an alumni headquarters. I believe it could be so rearranged on the inside, for I wish to see no change outside, as to be well adapted to that use for the next 25 years at least, and at an expense to the old students that could be readily provided by them. To the ideas already advanced as to changes to be made, I would add that a room be provided for relics from classes, societies or old students, such as pictures, prizes or other articles of college historical value. I would suggest that if possible one of the two classrooms on the second floor be preserved and set apart for that purpose, as they are still of their original form. The room itself would also be a relic of old times.

Yours respectfully,

A. G. GULLEY, '68.

C. M. Cade, '06e, of the Civil Engineering Department, talked on triangulation at the meeting of the Forestry Club last week. Maas and Hamilton, seniors, gave some of their summer experiences in the West.

A MESSAGE FROM JAPAN.

The following letter was written to M. G. Kains, '95, of State College, Pa., in response to Kain's invitation to attend the reunion of the class last June:

Minatomachi, Chibaken,

Feb. 19, 1915.

Dear Kain:

A few days ago your kind letter was duly received. I read it with great interest, and made me recall the days passed in M. A. C. Truly time is fleeting, for nearly twenty years have passed since we have parted.

Although my condition of life has greatly changed, my heart is just as same as when I was in M. A. C. If I could I would like to go to M. A. C. once more in my life and see my classmates and others. It is a pleasure even to imagine of going to M. A. C. Often I have revisited M. A. C. by a dream, but I cannot be satisfied only by a dream.

More than ten years ago I began to lay some money in the savings bank in hope of revisiting M. A. C. I was dreaming the days to come when I can go to America once more. But, to my great surprise and sorrow, that saving bank has become bankrupt last year. Not even one cent is left for me. Without your persuasion I would gladly go, if not for the above reason. Now I have six boys, and great deal of money is needed for their education and welfare. So my financial condition do not allow me to do so, in near future or never in my life. If I can get a bird's wing I will immediately fly to the M. A. C. ground. I have many friends here, but I have no classmates of the college days. I feel so lonesome, no one near to speak and recall the happy days passed in the college.

Some day, when I was giving a lecture in the classroom, I found some boys laughing secretly. How do you think they laughed? Well, I will tell you; it is because I repeatedly told them about M. A. C.

If you go to M. A. C. on that day of reunion, please give my kind regards to my classmates and other friends. Tell them I think of them more than ever. Please tell them that I am praying for their welfare and success, and prosperity of M. A. C. in the small island of the Far East.

Last year I have written to Prof. Snyder on some business, and he kindly wrote me that some of the teachers are still in M. A. C. He sent me college catalogue and some writings. By them I understood that M. A. C. has undergone great development.

Glad to hear that you are teaching in a college with full of enthusiastic gentlemen where there is mountains and valleys on every side.

I am still a president in a small agricultural school. And am working for the school quite earnestly and busily. I have many ups and downs, like you. I have been to China about seven years ago. There I taught the boys in the middle school, also with girls high school.

Just for pleasure I am collecting many kinds of shells. Now I have almost seven hundred kinds of shells. Also I find great interest in the cultivation of flowers, and especially in the cultivation of morning glory. It is quite interesting to find that the same species change and give different flowers. If you want some seed, I will give you.

As I have told you before, I am the father of six boys. The eldest 16 and next 14. Both of them are already taller than I am. The youngest one is two years old, and is the pet of the family. It is no wonder that I find some white hair on my head.

How nice it would be if I can say I am coming. But I am sorry that I cannot. Oh, I would like to join the Association and get some fresh inspiration.

Thanks for remembering me, and invite me to come to the reunion. If I get my family's photo, I will send you. So if you have your family's photo, please let me have it.

With thanks and good wishes to you and your family, I remain,

Yours truly

S. YERINA.

GRAND RAPIDS ASSOCIATION PLANS BANQUET.

Thirty members of the Grand Rapids M. A. C. Association held their 15th annual business meeting last Tuesday evening at Garfield Lodge. The following officers were elected: President, Wm. K. Clute; vice president, J. W. Knecht; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Winifred Feldton Duthie.

Mr. Clute and Mr. Garfield gave interesting talks and the latter part of the evening was spent in discussing plans for a banquet in the near future.

The M. A. C. band furnished the music for the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs last Wednesday night. Without a doubt this band is one of the best advertising mediums that M. A. C. has. On the Pavedway trip to Detroit a week ago, favorable comment was heard on every side for their splendid work.

L. B. Scott, '11, specialist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, made a flying trip to East Lansing from Ionia last week to talk to the Hort. Club on bud selection work and what has been accomplished during the four years the work has been in progress in the citrus orchards of California. As a result of this work Scott is sure that much more productive trees can be secured by selecting buds for propagation from high producing trees. And while the experiments have not been in progress long enuf with deciduous fruits it appears that the same thing is true with them.

M. A. C. SMOTHERS MICHIGAN.

less, and he with VanDervoort, Straight, Smith, and Blacklock made an impervious forward wall. It was Pilot Huebel's great day, for the way he marshalled the team and got off with forward passes must have evened up any score he had with his previous director Yost. "Brownie" Springer took Huebel's place in the latter part of the last quarter.

Never did Michigan threaten M. A. C.'s goal, and only once did they get to M. A. C.'s 30-yard line. It was sort of an unfair contest in one way for M. A. C. didn't give Michigan a chance to see what she could do carrying the ball as it was monopolized by the Aggies about three-fourths of the time. Maulbetsch was the only Michigan man that could gain thru the line, but they couldn't work "Maully" all the time, altho they tried it in the first quarter. Catlett made some nice end runs in the second half which netted some first downs for Michigan, but they never came enough in succession to threaten. In all, Michigan made 8 first downs, and failed three times. M. A. C. made first down 18 times and failed six. In the forward passing work M. A. C. was again superior, making gains on four of 11 tries, while the Yostmen gained one in seven.

The bunch of officials certainly had a good night's rest the night before, for they were wide awake, and caught sight of every infringement of the rules. M. A. C. was penalized repeatedly for off side and some for holding—a total of 115 yards, or more than the length of the field. Michigan received one penalty for off-side. And after Beatty made his brilliant 50-yard run some Michigan man was so out of patience that he pushed Beatty's face quite hard, which act was also noted by an official and Michigan was penalized half the distance to her goal line—a mere matter of 15 yards. Following this came the final score, and it took M. A. C. three downs to advance the ball the last yard—this being the one and only time that Michigan showed real fight.

The first quarter started with M. A. C. receiving, the ball being advanced to 25-yard line. No gain, and DePrato punted 20 yards, Michigan fumbled and M. A. C. recovered on Michigan's 46-yard line. Following a series of gains by Blake Miller, Huebel and "Jerry" the latter drop kicked a field goal from the 23-yard line. No more scoring in this quarter—Michigan had the ball once but could advance no farther than M. A. C.'s 46-yard line. Second quarter started with ball in possession of U. of M., who failed to make first down except by off-side penalties for M. A. C. On a punt by Benton, Gideon Smith muffed things up, and Henning fell on the ball on Michigan's 39-yard line, following which, with the aid of a 20-yard pass, and some line bucking, the ball went over for a touchdown. Jerry kicked goal and the half ended 10 to 0. The Aggie fans went wild, but expected a come-back in the last half. The third quarter Michigan did her best work and no count was made, but in the last one what defense she did have went to pieces and M. A. C. garnered two touchdowns.

M. A. C. came thru the game in good shape and should have no trouble with Oregon Saturday, altho a mighty good game is expected and because of this victory over Michigan the M. A. C. bleachers will be taxed to the limit. Michigan showed poor condition at times, Reimann being taken out in the first quarter, and time was taken out often for Michigan men. The summary:

NEWS AND COMMENT

Nearly 60 members of other lodges have taken their demits to become charter members of the new lodge.

Prof. L. R. Taft talked on the subject "The Rural Woman" at the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs last week.

Ed Higgs, proprietor of the College Cafe, is giving a banquet this week Wednesday for the team and the Athletic Board of Control.

Mr. Gillespie, prominent Holstein breeder of Mason, Mich., talked before the Farmers' Club last week on "Methods and Advisability of the Advanced Registry Test."

Miss Helen Louise Johnson, Home Economics Chairman of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke to the senior girls in their class Wednesday afternoon.

The Forestry Department had a small exhibit of veneers, finishes and seedling trees at the Lansing Women's Club House last week for the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Judge Stark, of Livingston, Mont., brother of Mrs. Dr. Barber, of Lansing, paid the college a visit last week. He expressed great pleasure at seeing the growth M. A. C. has made.

Philip G. Bartelme, of the University of Michigan, has a tough topic for discussion at a meeting to be held this week at the Detroit Y. M. C. A. His speech will be on "Why Michigan Wins."

The Union Literary Society will hold a party after the annual barbecue which will be held this week Friday, October 29th. There will be a house party Sunday the 23d, and the "Lits" want every old man back. The Alumni game Saturday will be an added attraction.

J. S. Knox, of Cleveland, president of the School of Efficiency and Salesmanship, delivered the first lecture of the Liberal Arts course in the college armory, Tuesday night. His subject was "Community Building" and his main theme was loyalty to your community.

Fully 3,000 people from Lansing and East Lansing journeyed to Ann Arbor for Saturday's game. The Pere Marquette, Michigan Central and M. U. T. ran special trains and everything went off on time. The perfect fall day made the auto trip, which hundreds took advantage of, a most enjoyable affair.

The basement under the athletic office in the bath house is being dug out, giving considerable room that will be used for drying out the varsity football togs when they come in from practice. In the past it has been necessary to litter up the bath house considerably and even then the togs did not get dry.

Irving Gilson of the Forestry Department was at Muskegon last Wednesday to demonstrate tree repair work before about 100 people, under the auspices of the agricultural department of the high school which is in charge of C. L. Nash, '09, and in the evening gave a lecture in the high school on "City Forestry and Care and Treatment of Shade Trees."

The East Lansing Masonic Temple Association has been formed and plans are under way for building the temple, to be located on M. A. C. Ave. It is planned to start the work of building in the next few weeks. The basement of the temple will accommodate kitchen and dining hall, the first floor will be occupied by club rooms and assembly floor, the lodge room proper to occupy the second floor. The building will be approximately 40x90 feet.

The M. A. C. Bachelors' Club—Beta Sigma—has been organized with about 30 charter members. Leigh Nason, of Grand Rapids, has been elected president and H. F. Anderson, of Maple Rapids, secretary. Candidates for admission to this club pledge themselves to refrain from getting engaged or married during their college course. The penalty is a feed by the one breaking the promise for the rest of the club. The new organization is limited to 100 members and indications are that the stock will be oversubscribed.

ALUMNI NOTES

M. G. Kains (a) writes that since returning from alumni day he has been writing a college text book on plant propagation to be issued early this winter by the Orange Judd Co. of New York. He speaks of having considerable help from several M. A. C. men, among them Prof. Eustace of our own faculty. Prof. U. P. Hedrick, '93, of the New York State Experiment Station at Geneva, and Prof. Wendell Paddeock, '93, of the Ohio State University at Columbus. Nurserymen in Florida, Missouri, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and several other states have also aided him with illustrations, so that the book will show not only the college and experimental phases of plant propagation but also the commercial aspects in very striking ways.
