THE M. A. C. RECORD

VOL. XXV.

EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN, NOVEMBER 14, 1919.

NO. 8

AN OLD-TIME "DOWN TOWN" celebration such as students and Lansing Saturday nighters have not known since the fall of 1916 was indulged in Saturday night following the South Dakota victory. The parade had the band, the snake dance, and the usual songs and yells but it differed from former evening processions in that the customary night shirt was left at home in the bureau draw. Possibly the recollection of the high charge on the last laundry ticket induced the leaders to declare the usual night parade garb taboo. Nevertheless student energy broke through bounds which had held the boys in leash two years and 500 M. A. C. undergraduates and some from fracuity actuated by long-pent energy, staged a celebration at the corner of Michigan and Capitol avenues in honor of the football triumph. So effervescent was the enthusiasm that the combined efforts of the police and fire departments had difficulty to squelch it. Headed by the college military band every alley and corner was searched for boxes and barrels and a big pile of rubbish was placed under the shadow of the capitol dome, where, in pre-war years the Aggies were wont to celebrate victories over Michigan and, in war time, the citizens used to celebrate Liberty loan drives by burning the kaiser in effigy. A torch was applied to the rubbish pile and soon long streaks of red flame shot skyward and lit up the capitol square with the red light of victory. A telephone call from the police department told the fire department that there was a fire and soon the big pumping engines were on the scene. The fire department then took a hand and tried to put out the blaze. As soon as a stream of water was started toward the burning box pile some enterprising student cut the hose. Soon cold water geysers sprang up the entire hose length. Finally, the firemen conquered. The students did not flee in consternation but marched in order while the band played, "We rambled, we rambled, we rambled, till the bully cut us down." Audiences at the Bijou, the Gladmer and the Empress were given additional entertainment when the celebrating line marched in to those theaters, gave their songs and yells, and then marched out again.

THE LANSING ENGINEERS' CLUB, organized at a meeting Monday evening this week, is planning to take active interest in problems of the city, county and state, especially those problems wherein their professional knowledge specially applies. Among others the city water problem and the sewage problem were specifically mentioned. Organization of the club was completed with the exception of some minor details. The officers elected are: Otto E. Eckert, president; C. E. Bement, vice president; Fred Radford, '01, secretary-treasurer; E. D. Rich and Dean George W. Bissell trustees. The new law compelling the registration and certification of engineers soon to go into effect was explained by Dean Bissell.

PRACTICALLY every college literary society had a reunion of its alumni Home-Coming day. Many of the societies got blocks of seats for the game in order that all of their members might be together and that the older men might become acquainted with the society men in college. Several societies arranged special evening entertainments for their old members and following the football game entertained for them at dinner Saturday night.

THE M. A. C. UNION has laid out a program of social activities which will provide three all-college entertainments each term. Badly hampered through lack of funds the Union is planning a measure which they hope will bring relief this week. The college faculty, the students and the members of the Union Board are behind the work of the Union, but all agree that their work has been hampered by lack of funds. In addition to the opening party given by the Union at the beginning of the term, and the dance held at the gymnasium on Armistice Day, they are planning a dance for December 6. The winter term features are scheduled as follows: January 10, a dance; January 31, a masquerade party, February 21, a Washington's birthday dinner. In the spring term a dance is planned for April 10, another on May 8, and the annual picnic on June 11.

THE VARSITY CLUB, made up of monogram winners of M. A. C. athletic teams, had alumni members of the club as their guests at the Home-coming game and had special seats for them on the field immediately behind the players' benches. This is the first time that the Varsity Club has made an effort to entertain the alumni members of their organization in a group and it was very well received by the old monogram wearers. A special registration of Varsity Club men was maintained at the gymnasium.

THE Y. M. C. A. FINANCIAL campaign which was launched October 29 has been on the whole successful, according to Mr. Hartman, the college Y. secretary. The student campaign lasted for three days, and is now being carried on among the friends and faculty of the college. It was originally the custom to conduct this campaign in the spring but the new secretary and the board believe it best to have the financial end taken care of in the fall. The budget was for $3,000.

THE NEW YORK CLUB, a very active organization of former years was reorganized on November 7. Nineteen New York students met in the zoological lecture room and appointed a committee to draw up a new constitution or locate the old one. The officers elected were: President, John Walker, '22, South Byron; vice-president, Lola Belle Green, '20, Middlesex; secretary, Marjorie Williams, '20, Geneva; William Smith, '22, Geneva.

THE TRYOUT for the annual tri-state debate between M. A. C., Purdue University and Iowa State University has been set for December 5. Prof. Mitchell of the English department is now preparing references for the work, and a number of students have signified their intention to enter. Former M. A. C. debating teams have made excellent records, and there is no reason why splendid material will not be unearthed this year.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR girls play hockey now instead of taking regular gymnasium exercises. It has not been unusual in the past for girls to play "hookey" once in a while, but not for exercise. It is quite a common sight now to go past the old baseball grounds, and see—not the old-time warriors of the diamond—but fair coeds in bloomers and middy blouses briskly putting the balls across. The girls play this game every day when the weather is pleasant. Miss Grimes, assistant to Miss Casho, has charge of the field games.

THERE HAVE BEEN MANY euphonious names given to real estate subdivisions in East Lansing and elsewhere, it being the idea of real estate dealers apparently that the more melodious and sweet-toned the name, the more quickly will the property sell. By far the most fetching name, however, is one just making its appearance in the college city. It is no other than "Cuckoo Vale." This euphoniously nomenclatured piece of real estate is the property of Dr. Giltner and Prof. Fabian of the bacteriology department, and Dr. Coons of the botany department, and is open—quite open to settlement.

THE FALL TERM Senior party will be held at the armory on November 28th.

DORMITORIES— SHALL WE GET THEM?

Twenty years ago, one hundred per cent of our men at M. A. C. lived in dormitories on the campus, ten years ago forty per cent, while today only fourteen per cent may enjoy that privilege. Ten years ago with an enrollment of 975 men, M. A. C. had three men's dormitories with a capacity of 400 men students, and today with 1,100 regular men in the college, only 156 may be accommodated on the campus. With old "Bills" gone, and "Abbey" turned over to the girls, Wells Hall is the only survivor of the dormitory days.

We have long looked forward to the erection of an administration building and an auditorium, and now with the prospect of these soon in the building, let us turn our eyes dormitory-ward. Last spring when the appropriation bill for $750,000 was very doubtful of passage, our loyal former students came forward to the assistance of Alma Mater. If the legislature then in session, with the unsettled condition of affairs all over the nation, would pass a bill for three-quarters of a million, we have reason to expect much more in these days of reconstruction to which we are looking forward. M. A. C. has 3,000 graduates and former students in Michigan, and there is almost no limit to what we may accomplish.

Alumni are thinking about dormitories. Whenever any group of them get together the need of dormitories becomes the chief subject of conversation.

To keep alive and encourage the spirit of democracy and loyalty for which M. A. C. is famous wherever her name is known, and to enable young men and women of moderate means to receive training at our Alma Mater, let us work consistently toward the end that every student at M. A. C. may enjoy dormitory privileges if he desires them. Alumni should lay their plans now for the dormitory program.

CENTRAL MICH. ASS'N RESOLU- TIONS ON THE DEATH OF DR. SNYDER.

To Mrs. J. L. Snyder and Sons:

In recognition of the inestimable service rendered to our Alma Mater by our former president, Dr. Jonathan L. Snyder, we, The Central Michigan M. A. C. Alumni Association, express to you our sincerest sympathy in your loss and bereavement.

His unselfish interest—his devotion in raising our college from one of obscurity to a position of leadership and prominence among the colleges of the land—his zeal and love for a democratic college spirit—his work of cheer and encouragement to the student weighted down by financial burdens—and, lastly, his fearless Christian character that enabled him to stand before the student body as an exemplified clean moral life, has stamped his memory deep in the lives of those who came in contact with him during the twenty years he gave to our college and leaves this service as a lasting monument to his great life.

Resolutions Committee Central Michigan M. A. C. Association—E. I. Dail, '02, Helen Esselstyn Wood, '09, C. W. McKibbin, '11.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED.

Under the direction of the William Riker Johnson Post of the American Legion, Armistice Day, November 11, was observed with an appropriate program. Classes were dispensed with for the day and exercises were held in the gymnasium in the morning and the college community enjoyed a Union Party in the afternoon. All college departments were closed for the day.

At 9:30 in the morning the students gathered by classes and marched into the gymnasium for the exercises arranged by the American Legion. The program opened with the singing of America which was followed by an invocation by Reverend Behrens, the student pastor. Professor Rider gave a very instructive talk on the signing of the armistice, pointing out the conditions which led to the preparation of the document and describing the meeting of the representatives of the Allies and the German government in the railroad car at a little village in northern France. Hon. William W. Potter, former state senator and a member of the public utilities commission, gave the address of the morning which teemed with patriotism and brought forth much applause from the audience. Mr. Potter timed his address so that the audience just had time to sing the Star Spangled Banner before the whistles started announcing the hour of the anniversary of the signing of peace.

The demobilization of the M. A. C. service flag was carried out by Alumni Secretary McKibbin, '11, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Palm, '11, and Mrs. Leola Lewis Sessions, '17, of the Library. A silver ribbon was pinned over each gold star on the service flag as the names of the M. A. C. men who had made the supreme sacrifice in the war were read. With the demobilization of the flag, the symbol of M. A. C. men's sacrifice was passed on from a present day record to become a historical monument that will be an inspiration to future generations of M. A. C. men and women. The meeting was closed by the singing of Alma Mater.

In the afternoon the Union Party was given in the gymnasium and many of the service men accepted the invitation of the members of the Lansing Post to banquet with them in the evening at the Elks and Masonic Temples in Lansing.

HOME COMING LARGEST EVER.

Alumni—600 or More—Visit the Campus of Alma Mater.

The biggest Home-Coming which the college has had for several years, and probably the biggest in its history was held last Saturday, November 8. Two hundred and fifty were present at the alumni luncheon, and it is estimated that at least 600 graduates and former students were back for the game. From start to finish, the day was even more successful than the most optimistic hoped for it, and even the weather man arranged his affairs to suit our convenience.

Mass Meeting.

An old-fashioned mass meeting, which savored of days gone past and big things yet to come, opened the festivities on Friday evening. Many of the old "studes" came back a little early to be present at this meeting. H. B. Gunnison, '00, president of the Detroit M. A. C. club, E. W. Ranney, '00, of Greenville, director of the Memorial Building Fund Campaign in Michigan, L. Whitney Watkins, '93, member-elect of the State Board of Agriculture, and Wm. F. Johnston, '91, county agent at Roscommon, Michigan, and father of Stanley Johnston, '20, all gave short talks. The Girls, Ags, Vets, Foresters and Engineers, each put on a vaudeville stunt. Lankey's "Fight Song," led by the band and J. S. Taylor of the music department, was rehearsed. "Fat" Taylor, '15, and "Ted" England, '17, led the yells, and the old and new fellows and girls "Skinney-wow-wowed" and locomotived enthusiastically.

Luncheon.

The alumni luncheon, which was held at 12 o'clock in Club C in the Women's Building, was attended by 250 old students and friends. Many tickets were reserved in advance, but at the eleventh hour, or to be exact at 11:59, the demand was greater than the supply and tickets were at a premium. Extra seats were put at the tables and room was made for everybody. Mr. J. S. Taylor of the music department, assisted by Miss Margaret Himmelein, '20, led in the rehearsal of Lankey's Fight Song, and M. H. Small, '22, gave two very amusing ukelele ditties during the dinner. In the absence of W. K. Prudden, '78, president of the M. A. C. Association, Vice President E. W. Ranney, '00, called the meeting to order for a very short business session. A resolution was passed that the Association, in view of the long years of service which Dr. Snyder rendered to the college and his accomplishment, appoint a committee to draft resolutions to show the appreciation of the old graduates for his work here. The members appointed on this committee were Judge C. B. Collingwood, '85, Lansing, chairman, Luther Baker, '93, Lansing, and C. H. Parker, '00, Saginaw.

Parade.

Immediately after the luncheon the old students formed by classes and marched to the Athletic field. The parade was led by Mrs. William McBain (Eva D. Coryell), '79, of Grand Rapids, who was the first woman to graduate from M. A. C. She was the only '79 representative although in her class were eighteen men besides herself. '69 was represented by Mr. James Satterlee of Lansing, but he did not march in the parade. Seats were reserved for the alumni at the Athletic field, and they were not outdone by the most enthusiastic underclassmen in supporting the team with songs and yells. The '18 Club, made up of former '18 men who were in the service, put on the stunts between halves and showed the visitors how to play football. Representing Morrill and Wells Hall, they were led onto the field by a jazz clown band. A real life-sized tree was used by the head linesman to measure off the yards, a very difficult task because of the very rapid progress which both sides made. The girls were victorious scoring a touchdown in the last minute of the game.

The class of '16 had the largest registration, and '17 vied with them for the honors in the parade.

Those attending Homecoming who registered at the Alumni office were: '69—James Satterlee, Lansing; '79—Mrs. E. D. McBain, Grand Rapids; '82—W. E. Hale, Eaton Rapids; Alice Weed Coulter, Grand Rapids; '85—A. T. Muller, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tower, Lansing; '86—J. W. Clemons, Lansing; '89—Edward N. Pagelsen, Detroit; '90—Edw. J. ing night for dinner and perfected an organization which is to be known as the Eunoian Alumni Association, active membership to which is gained by payment of initial entrance fee. At this meeting members of the former Ionian society were formally made a part of the Eunoian society, all being joined under the new organization. A. H. Jewell, '15, was elected president; Ray Turner, '09, secretary; and E. E. Hotchin, '12, treasurer. An executive committee of four men were selected consisting of R. S. Simmons, '18, H. E. Dennison, '11, T. B. Dimmick, '16, and H. H. Musselman, '08. The society alumni have decided to hold two meetings each year, one at Commencement time and the other at Home-Coming.

CAVALRY AND COAST ARTILLERY
R. O. T. C. UNITS.

Two new divisions which are just being added to the R. O. T. C. unit at M. A. C. are those in cavalry and coast artillery. In establishing units in branches, other than infantry, in the colleges and universities in which military training is taught, the War Department has recognized the need of men especially trained in these lines and the advisability of offering a training in the more specialized branches of the army, that will fit in with the specialized training they receive in their regular college work.

Two new officers have been assigned to the R. O. T. C. Staff to supervise the work in the cavalry and coast artillery. Major J. J. Teter has just arrived to organize the coast artillery work and Capt. V. R. Bell came at the beginning of the term to install the cavalry unit.

Coast Artillery Requires Engineers.

In speaking of the work of the coast artillery, Major Teter said, "I hope to get all engineering students to take the course because the coast artillery which was very broad before the war has been greatly expanded by our taking over the mobile heavy artillery. Before the war, it was considered that the coast artillery personnel was good only for fixed armaments along the coast, but when the war broke out, we were assigned all the heavy mobile armaments such as pieces of six-inch caliber and above. Inasmuch as the training that students will receive under the present plan cannot possibly be very thorough, it is thought best to take only those men with a good foundation in technical subjects." Students are desired who are interested in artillery, electricity, wireless telegraphy and kindred subjects.

The equipment authorized for institutions of this character is one eight-inch Howitzer, one 155 m.m. G. P. F. piece, one fifteen-ton tractor, part of a mine equipment, a wireless set, telephones of all kinds and coast artillery

EUNOMIAN ALUMNI ORGANIZE.

About twenty-five members of the former Ionian and Eunoian societies met at the society house Home-Com-plotting, observing and range correcting instruments.

The larger pieces of equipment will be stored in the remodeled basement of Old College Hall and instruction in their handling will probably be given there. Most of the equipment is expected to arrive within the next month.

The men taking the course in coast artillery will be required to go to a summer camp at Fort Monroe, Virginia, where they will have five weeks of intensive training in coast artillery work. All of their training here will be preparatory to summer camp work.

Major Teter graduated from West Point in 1915 and as a second lieutenant was station at Fort Monroe. He was sent to Fort Wright in New York in 1916, was promoted to first lieutenant in July, 1916, and to captain August 3, 1917. He was ordered to France in November, 1917, and he served with the Howitzer regiment of the Thirtieth Brigade in the Toul sector in the Champagne. They were continuously with the French army. In August, September and October, he was assigned as an instructor in a heavy (tractor) artillery school in France. He was commissioned as a major in October, 1918. Major Teter returned from France in November, 1918, and since his return, has served as district adjutant at Ft. Williams, Maine.

Cavalry.

"To make each trooper resourceful, reliant, and well trained for the duties of an officer, unafraid to grasp the initiative and furthermore to train him in the method of training others" will be one of the objects sought by the cavalry section of the R. O. T. C. according to Capt. V. R. Bell, formerly of the Seventh Cavalry, who is assigned to M. A. C. as head of that branch. Along with that, to give a firm foundation in courtesy to all, in discipline, a strengthening of moral fibre, and a sense of responsibility to the colors and to the country will be the aim of the cavalry unit as well as to perfect men in the salient features of cavalry training. "I hope to develop a spirit of esprit de corps that will go further than the welding of the troopers in the cavalry unit," Capt. Bell, said, "a spirit which shall follow them through life and which shall manifest itself in their academic work and in all their college relations."

Assisting Capt. Bell are First Sergeants Green and Foley, both seasoned troopers and with experience in other army branches.

A requisition for forty horses and two mules for the use of the troop has been promised favorable and prompt action by the war department. With the horses and equipment some fifteen enlisted men will be assigned here to care for them. It is expected that the constabulary stables and barracks will be used for quartering men and horses of the unit. With such equipment the cavalry unit will be made an imposing detachment.

Capt. Bell was commissioned from the enlisted ranks in 1907 and immediately made a name for himself as a rifle and pistol shot. Leading his regiment in pistol shooting in the southwestern division he was sent to the army competition at Ft. Sheridan and won a silver medal there. In the National Individual Pistol Match at Camp Perry he won a medal and took ninth place in a field of 250 of the best shots in the United States.

He served two years in the Philippines and has been assigned to many western and southwestern posts. On recruiting duty at Salt Lake City Capt. Bell put his district in third place out of 56 in the army and increased the output 600% in six months. From the small arms schools at Ft. Sill and Camp Perry he has been granted certificates qualifying him as divisional instructor in that practice, also one as assistant instructor in sniping.

Capt. Bell came to M. A. C. from Chicago where he has been serving as district inspector of the R. O. T. C.

RED CROSS WORK BY DR. BOUYOUCOS IN GREECE.

The American Red Cross, in a recent article sent out to papers and magazines all over the country, gives special mention of the survey work done in Greece by Dr. G. J. Bouyoucos, who, for seven years did research work in the Soils department at the college, and edited several bulletins. Dr. Bouyoucos was appointed a year ago by President Wilson as a member of a special agricultural commission to visit Mediterranean countries and make recommendations regarding their agricultural development.

The article says in part, "An agricultural survey of Greece and the island of Crete is being made by two American professors of agriculture, C. G. Hopkins of Illinois University and G. J. Bouyoucos of the Michigan Agricultural College. The result of their efforts is intended to furnish a basis for the entire future development of the country. Both of the Americans are officers in the American Red Cross unit in that country.

"This type of Red Cross work is one that has proved especially helpful in many parts of the Balkan states and is carried on in connection with furnishing of farm instruction and supplying of agricultural implements to the people of the devastated countries. In many places the soil has become exhausted by intensive cultivation without any effort at renewal. It is believed that a suitable program of rotation will make it possible to raise adequate crops in the future. It was discovered that the soil of many Greek farms is sour. Many caves of lime are available to correct the acidity, while Greece has herself sufficient resources in phosphates so that she need never again be forced to depend on a foreign supply."

Dr. Bouyoucos returned to the campus on Wednesday to resume his research work. He is a Grecian by birth.

M. A. C. WINS ANNUAL CROSS COUNTRY.

First place was taken by M. A. C.'s cross country team in the fourth annual run Saturday afternoon during the Home-Coming game. Wilcox of Kalamazoo College was the first man to cross the line, Thurston and Adolph of M. A. C. taking second and third. The team score gave M. A. C. first, Michigan second and Hope College third.

Just before the finish of the first half of the football game about forty cross country runners made the first lap around the track and started on the three and one-half mile course. Eight teams were entered representing Kalamazoo College, Western State Normal, University of Michigan, Detroit Junior College, Hope, Albion, M. A. C. Varsity and All-Fresh. The race was finished in front of the grand stand between halves.

Michigan won the event in 1915 and 1916, but M. A. C. took first place in 1917 and again this year. The cup remains at M. A. C. for another year and will stay permanently if next year's team comes up to the standard set by this season's aggregation. Because of the war the run was not held last year.

VICTORY MAKES HOME COMING SUCCESS COMPLETE.

M. A. C. Humbles South Dakota 13-0 Before Record Crowd.

Michigan Aggie gridders crowned the annual Home-coming of the college with success Saturday afternoon when they defeated South Dakota University, 13 to 0. Six thousand present and past M. A. C. students saw the Aggies take a nick out of the University of South Dakota.

The former scoring machine looked practically as good as with Schwei in and the combination of Bassett, Hammes and Snider worked very effectively. Never did South Dakota get closer than to the M. A. C. 15-yard line and at nearly every stage of the game the badlanders were fighting an uphill battle.

M. A. C. met much more stubborn resistance in the second half than in the first and each time Brewers' men managed to get the ball within striking distance the visitors stiffened and shoved them back. By completely outclassing their red clad opponents in the first half the Big Green squad ran up the count which stood as the final score. The largest crowd which has been on the Aggie field in three years saw Brewer's charges win from the westerners.

With a big lead to their credit the Aggies played a close game during the last half, and though they failed to increase the count, the Big Green held their opponents almost completely and the goal line was in danger only once. Ashby, South Dakota's flashy halfback, received a short punt and traveled through the entire Aggie defense on the way to the goal. Springer made a beautiful tackle from behind and brought to an end the one real chance the red-clad warriors had to cross the goal.

Aggies Score Early.

Playing a brand of football far exceeding anything put on in former games of the season, the Aggies took the jump from South Dakota from the very start and managed to keep the entire performance in their own hands until the end of the first half. In the initial period, after a few exchanges of punts, the Big Green started the march to the goal line which has characterized nearly every one of its games. Unlike the conclusion of several of the former marches, however, the finish of the series of line bucks and passes came when Bassett carried the oval through the center of the opposition, squarely between the goal posts. Hammes had no trouble kicking the goal.

Following a similar drive in the second period in which "Brownie" Springer carried off high honors with a long run, through a broken field, a forward pass by the heady little pilot going over the goal line was captured by Snider after a husky jump and resulted in a second touchdown. The try for goal was missed by Hammes.

Stars Twinkle.

Hammes, Bassett, Snider and Springer proved themselves a consistent ground gaining combination. The two halves and the quarterback did most of the end circling and Hammes came through with the drives that carried the ball across for repeated first downs. Ramsey, when shifted to the backfield to replace Bassett, displayed a great driving power, making twenty yards on two successive plays through the center of the line.

Although the work of the forward wall was not nearly as conspicuous as that of the backs, big gaps in the red line and interference to spare on nearly every play, spoke of the line of football being played by every man.

A burlesque grid battle between a team representing Wells' Hall and another aggregation, clothed in feminine attire and playing for the Women's building, featured the intermission between halves. By a very decided score the team from the "Coop" won a victory which was robbed of its due credit by the finish of the Michigan Intercollegiate Cross country run. A clown band aided in the entertainment between halves.

Following the game a snake dance led by the band started the celebration of the winning of the big home game of the season. In the evening the student body transferred its activities to Lansing where a big fire was started in front of the capitol building. Efforts on the part of the police to suppress the evening celebration proved futile.

The Aggie line was working with clock-like regularity throughout the game and wide holes in the South Dakota line served as smooth paths through which the M. A. C. backs went for repeated long gains.

Hammes especially looked good and was almost outshone by Springer. For the first time this year the Aggie quarterback used himself frequently and his work reminded the Aggie supporters of the days when he shone in the M. I. A. A.

Montgomery and Ashby were the brilliant representatives of the visitors, the colored halfback Ashby showing remarkable form in open field running.

WEDDINGS.

WATERBURY-FOLTZ.

Hubert Waterbury, '17, and Mary Duncan Foltz were married at Flint, Michigan, on September 22. "Huck" is in the drafting department of the Buick Motor Co., and they will live in Flint.

COOK-MORRISSEY.

G. D. Cook, '13, and Miss Kathleen Morrissey, both of Grand Haven, Michigan, were married on September 27. They are living at 4224 Dane St., Cincinnati, Ohio, where Cook is with the board of city park commissioners.

MOORE-WRIGHT.

Marjorie Moore, '17, of Port Huron, Michigan, and Bruce Wright were married at the bride's home on October 25.

PIERCE-BICE.

Helen Edwina Pierce, '16, of Pasadena, California, was married to Edwin Stanton Bice on September 25. They will live at Marquette, Mich.

AMONG THE SOCIETIES.

The Aurorian Literary society held its fall term party at the Armory Saturday evening, and an open house at their house on Grand River avenue on Friday evening.

At a recent meeting of the Dorian society, Prof. A. C. Anderson, '06, of the dairy department, was made an honorary member.

The Letonians pledged 12 girls at their pledge service on Monday evening, November 3.

Twelve girls were pledged by the Sororians at their meeting held on October 31.

The Columbian society entertained on Friday evening, October 31, at their fall term open house, with a very interesting literary and musical program.

The Delphic fall term party was held at the Armory on Friday evening, November 7.

The Eclectic society gave a literary program on Thursday, November 6. Roll call was responded to by quotations from Theodore Roosevelt.

Six girls took the pledge of the Sesame Literary society on Wednesday evening, November 5.

The Ero Alphas pledged ten girls on Friday evening, October 31.

Prof. "Tommy" Gunson gave a breakfast talk at the Columbian House on Sunday morning. Sunday morning breakfast talks were introduced last spring, and are very popular.

The Hermian fall term party on November 1, was held in the armory, and Halloween decorations were used.

WHOSE FOUNTAIN PEN?

Just before the alumni luncheon on November 8, some one kindly loaned a fountain pen to the assistant alumni secretary, who was selling tickets in the parlors of the Women's Building. He went up to the luncheon without claiming it, and we now have it in the M. A. C. Association office. We will be very glad to return it at once to the owner if he will just tell us who he is.

Alumni Notes

This from C. P. Chidester, 470 Upton Ave., Battle Creek, Mich.: "I wish to thank you for your very kind invitation to meet with you on Nov. 8. It would certainly be a great pleasure to me to meet my old college friends once more, but I very much regret to say that sickness for the last few days will prevent my presence at your meeting. I attended the college the second year in its history."

Harold H. Beltz (with) has returned from overseas, and is a mill foreman in the lumber yard of the Prudden Wheel Co., Lansing, Michigan. He is living at 1124 E. Franklin Ave.

Eva Boucher is still chasing bugs. She is with Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit, and likes her work. She expects to do some work on goats, but hopes no one finds out where she ties them, as she would dislike to have anyone get her goat—not to mention ten of them.

Lee J. Rothgry (with) is road building for the State Highway Department at Hessel, Michigan. He says, "Road building in this country at this time of the year is just pulling one foot out of the mud after the other; but I guess it will freeze up tight soon so I will be able to re-enter college at the opening of the winter term." He recently had an interesting talk with Mr. Skeels, '78, at St. Ignace. He has been cruising land and timber there.

Russell H. Kelty is an instructor in apiculture and deputy inspector of apiaries at the college.

Hubert C. Jarvis (with) is a radio engineer at Ishpeming, Mich., and is living at 606 High St.

Gertrude Cole is teaching household arts and science at Fenton, Michigan, and may be addressed care of Box 251.

Frank W. Trull (with) has been discharged from the service, and is now teller in the First National Bank at Hart, Mich.

Irene Benjamin is teaching at Goodrich, Mich.

Hermon Jenkins (with) is farming at Flint, Mich., R. F. D. No. 2. He expects to be back in college in the spring.
