THE M. A. C. RECORD

VOL. XXIV.

EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1918.

NO. 7

THE M. A. C. UNIT of the Student Army Training Corps will be continued in spite of the ending of the war, according to word received from Washington by Major Wm. E. Murchie, commandant. The November quota of vocational men, due to arrive on the campus on the fifteenth, has been held up by war department orders. These men may be sent along later, but it is possible that no more men in section B (vocational) will be called. The collegiate division of the S. A. T. C., however, will continue in full force until further notice. It is thought that the government will keep up the college training work until the end of the year at least. In case the vocational work is discontinued, enough men will probably be admitted to section A of the unit to make up approximately the present enrollment of 1,200.

BAYONET DRILL is being given as part of the regular work of the football squad. The men drill as a separate unit, just before they go down to the field. Gauthier, who attended the training school at Fort Sheridan last summer, has charge of the squad for the drill hour, and has been handing out a stiff program of bayonet work. The exercises are proving to be excellent in quickening the muscular control of the men.

C. W. ("CHET") GIFFORD, '15, will assist in the coaching of the football team during the remainder of the season. Giff has coached the Aggie line for several seasons and will prove a tremendous help in polishing up the eleven for the Notre Dame and Michigan games. Efforts to secure his services have been kept up all fall, but essential war work at the Reo Motor Company interfered. The coming of peace caused the Reo authorities to open up, and "Chet" reported for work this week.

THE OFFICERS who are in charge of the training unit have been given the use of the gymnasium two evenings a week in order that they may have an opportunity to take part in physical work. Several of the younger men are organizing a basketball team and have already challenged the faculty for a game. Needless to say the instructors have accepted and a spirited contest is looked for in the near future.

MICHIGAN GAME.

There will be a block of seats reserved for M. A. C. Alumni for the Michigan game at Ann Arbor on November 23. Tickets may be ordered by writing to G. E. Gauthier, athletic office, East Lansing. Tickets are: General admission, $1.00; reserved seats, $1.50; box seats, $2.00 and $3.00.

ENROLLMENT OF CIVILIANS in officers' training schools has been stopped according to word received this week by the college military authorities. The great camp for civilian training, which was to have opened at Camp Fremont, Cal., on December first, has been called off, and all men who had in applications are automatically released. It seems probable now, however, that a few enlisted men may still be sent for schooling in the officers' camps, if they were nearly ready to leave when the armistice was signed.

THE TWENTY-THREE OFFICERS in charge of the M. A. C. training unit are to have a military ball in Lansing on the evening of November 16. Hints that have leaked out indicate that the party will be "one swell affair" with the Hotel Downey as the meeting place, and all necessary trimmings for such occasions very much in evidence. Lieut. J. F. Lessig, adjutant, is in charge of the arrangements for the "doings." Detailed information is not being given out, however.

AN ALL-COLLEGE DANCE will be held in the new gymnasium on Saturday evening, Nov. 16. Members of the S. A. T. C., regular students, and all the girls will attend. A few outsiders who come as guests of members of the college will be admitted on special passes. Alumni are, of course, welcome, and faculty members will be present in full force. The evening is to be strictly an M. A. C. party, however, with an effort made to get acquainted all around.

THE MASS MEETING held before the Purdue game was a great success and developed pep that resembled that of the pre-war days. Earl Trangmar, '17, acted as master of ceremonies, while Major Murchie, Dr. Ward Giltner, Gauthier, and Captain Larry Archer were the speakers. The band contributed snappy music, while the cheer leaders put the boys through practice with the yells and songs. Another meeting is scheduled for this Friday night at 6 o'clock, with Judge C. B. Collingwood, '85, Lieut. J. F. Lessig, athletic officer, Ion Cortright and others on the speaking list. All alumni who can possibly reach East Lansing are urged to attend the mass meeting and help develop the old fighting spirit.

THE PEACE ANNOUNCEMENT caused less excitement on the campus than had been anticipated. The premature celebration on the previous Thursday took the keen edge off the outward manifestations of the student body, although rejoicing was universal and genuine. The girls and all "civilian" students were dismissed from classes and spent a good part of the day in Lansing joining in the celebration, but the members of the S. A. T. C. unit were kept at their work. The soldier-students missed so much during the influenza epidemic that the authorities thought it inadvisable to turn them loose for the day. As a result the drill and general military schooling went on without interruption. A meeting in the gymnasium in the afternoon gave opportunity for organized expression of the thoughts of the day.

COEDS ON THE CAMPUS are complaining of a "cooped up" feeling. The girls have for some time been living under rules which vie with those of the military in the frequency with which the word "don't" appears. The most irksome of these regulations is one which forbids the young women of the college to entertain the soldier boys now resident on the campus. Another rule placing restrictions upon parties has been found equally irksome—in fact the life of the coeds has resolved itself into a routine of classes. War, the coeds have decided, is all the Germans are beginning to think it to be.

THE END OF THE WAR— HOW WILL IT AFFECT US?

The war is over, and its ending means that hundreds of the sons of M. A. C. will soon be on their way back to the homes they have left within the last year and a half. The old college is proud of these loyal men who have upheld the honor of their country on the field of battle; she is proud, very proud of those who have made the supreme sacrifice and will wend their way back to the loved campus in spirit only. To one and all she extends her thanks, and to them all she holds out a warm, true welcome.

The problems brought to the college by the great conflict are by no means all solved as yet, however, and the task of regaining the normal conditions must now be faced. Wise counsel and clear-sighted leadership will be needed if we are to weather the uncertain times of the period of reconstruction.

An immediate question is raised regarding the status of the college during the rest of this year. Practically the entire male undergraduate body is composed of enlisted men, who are enrolled in the S. A. T. C. Will this training unit be abolished by the government, and if so, will the college find itself virtually without students? These are the questions in the minds of many.

Probably no one can answer with positive assurance, but consideration of the question leads to the conviction that we need not worry. Even though the vocational men are removed, there will in all probability still be the "collegiate" unit of more than 500 men, and their numbers can be augmented by further enrollment. Indications are that the government will carry out its plans for a year's work for the collegiate training unit, and after that the college can slip back very easily into the normal channels of her work.

As a matter of fact, many of the men who are here as members of the "army" will probably enter as regular students later on. They have formed associations that will bring them back. And so while we realize that there is much to be done and that unusual conditions will have to be met, it seems that the future holds nothing but progress in store for the college.

FRED WALSH, '13, DEAD.

Fred Walsh, C. E. '13, died in Detroit on November 5th after a very brief illness with influenza. He was employed in a responsible constructing position with the Detroit Edison Company, having been with the company for five years.

Walsh was very prominent in undergraduate activities while in college. He took part in all branches of athletics, and was one of the most prominent men in his class. His death is particularly sad in that he leaves a wife and an 18-months-old boy.

ALUMNI WILL RETURN ON SATURDAY FOR HOME COMING.

All plans are finished for the annual home coming which is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 16, and a large number of "old-timers" are expected to be on hand.

The luncheon will be served in the People's Church, East Lansing, at noon on Saturday. Tickets are the same old price, sixty cents, in spite of the war. In the absence of McKibbin, H. H. Musselman and W. O. Hedrick are handling all arrangements for the gathering. Plenty of features are on the program for the entertainment of the feasting throng.

A chance to look over the campus in military garb, and the football game with Notre Dame are other attractions which will add to the day.

PURDUE WINS ON FLUKES.

Game Lost 14 to 6 Although M. A. C. Shows Great Superiority.

The varsity lost a "fluky" game to Purdue last Saturday by the score of 14 to 6 when the breaks of the game went against the team with unusual persistence.

Figures showed that Purdue was outclassed in everything but luck and the ability to take advantage quickly of any errors that came her way. The Aggies gained ten first downs, for a total of well over 100 yards, on straight football, while the best Purdue could accomplish was two first downs in the entire game. One of these was made on a forward pass.

Fumbles, intercepted passes, penalties and other bits of football fortune all came at the most crucial time for the varsity. Both of the Hoosiers' scores were the direct result of forward passes which went wrong. First, Waters, Purdue half, intercepted one of Ferris' passes and ran 40 yards for an easy score. A few minutes later Ferris apparently broke up a desperately long Boilermaker pass, which was attempted when but a few seconds of the first half remained. The little quarter knocked the ball high in the air. By a bad break in the luck it came down in the hands of Quiast, Purdue end, who carried it to the five-yard line. On the second play the visitors scored on one of their few successful passes.

This ended the day for Purdue. All through the second half the M. A. C. men rushed the Hoosiers off their feet, threatening to score at all times. Only several bad fumbles at critical points kept the score down. In fact the last play of the game was a pass which the Aggie left end dropped after receiving it over the Purdue goal line.

Early in the second half Franson blocked a punt back of the Indiana men's goal and Archer fell on it for the score. The captain failed at the try for goal, however, and the score remained at 6.

Archer's punting and general defensive play featured the game. He broke up play after play and far out-punted his rival kicker. The whole Aggie line was a stone wall which Purdue could not puncture at all. Her few gains were made around the ends and on passes. Schwei, at left end, put up one of the best end games seen on college field in recent years, spilling plays before the backs could get started. Franson and Van Orden were also towers of strength.

Ferris was the star of the backfield, gaining ground freely on end runs and in returning punts. Dunphy and Snider also did great work in breaking through the line. Graves suffered with a bad leg and failed to play his usual game.

Purdue was undoubtedly strong, but failed to show a brand of football which had any right to win from the varsity. Markely in the backfield, and Bartlett and Quiast in the line were the visitors' best men.

Gauthier's men showed such improvement that the prospects for the Notre Dame and Michigan games are very bright.

NOTRE DAME COMES FOR HOME COMING GAME.

Notre Dame will meet the varsity on College Field on November 16 in the annual home-coming game. A great crowd, including many alumni who return for the reunion, will be in the stands when the whistle blows.

Word from Notre Dame shows that the Catholics are fully as strong as usual this fall. They held the famous Great Lakes eleven to a 7-7 tie last Saturday, playing the sailors an even game all the way. This is enough to guarantee the caliber of the visitors. The team came through the Great Lakes game without injury and will be in top form for the Aggies. Coach Rockne writes that he counts this game about the hardest on his schedule. Bahan, a veteran halfback, is the man upon whom Notre Dame places her confidence for the offensive.

Gauthier's boys are in great shape for the meeting. None of the men are laid up and all seem to be in a fighting mood. Confidence gained in the Purdue game is evident in the way the team runs through its plays this week. Notre Dame is sure of a warm reception and very probably a good trimming.

A military spectacle is to be staged on the athletic field before the game. Everything from a battalion review to boxing bouts will be on the program. Special bayonet work and setting up exercises will be included. The game will start at 2 o'clock and the military features will open with the review at 1 o'clock.

MICHIGAN AT ANN ARBOR ON NOV. 23.

State Championship at Stake, when Old Rivals Meet in Annual Clash.

M. A. C. will meet Michigan at Ann Arbor on November 23 in the greatest football game that will be played in the state this year. The state championship, as well as the settlement of the annual dispute as to the supremacy of the two schools will be at stake.

For the first time since the memory of man runs not to the contrary the game will hold the place of honor on the schedules of both teams. Heretofore the meeting has been held so early in the season that neither team was at its best. This year, however, there can be no alibi that either team is not in top form. The game will be a supreme test with both teams in shape to fight their best battle of the year.

M. A. C. people regard the Michigan game as the sport classic of the whole year. All eyes will be focused on the struggle, and as many as can make connections will journey to Ann Arbor to be on hand for the opening whistle. There is no question but that the game will draw the largest crowd which will assemble in the state this year to witness any athletic contest.

Michigan has a fast team. She has played but two games, but those give a good line on the strength of the Yostmen. Case was smothered under a large score early in the season, and

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR MICHIGAN GAME.

Arrangements are being completed for a special train to carry the team and rooters to Ann Arbor for the game with Michigan on November 23.

The rules governing the S. A. T. C. work require that classes and drill be kept up Saturday morning. As a result the special train will not leave until about eleven o'clock, arriving at Ann Arbor just before game time. The train will leave Ann Arbor at about 6 o'clock on the return trip.

Major Murchie has announced that about 500 men from the training unit will be allowed to take the trip. In addition to the boys in uniform, all civilian students, including nearly 300 girls, will be on hand. This cheering section, augmented by the many alumni who will attend the game, will see that the M. A. C. yells and songs are heard on Ferry Field.

The military band will of course make the trip. The fact that Prof. A. J. Clark is again at its head, is enough to guarantee the quality of the music that will come from the Aggie section at the "big game."

Plans for the special train are not complete as yet, but definite information, as well as train tickets, may be secured by writing the athletic office, East Lansing.

WORD FROM J. H. CLINE, '09.

The following letter gives us the first word we have had regarding J. H. Cline, '09. Friends of Cline will appreciate the news that he is apparently on the way to recovery:

Nov. 12, 1918.

* * * I have the following information from Mrs. Cline, mother of J. H. Cline, '09:

Mr. Cline was a dispatch bearer in the battle of the Marne, and was hit by shrapnel in the foot, hip and shoulder, lying for twelve hours unattended in a dugout before being discovered and taken to a hospital on July 19th.

He may be addressed as: Corp. J. H. Cline, 80th Co., 2d Battalion, 6th Regiment, U. S. Marine Corps, care Military Red Cross Hospital, Neuilly, France.

Mrs. Cline says that Jud is getting along slowly but that he is on the road to recovery.

Very truly yours,

JAMES H. FOOTE, '14.

R. E. DECKER WRITES.

From Corp. Roy E. Decker, '15, Hdqrs. Co., 3d F. A., A. P. O. 704, to Prof. Hedrick:

"The second evening in camp I met a former Plainwell boy who is in the Q. M. Corps at this place. He was the first fellow I have met here but my good luck did not end there. Returning from the canteen a few evenings ago my attention was drawn to a group of fellows practicing football. Upon a closer inspection whom should I meet but Bibbins, '15, in the bunch. It was a mutual surprise. "Bib" took me to one of the officers' barracks and there was Lieut. "Fat" Taylor, '15, who is the mange specialist in the veterinary hospital. I began to think there was to be a reunion of the class of '15 right here in France. It was nearly an M. A. C. affair as the three of us went over to the Truck Company's quarters and met Dodge, '13, and Fick, '17. There are a couple other M. A. C. men here whom I expect to meet soon. Needless to say the meeting of old friends under these circumstances is one of the most pleasant experiences one can have. It makes a fellow realize that all are in the war no matter what their work may have been in peace times.

PROMOTIONS.

Lloyd K. "P. B." Cleveland, with '17, has received his commission of Ensign, and his address is Reserve Officers Quarters "B," U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. He writes, "after nine trips to France, I am enjoying shore duty."

Frank Burton Thompson, '16, has recently been commissioned a second lieutenant in the air service.

Chas. T. Vetter, with '14, has been commissioned second lieutenant at Camp Taylor, and is now at Camp Kerney, San Diego, Cal.

FRESHMAN ETIQUETTE THIS YEAR.

"Can you state, in this department of your valued paper, some of the college traditions which a newcomer ought to know? Timid Freshman."

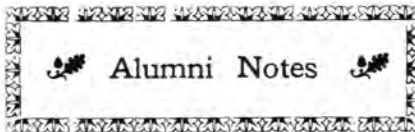

Once upon a time, there were some college traditions, Timid, but they were all shot to pieces before you came on. You need have no fear of innocently breaking any of the ancient laws of the academic zone by saying "How do you do?" to the wrong person, or sitting on the wrong bench, or wearing the wrong kind of a hat. We aren't giving a hang about such things, just now.

Act like a he-man, and use your judgment, that's all. The best account you can give of yourself, is to keep smiling! If you are uncomfortable, grin! If the sergeant jolts your sensibilities, cheer. If the military proctor gets your goat, let him have it. There are more goats to be had. The college has gone to war—all of it—lock, stock and barrel!

Attend everything that looks like a patriotic meeting. Give your old duds to the Belgians. Save up your cash for the United War Work Campaign Fund. The college students led the country in similar connection.

Any student who finishes this academic year with money in his trousers, has something wrong under his vest.

So, don't be timid, Timid, about anything but grouchiness and stinginess. The only offenses you can possibly commit, this year, are soreness and tightness.

Michigan at Ann Arbor on Nov. 23.

Chicago was forced to take a 13 to 0 defeat last Saturday. After this victory over the Maroon eleven there can be no doubt about the ability of the Michigan team.

Gauthier's men, on the other hand, are fast rounding into a formidable machine. The boys present a lineup which is many times stronger than last year's team, and which compares very favorably with any of the elevens that wore the green and white during the period of M. A. C.'s greatest triumphs. The team is very green as yet, but it has the power and stands an excellent chance of bringing home a victory on the 23d.

The line is very strong, and with the added polish it will pick up under Gifford's coaching should be able to stop the Ann Arbor men at every turn. Captain Archer, Franson and Schwei are the mainstay of the defense, although Van Orden, Anderson and Bos are class one linemen who can be counted on in a pinch.

The backfield is overcoming its weakness in running interference and should be in great shape by the 23d. Ferris, Snider, Dunphy, Graves and Schmitt are the boys most likely to carry the leather against Michigan.

It will be a great game, and M. A. C.'s chances of winning are bright.
