NO. 7

M. A. C. UNION LAUNCHED.

A splendid joint session of the Executive Committee of the M. A. C. Association and the special committee on the M. A. C. Union was held last Saturday at the College, and a committee was appointed with power to act to confer with the State Board of Agriculture relative to the proposition of an M. A. C. Union. The plans discussed—which will be presented at a later date—will in no wise interfere with the scheme for which the class of 1915 worked so admirably, but will merit and receive their united support. A fine letter was read from President K. L. Butterfield, '93, of Amherst, who is a member of the committee on the Union, but who was unable to be present. Everyone was enthusiastic over the prospect for the Union. Those present at the meeting were: Pres. H. A. Haigh, '74; Mrs. P. B. Woodworth, '93; W. K. Prudden, '77; J. W. Beaumont, '82; W. O. Hedrick, '91; A. C. MacKinnon, '95; D. S. Cole, '93; F. P. Normington, '95; Mrs. E. W. Ranney, '99; A. C. Anderson, '06; J. E. Burnett, '15, and C. S. Langdon, '11.

The meeting convened at the Alumni headquarters in the Forestry Building and after some discussion adjourned to the private dining room of the Women's Building where the senior girls served a very pleasing luncheon. The following resolutions were among those adopted:

Resolved, That we tender the State Board of Agriculture our sincere appreciation of its action in appointing Dr. Frank S. Kedzie as acting president of M. A. C. As a devoted member of the M. A. C. Association and as a splendid product of the College, one who has so far given his life to its service, we cherish for Dr. Kedzie the highest regard and affection.

Resolved, That we heartily commend Coach John Farrell Macklin for his splendid work as athletic director at M. A. C. and that we sincerely hope the State Board of Agriculture may induce him to continue his connection with this institution.

According to all reports the banquet of the M. A. C. people at Saginaw last Friday noon was the best ever held at a State Teachers' meeting. A report of this will be given in the Record next week.

PURDUE M. A. C. ASSOCIATION.

The second meeting of the Purdue M. A. C. Association was held at the West Lafayette Club on Thursday evening, Oct. 21st. This meeting was arranged at a time when the county agricultural agents would be at the University, as M. A. C. has four men in this work in Indiana. Twenty-two sat down to the banquet table, 15 of these being former students.

Prof. R. J. Baldwin, director of extension work at M. A. C., was the guest of honor. Karl Knopf, '11, was also present from Michigan. After a feed and a few toasts those assembled held an informal conference, giving unanimous approval to the selection of Prof. Kedzie as M. A. C.'s new president. The football situation was discussed and the one person lucky enough to be planning to attend the Michigan game was given instructions to "hoop it up" for all of us.

These meetings will be continued during the winter. Those present were: W. C. Latta, '77, and wife; James Troop, '78, and wife; C. G. Woodbury, '04; R. J. Baldwin, '04; O. B. Burrell, '05; J. G. Boyle, '08, and wife; Lovina Merrick Caldwell, ex-'08, and husband; Zoe McConnell Edger-ton, '09, and husband; A. J. Hutchins, '09; Etha Childs McCartney, ex-'11, and husband; Karl Knopf, '11; L. L. Jones, '12, and wife; P. W. Mason, '12; B. P. Pattison, '12, and R. M. Roland, '15.

THE TWO YEAR SHORT COURSE.

The third year of the two-year short course began last week with slight increase in enrollment over that of a year ago. The total was 156 as compared with 150 at the same time last year. This was a considerably larger number than was expected on account of the very poor year farmers have had and the fact that much of the fall work has not been completed. There seem very good grounds for presuming that the enrollment will be considerably enlarged this week. Of the men who came in for this work this fall, 106 of them are here for the first time and 50 are second year men. Practically 45 per cent. of the first year men are graduates of high schools.

FARMERS FROM WEST OUT-CHARGE MICHIGAN AGGIES, AND WIN, 20 TO 0.

The pill that Oregon administered last Saturday was a bitter one, coming as it did so soon after M. A. C. had played the doctor act a week ago with Michigan. But there is no question as to the relative merit of the two teams—the best one won Saturday, and the 20-0 score is but a slight indication as to the way in which Oregon out-charged, out-generated and out-guessed Macklin's men.

Saturday's game was a clear repetition of history made a year ago when the Aggies played Michigan off their feet and then the fighting edge broke down and they suffered that horrible walloping at Nebraska. M. A. C. played the kind of a game with Oregon that Michigan exhibited against M. A. C. last week, except that Oregon's extra weight told with greater force. Had the home team been fighting with the same spirit and nerve as the week before there are those who would predict that the score would at least have been tie.

But whatever we may say regarding the work of M. A. C.—and it showed remarkable flashes at times—we cannot belittle that of the Coast aggregation. They opened up a new style of play that had Macklin's men baffled. The center, standing sidewise to the line, passed the ball right to the man who was to carry it and then threw himself into the interference from his advantageous position. In every offensive it seemed as if there were at least three Oregon men plunging ahead and breaking holes for the man with the ball and then when the latter did run free he dragged two or three Aggies along for two to five yards. At almost every down the Oregon line shifted just before the ball was snapped. Their shift in unison was very pretty to watch, but the offensive result was horrible. In only one of the attempted departments of play did Oregon not show up well. This was in punting, but Jerry DePrato's form was so far below normal that there is little to say. The Westerners did not try the forward pass but once and this went wild—but they didn't have to use open methods. The "old army" game where they could gain from 5 to 15 yards on

A GOOD STEP WELL TAKEN.

There are a good many elements in the success of a college or university. One of these is loyalty. There must be loyalty by the persons who come in contact with the institution. This means not only the students but also the instructors. We're always trying to drill loyalty into the former, but the latter we leave pretty much alone.

We believe the instructors should go out of their way, if need be, to learn about the institution—and, what is also important, form unbiased judgments. One of the ways new instructors can learn of the institution is to meet with the old ones. There are altogether too few opportunities at M. A. C. for the teachers to get together and really know each other. There is far too little appreciation of the work done by one department by members of another. It is sincerely to be hoped that the get-together held at the noon hour by the staff of the Engineering Division last week is but a forerunner of others. M. A. C. cannot be great as a whole till every unit pulls at the same time and in the same direction as every other unit.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

The following testimonials would seem to indicate that it does make a difference what kind of football teams M. A. C. plays as to the prominence M. A. C. news gets in Western and Southern papers:

Telegram.

President Kedzie, M. A. C.:

The M. A. C. Alumni on the Pacific read with delight all the items of growth and success at our Alma Mater. Saturday's victory was great. Congratulations to yourself, Macklin and the team. Can't you arrange a post season game with California and let the boys see the exposition?

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA ASS'N.

BANK and TOWAR.

Mary Maiben Allen, '09h, writes from St. Louis, Mo., that she didn't have to wait for news of our game of the 23d until the Record arrived. She writes further: "Am going down to Waco, Texas, in a couple of weeks with a mixed quartette. We're going to sing with a band for two weeks, during their annual 'Cotton Palace Exposition,' and expect to spend three weeks after that at Huston, Dallas and San Antonio."

The enclosed clippings from the Commercial Appeal (Memphis, Tenn.) of the 24th, will show you that there is no delay in giving M. A. C. alumni news of the football games. I congratulate the team on their success.

A. B. TURNER, '81.

(Turner is with the Poinsett Lumber and Mfg. Co. His daughter graduated from M. A. C. in 1914, and a son is now in school, a member of the class of '16.)

ASSOCIATED PRESS PICKING UP.

The following additional note from the Associated Press correspondent at Detroit would seem to indicate further that our little notice did not meet with an abrupt extinction:

Dear Sir:—With further reference to yours of the 14th about the reports of M. A. C. football games, I am informed by our Chicago office, which is divisional headquarters, that scores of the Michigan Agricultural College games have been sent west regularly from this office and if they do not appear in the Spokane or Great Falls papers it is probably due to the fact that items deemed of more importance have crowded them from far-western wires, or from the columns of the papers.

The superintendent also goes on to say that: "You may tell Mr. Langdon that, beginning with the Michigan game Saturday, the schedule provides for fuller accounts of the Aggies' contests. Also that fully aware of the far-western interest in them because of their game with the Oregon Aggies October 30th, the editors here taking care of the west will forward all news of interest reaching us."

Trusting that this will set the matter before you in the proper light, I am,

Sincerely yours,

B. C. WILSON.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Managing Editor of M. A. C. Record:

I have before me the Record for Oct. 12 and that alone is worth the price of subscription to me.

I would like, however, to suggest a correction, if it is in order. Mr. Gunnison says in connection with the poem (page 5) that the "Charley" referred to is Mr. C. J. Monroe of South Haven. Well, if you will look in the catalogue of officers and graduates you will find in the list of '62 graduates that my father, Charles Adolphus Jewell, was the only "Charlie" in the class. Mr. Monroe was not a graduate then nor at any other time that I am aware of. And as further proof the author plainly means a graduate with the class as shown in the third stanza, line two. I know, moreover, that father, Mr. Cook and Mr. Hodgman were then the only survivors of the class, and Mr. Hodgman and father were always close friends. Their practice was to get together at least once a year for a class reunion till Mr. Hodgman's death in 1907, then my father died in 1909, so now only Mr. Cook is left.

I met Mr. Cook recently in California; he is power in horticulture in a state where that occupation is a leading industry. His "Monthly Bulletins" are all valuable horticultural matter.

I see you have a football game with the Oregon team. Look out for them, they are a mighty "husky" bunch. Probably nothing much better on the "Pacific Coast." I shall watch closely for the result.

Most respectfully yours,

C. A. JEWELL, '96.

(Principal Humboldt Co. High School, Winnemucca, Nev.)

NEWS AND COMMENT

There are some advantages (?) in Saturday's results—at least there weren't any barns burned, and College convened on Monday as usual.

Perhaps the results last Saturday will take away some of the sting of the criticisms that have been piled up on the schedule makers—tho M. A. C. would like to see more games with teams in the central states.

The current dope of weights before the game was that Oregon was lighter, ten pounds to the man. It should have been ten pounds to two men. And the big point is they got bigger as the game progressed so that they looked like giants at the close.

We have always cherished a fond respect for the M. A. C. men at the Oregon school (Dean Cordley, '88; V. R. Gardner, '05, and E. J. Kraus, '07) but we do feel that they should have given us some intimation as to what kind of "boys" they were sending East.

The annual sophomore barbecue was held last Friday night in front of Wells Hall. Students, alumni and Lansing people assembled to the number of at least 3,000 to partake of the ox, cider and speeches. Sergeant Cross, Prof. C. B. Mitchell, Capt. Blake Miller, Pres. Brownfield of the sophomore class, Pres. King of the freshman class, and Yellmaster Lankey had parts on the program which was spiced by selections from the M. A. C. band. The program was in charge of Burdette Bellinga, a sophomore, who fully came up to the standard as master of ceremonies. The mammoth bonfire down in "Lake O'Gara" lit up the crowd and surrounding buildings and made a spectacle not soon to be forgotten.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.

The report of the Department of English and Modern Languages for last year shows 3,539 separate student enrollments for the year, an average of 1,180 per term. As an "enrollment" means the taking of one subject by one student for one term, an instructorship in this department is by no means a sinecure. There are hours when nearly every member of the department is busy in his class room at the same time, yet in a department which has so much written matter to correct and criticize, class room instruction is only the beginning of the work. Experience has shown that a five-hour course in composition involves as much work for the teacher as twelve and one-half hours of a subject which has only a normal amount of exercises and written work to be corrected.

W. W. Johnston, the head of the department, has his Master's degree from Harvard University. He is a native of Kansas, and after graduating from a high school of that state he entered Baker University, receiving his Bachelor's degree in 1902. He taught Eng-

University, class of '99. He came to M. A. C. soon after, since which time he has always been prominently connected with public speaking and dramatics. Ernst Gotthilf Fisher, a native born Hoosier notwithstanding, did undergraduate work at Indiana State Normal and received his Ph. B. from the University of Chicago. He came to M. A. C. in 1910. During the year 1913-14 he took graduate work at the University of Berlin, and was also Carnegie exchange teacher at Konigstadtische Oberrealschule, Berlin. He returned to M. A. C. in the fall of 1914, as assistant professor.

Milton Simpson was born in Belmont, Prince Edward Island, Canada. His A. B. was granted from Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, and he also holds the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from Yale University. He has studied at the University of Chicago. From 1907 to 1909 he was head of the department of English at Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, Ark. Mr. Simpson came to M. A. C. as instructor in English in 1911, and received his assistant professorship in 1914.

Norma Lucile Gilchrist, born at Cedar Falls, Iowa, attended college at Oberlin and Wellesley, from the latter of which she received the A. B. degree. Miss Gilchrist has taught at M. A. C. since 1905.

Antoinette Cable Robson, a native of Connecticut, has been teaching at M. A. C. since 1908. Her training for her language work consists in four years' study in Germany and France in addition to a degree from the University of Michigan.

Louis Brawley Mayne was born in Huntington, Ind. He studied at Indiana University and received his A. B. from the University of Illinois. He also did graduate work at the latter school, following which he taught a year in high school and came to M. A. C. in 1914.

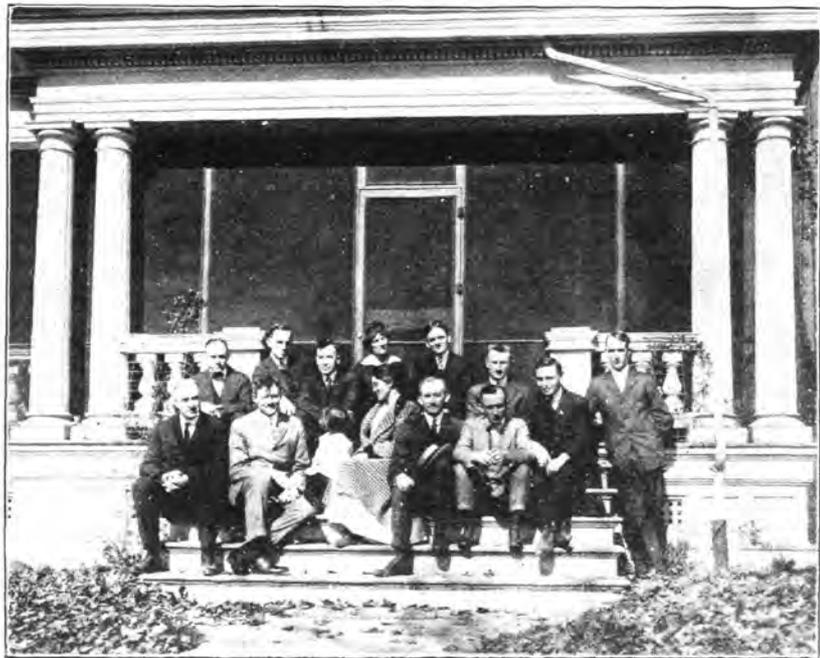

Charles Buren Mitchell, another Indiana man, holds his A. B. from DePauw University and his M. A. from the University of Michigan. He was assistant in the department of oratory at U. of M. in 1911-12, coming to M. A. C. in the fall of '12. He was made assistant professor last June.

Judson Quincy Owen hails from Illinois, where at Illinois Wesleyan he received his A. B. in 1913. He began work at the College in April, 1913, and has since taken two summers of graduate work at the University of Wisconsin.

Corwin C. Armstrong was raised on a farm in Central Ohio; received his A. B. from Ohio Wesleyan in 1914 and has since been instructor in English and public speaking.

Leo C. Hughes, a new man this year, is a Michigander, born and educated. He received his A. B. from U. of M. in 1911 and A. M. in 1914. During the year 1913-14 he taught at the University.

James Blood Hasselman, another Hoosierite, and a new instructor, received his B. S. from Wesleyan Unilish one year in his Alma Mater, spent two years in graduate work at Harvard, then went to the State College of Washington as an instructor in English. At the end of his second year he was raised to an assistant professorship, and at the end of the third year (this was in 1908) he resigned to go to the State Agricultural and Mechanical College of Oklahoma as head of the department of English. He held this position for four years, during the last two of which he was also Dean of the Division of Science and Literature. He resigned in the summer of 1912 to accept the professorship of English and Modern Languages at M. A. C.

E. Sylvester King obtained his early education in the public schools of Ithaca, N. Y. He has done work at the University of Chicago, University of Wisconsin, Columbia, and University of Michigan, and is a graduate of the school of oratory at Northwestern

The Department of English and Modern Languages gives all the courses offered here in French, German, Public Speaking, English Literature and English Composition. This fall the sections receiving instruction in French are 6; German, 6; Public Speaking, 10; English Literature, 4; English Composition, 28. It is the policy of the department to keep sections small, twenty-five being a maximum which is rarely exceeded.

The staff of the department consists versity, Middletown, Conn., in 1914.

Francis Lee Schneider comes from the Badger State, having received both B. S. and M. S. from the University of Wisconsin. He has also taken special work at Chicago. He has taught one year in Iowa State University and for three years at the State College of Washington, from which place he came to M. A. C. this fall.

One of the chief difficulties that the English department finds in its work is the lack of time that students have for English work. The agricultural students have only two hours of composition work a week for one year—only one-tenth of their total work. And by meeting only twice a week the students lose continuity of interest and hence are able to accomplish much less than they should. Prof. Johnston says that M. A. C. is much below other colleges in the matter of required work in composition. Dean White of the Home Economics Division has recognized this fault and in her rearrangement of courses for the girls she has provided that all girls have composition five days in the fall and nearly all have the same amount in the winter. Another difficulty that this department finds is the lack of class rooms. The closing of College Hall for class room work has made it necessary for classes in English to be shunted around continually, which creates a very unpleasant situation, both for students and instructors.

That there is a greater need than ever before for instruction in the English language, both written and spoken, cannot be denied. A pressing call at the present time from agricultural colleges is for men trained not only to know scientific agriculture but trained also to know how to get this information to the mass of the people for whom it should be designed. This call for extension workers demands men who are trained in public speaking. The call for men who can write—the journalistic field—is greater than ever before. These are but a few. And this increasing importance is being realized by those who are looking ahead. It is also being realized by those who are able to look behind at their own college training and see wherein it was deficient. It is very probable that during the coming year there will be instituted at M. A. C. a schedule of awards for excellence in English work, the money to be forthcoming from people who have been "thru the mill" and who see the necessity for greater encouragement along these lines.

About 30 agricultural teachers of the state convened at the Agricultural Building last Saturday morning for a conference. They listened to talks by Extension Director Baldwin, Prof. E. H. Ryder, dean of summer school, and Mr. Monohan, special investigator in rural education for the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

FARMERS FROM WEST OUT-CHARGE MICHIGAN AGGIES.

plunges or equally well, or better, on end runs, was ample.

Only once—in the second quarter—did the Aggies get within hopeful distance of the goal line. It looked easy when they were within a foot of the coveted chalk mark, but they lacked the punch to put the ball over. Three other times Jerry DePrato tried to drop kick within the 35-yard line, but Oregon broke thru so quickly that he didn't have time to get them off and they went wild.

There were no stars for M. A. C. Just as a week before, the team work stood out, only it looked poor Saturday. DePrato made a few plunges for 10 yards but was more often thrown back for no gain or loss. Blacklock made 15 yards once when he was brot back to half. It was Blake Miller, in the second half, on a 30-yard run from a double pass, who brot the ball down near the goal line. Outside of a few plays like this the Oregonians were invincible. Abraham, left half for Oregon, looked against M. A. C. as if he would stack up against Maulbetsch—the much touted Michigan back—about in the historic ratio of 16 to 1. He carried the ball about two-thirds of the time and never failed to gain. Capt. Billie, end, also played a star game.

At the beginning of the second half it looked as if the old fighting spirit had returned to M. A. C., when they made their downs three times and were marching down the field. Then a 15-yard penalty for holding took the tuck out of them and they never recovered. Blake Miller was carried out on one play, Springer replacing him. H. Miller was not in the game at all on account of a puffed knee. Beatty, playing in H. Miller's place, was not as effective as in past games, tho he made several 6 to 8 yard runs.

NEWS AND COMMENT.

The annual fall dancing party of the Ionians was held in the "Ag" Building last Saturday night.

Secretary A. M. Brown has advertised for bids for the new gymnasium. These will be taken up at the November meeting of the State Board of Agriculture.

Acting Dean Polson wishes to get in touch with graduates who have been out a year or two and have had operation engineering experience, or at least such men as have had some experience with boilers and pumps. There are good openings in view for men of the right kind.

The Athenaeum society entertained at their annual fall house-party over the week-end. Friday evening an informal dancing party was held in the Agricultural Building. Fischer's orchestra furnishing the music. Dr. and Mrs. McDaniels and Prof. and Mrs. Halligan were the patrons.

The last football game of the season will be played with Marquette University on College Field next Saturday. On Saturday morning there will be held the first annual cross country run. Two teams from the university and one each from Albion, Hope and M. A. C. are entered for the contest.

A splendid seven-course banquet was tendered the football team, managers, and members of the Board of Control by Mr. Higgs of the "College Cafe" last Wednesday night. Following the banquet Prof. Vedder called on several present to tell how the Michigan game looked from the several viewpoints.

E. M. Harvey, 15a, talked at the Hort. Club meeting last week on "Landscape Gardening in the West." Harvey took a trip west this last summer and made a study of landscape gardening as practiced in Colorado, California, Washington and Oregon, and his comparisons were very interesting.

The Forensic fall term party was held last Saturday night on the top floor of Williams Hall, the Eunoian rooms being used in addition to their own rooms. Dean and Mrs. Lyman and Prof. and Mrs. Corey acted as patrons. Several of the alumni were back for the party in the persons of Emmett and Mrs. Raven, both '14; M. J. Paine, '14, and wife, and A. L. Coons, '14, and wife.

The staff of instructors of the Engineering Division held a noon luncheon last Thursday in the physics laboratory. The idea of this get-together was conceived by Prof. Sawyer of the electrical department and this department made the arrangements. The purpose of the meeting was to give an opportunity for the old instructors and the new instructors to meet and get acquainted and the noon feed, which was satisfactory in every particular, served the purpose admirably.

The Union Lits held their fall term party at their house last Friday night.

Decorations were Halloween, in keeping with the season, and R. J. and Mrs. Loree, R. J. and Mrs. Baldwin, and Prof. and Mrs. McCool acted as patrons. The alumni and friends entertained over the week-end were: J. Sloat and Mrs. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Ranney, Ashley Berridge, "Hod" Norton, L. P. Dendel, M. K. Griggs, R. J. Potts, George Kinsting, L. B. Billings, O. H. Vergeson, D. A. Stroh, O. A. Taylor, Pete R. Taylor.

Miss Rose M. Taylor, instructor in botany at M. A. C. returned last week from the State of Washington, where she has been studying and collecting fungi for two months with Prof. Kaufman of the University of Michigan. The party, which consisted of Prof. and Mrs. Kaufman and Miss Taylor, spent two weeks at Lake Wilderness in the Cascade mountains. It was so dry there that the fungi growth was not abundant so they went to Lakeushman in the Olympic mountains where there was more moisture and the country teeming with specimens. Miss Taylor returned with bushels of specimens of fungi, many of which are never found in this section and some of which have never been identified. Miss Taylor's chief work in the fall is forest pathology and the abundance of material now on hand will make this course of added interest and profit. On the return trip several state educational institutions were visited, but Miss Taylor reported that most of these were doing much less work in botany than M. A. C.

Some of the old timers back for the game Saturday are: H. A. Haigh, '74, Detroit; Mrs. P. B. Woodworth, '93, Chicago; D. S. Cole, '93, Grand Rapids; Frank Johnson, '95, Detroit; Frank Normington, '95, Ionia; A. C. MacKinnon, '95, Bay City; D. T. Randall, '96, Detroit; John F. Hiram T. French (a) is now director of extension and state leader for Colorado, with his headquarters at Fort Collins.

E. A. Holden (a) and Miss Rizpah Norris, both of Lansing, were married Oct. 14th. They will be at home after Nov. 15th at 600 W. Shiawassee St., Lansing. Mr. Holden is secretary of the Patrons' Mutual Fire and Cyclone Insurance Co., of Lansing, and has been prominent in the affairs of the State Grange.

'93.

J. H. Hedges (m) is one of the 4,000 residents of the Sonora district, Mexico, that were driven from the district by Carranza's forces. Hedges has been engaged in mining for the last seven years in Mexico. A letter has just been received by his father in Lansing which says that the Carranza leaders have invaded the district with a large force and have taken possession of 75 miles of railroad owned by the Phelps Dodge Co., for which Mr. Hedges is working. The letter came from Douglas, Ariz., where the refugees have found haven.

'95.

Henry and Bessie Paddock Meek announce the arrival of a son, John Butles, at Upland, Cal., on Oct. 8th.

'96.

Harry S. Reed (a) instructor of chemistry at M. A. C. from '02-'11, and since 1911 chemist at the Detroit testing laboratory, Detroit, has severed his connection with this company and taken over a third of the stock of the Carpenter Udell Co., manufacturing chemists of Grand Rapids. He will be chemist in this new position. Reed spent part of last week in the chemistry laboratory at M. A. C. working on a special problem.

Ole Haakon Johnson (e) is one of the many 1911ers that are making good. Since December, 1913, he has been state field instructor in the engineering extension department of Iowa State College, with headquarters at Waterloo, Iowa. This place has been termed "the shop school city of Iowa," largely because of the excellent work done by Johnson who has organized night school correspondence courses and taken charge of extension lectures. He also has organized similar courses in other cities. The courses given cover a wide range, including gas engines, shop arithmetic, drawing, course for telephone girls, course for painters and many others. In addition to this work Johnson is the author of several widely circulated bulletins which have been published thru the co-operation of the agricultural and engineering divisions at Ames, and which give instruction in manual training for the farm boy. Calls for these bulletins came from all over the United States.
