Extensive Program of Radio-Active Research Gets Underway at MSC

By JIM McCARTNEY, '49

A group of Michigan State College scientists have a new and important project on their hands. They have been assigned to delve into the mysteries of human and animal bodies through the use of radio-active materials.

Grants for two separate atomic projects were awarded the college by the Atomic Energy Commission and the American Cancer Society, Inc., in July. These grants, totaling $25,000, gave added impetus to other research with atomic materials already underway at MSC financed by the college.

Seek New Approaches to Ills

Researchers hope to find new approaches to curing glandular disorders in human beings and farm animals and nutritional deficiencies and diseases of agricultural crops. They say that use of radio-active isotopes enables them to trace the history of many body and plant functions that have previously been only theoretical.

Dean Ralph C. Huston of the School of Graduate Studies has been one of the principal figures in working out the research programs and Dr. Clifford Hardin, head of the Agricultural Experiment Station, is in charge of the research projects. These two are working closely with a seven-man Radio-Active Isotope Committee chaired by Dr. Thomas Osgood, director of the Division of Mathematics and Physical Sciences.

Two Grants Total $25,000

Largest grant, an annual appropriation of $18,899, came from the Atomic Energy Commission to be used by the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology, under Dr. L. F. Wolterink. A possible tie-in with experimental treatment of atom bomb victims is implied by the project. Scientists will study the use of radio-active materials in rats to attempt to determine duration of calcium, manganese and cobalt in the body.

The second isotope project will be financed by a $6,000 grant from the American Cancer Society, Inc. The MSC botany department, headed by Dr. W. B. Drew, will conduct the experiments. Object is to develop a radio-active virus. It is hoped that findings will contribute to more accurate and rapid diagnosis of diseases relating to cancer.

Dr. Wolterink, whose department is working with funds from the A.E.C., said that the government is primarily interested in the "pure science" aspect of the project and the number of trained personnel that may be developed for future work with atomic energy.

Will Aid Farm Production

Dr. Wolterink declared that experiments might easily have far-reaching benefits for agriculture. "It is hoped that by the study of the relationship of these radio-active materials to vitamin requirements and hormone balance we might increase production of milk, meat and eggs," he said.

College officials found they had a problem on their hands in finding a suitable place for disposal of dangerous radio-active waste products. A special atomic waste burial ground was finally set aside for this purpose near Farm Lane.

A laboratory in the Animal Pathology research building constructed with funds from the State Legislature, will be devoted exclusively to research with atomic products.

While most of the college work is still in the formative state, three departments—physiology, soils science and agricultural chemistry—are well along in projects dealing with radio-active materials.

Dr. H. S. Leonard New MSC Philosophy Head

Dr. Henry S. Leonard, formerly chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Duke University, is the new head of the Michigan State College Department of Philosophy.

The appointment, which became effective Sept. 1, was approved by the State Board of Agriculture at a special meeting Aug. 16.

Leonard Replaces DeHaan

Dr. Leonard replaced Prof. John M. DeHaan, who requested to be relieved of administrative duties in order to devote full time to teaching and research. Prof. DeHaan has been a member of the MSC faculty since 1925 and was named head of the department of philosophy and psychology in 1933. With the separation of these fields into two departments last year, Prof. DeHaan continued to head the philosophy curriculum.

Dr. Leonard, born in Newton, Mass., in 1905, received his A.B., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard. He served as instructor at Harvard and the University of Rochester during 1930-37, and as assistant and associate professor at Duke University in Durham, N. C., since 1937. Dr. Leonard has been director of undergraduate studies in the Duke philosophy department since 1942 and in March, 1949, was named chairman of the department.

Brandstatter Gets Special Assignment With Military Government in Germany

Arthur F. Brandstatter, chief of campus police and head of the Department of Police Administration at Michigan State College, has been selected by the Department of the Army for a special 90-day assignment as "visiting expert" with the U. S. military government in Germany.

Brandstatter is scheduled to report to Washington, D. C., for orders early in November. In Germany, he will serve as visiting expert on a police administration and techniques project with the Civil Administration Division of the Office of Military Government.

He will be granted a leave of absence from his college duties for his overseas service.

The MSC professor is one of eight police administrators in the nation picked for this special assignment. Brandstatter said that the program is designed primarily to indoctrinate German officials with the operation of police systems in a democracy; and also to provide American police administrators with an understanding of German police methods and problems.

More Than 8,000 Alumni Expected Oct. 22 for Homecoming Festivities

"Biggest in Michigan State history" is the prediction of Alumni Director Tom King for the Homecoming week-end to be held on the Spartan campus Oct. 21-22.

King estimated that more than 8,000 graduates and former students would be on hand for the celebrations, to be climaxed by the Michigan State-Penn State football game. Last year, approximately 5,000 alumni returned for the Homecoming festivities.

Capacity Crowd to See Game

The Penn State-MSU clash, fourth home game in a row for the Spartans, will get underway at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon in Macklin Field stadium. A capacity crowd of over 50,000 is expected for the "play-off" of last year's 14-14 tie at State College, Pa.

Alumni registration will begin Friday at 2 p. m. in the Alumni Office, located on the second floor of the revised Student Union building. The traditional Homecoming pep rally will get under way at 7 p. m. in front of the Union building.

Stag Smoker Friday Night

Top event of the Homecoming-eve will be the annual stag smoker in the Hotel Olds from 9 to 12 p. m., sponsored by the MSC Central Michigan Alumni Club. The eighth annual Dairy Alumni Breakfast will start at 8:30 Saturday morning in the Forestry Cabin.

Homecoming festivities will conclude with the annual Homecoming Ball, which will be held in the College Auditorium from 9 to 12 p. m. Saturday night. Highlight of the ball will be coronation of the Homecoming Queen, selection of which is sponsored by the Spartan Magazine and Kappa Alpha Mu, national honorary photo-journalism fraternity.

Tickets Still Available

Alumni wishing tickets to the dance or the football game should make reservations in advance, according to King. For the Homecoming Ball, tickets will be $2.50 per couple, and should be ordered through the Alumni Office in the Union Building. A limited number of football tickets at $3.60 apiece are still available from the MSC Athletic Ticket Office, Jenison Fieldhouse.

On National Saber Team

Al Kwartler, '48, was a member of the Salle Santelli Fencer's Club, of New York City, which won the national team sabre championship recently. Kwartler, an outstanding bladesman at Michigan State, won five of seven bouts in the championships.

Journalism Department Gets National Recognition

Students returning for fall classes will find that "something new has been added" to the Michigan State Department of Journalism.

In August, Prof. A. A. Applegate, journalism head, was notified that his department had received full accreditation from the American Council on Education for Journalism. MSC made application for the first time this year.

The Council is composed of representatives of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the Inland Daily Press Association, the Southern Newspaper Association, and the National Editorial Association.

The ACEJ, which made its first accreditations last year, is the only organization of its type in the nation, according to Prof. Applegate.

Michigan State thus becomes one of 38 major colleges and universities endorsed by the ACEJ for journalism offerings. Final approval came after a five-man committee, headed by Prof. Earl English of the University of Missouri, inspected facilities on the campus in April.

In 21 categories evaluated by the Council, MSC's journalism department ranked "high" and "medium high" in 14; "medium" in 3; "medium low" in three; and received but a single "low" rating.

"Oklahoma" Will Open Lecture-Concert Series

Though the grind may sometimes seem tough, Michigan State students will have ample opportunity to take a few hours out and enjoy an impressive schedule of concerts, lectures and stage productions during the 1949-50 college year.

In the lead-off spot will be "Oklahoma," complete with sappy, fringe, and still topping the list of America's favorite musical comedies. This special feature will be presented Sept. 26-27.

Complete List Announced

Dean of Students Stanley E. Crowe has also announced the complete schedule of events for the MSC lecture-concert series.

Highlighting the series will be the Boston and Cleveland symphony orchestras, Oct. 24 and Nov. 7; Margaret Webster's Shakespeare Company, Dec. 5-6; Sadler's Wells English Ballet troupe, Nov. 21-22; Jascha Heifetz, violinist, March 6; and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, Oct. 11-12.

Also scheduled: Vladimir Horowitz, pianist, March 9; Nelson Eddy, baritone, Oct. 26; Dame Myra Hess, pianist, Feb. 28; and the Charles Wagner Opera Company, Oct. 5-6.

Five lecturers who will speak during the year include Adolf Menjou, Nov. 8; William Laurence, Jan. 12; Countess Tolstoy, Feb. 8; John Mason Brown, Oct. 18; and Marc Connelly, Jan. 23.

MSC Gives Record Total Of Teaching Certificates

A record total of 682 teaching certificates were awarded by Michigan State College for the 1948-49 year, according to Robert S. Linton, registrar.

The number, 274 more than last year's 408 certificates awarded, indicates the largest total ever issued in the history of the college. In addition, 269 two-year certificates were also given.

Enrollment of 20,005 Recorded in 1948-49

A grand total of 20,005 persons were enrolled in campus classes and extension courses offered by Michigan State College during the 1948-49 fiscal year, according to the annual report of Robert S. Linton, registrar.

Included in this total are 18,635 regular students, 792 additional persons who took short courses, and 578 enrolled in the college's extension courses throughout the state. This exceeds by more than 1,000 last year's 18,843 total.

High point in enrollment was reached in the fall quarter, when a total of 16,010 regular and short course students registered. This was enough to give MSC rating as 12th largest among the nation's universities in full-time enrollment.

Represented in regular campus enrollment were 15,118 students from every Michigan county but Keweenaw; 3,167 from 47 other states and five possessions; and 350 foreign students.

THE AFFAIRS OF STATE

STUDENT AFFAIRS

Beginning of September found the Spartan campus in a long overdue "vacation" period—except for ambitious footballers preparing for the tough 1949 gridiron schedule, first under the banner of the Western Conference.

More than 3,000 4-H youths, gathering for the annual State 4-H Club Show, combined with regular students to end the summer school with a rush of activity. More than 5,000 entries were presented in the "rural youths' state fair," held on campus from Aug. 30 to Sept. 2.

September 3 saw awarding of 667 degrees to students who completed requirements during the summer. This figure, including 547 bachelors' and 130 advanced degrees, was an increase of more than 200 over last year's summer graduates. A total of 5,231 students, second highest in the college's history, attended the summer classes.

Two Michigan State co-eds were selected by nationally-known Chicago Tribune photographer Andrew Pavlin as among his five most photogenic discoveries of the year. Selected were Barbara Tanner, Detroit, who graduated in June; and Ruth Hawley, sophomore from Hart. (RECORD cover, Nov. 1948.) The co-eds were featured Sunday, Aug. 14, in Pavlin's picture story of "Five Co-eds and a Dream Girl."

Two engineering students have won prizes in the national James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation competition. They are Stuart H. Bogue, Port Huron civil engineering student, who received $100; and Wayne H. Mueller, mechanical engineer from Henderson, who won $25.

Enrollment

Michigan State College, entering its 95th year, prepared for another banner year of records, achievements and the usual headaches.

Registrar Robert S. Linton estimates that fall enrollment will "at least equal" the record-high of 16,010 reached last year. There are others who believe that the college population will run well over this figure, in spite of predicted decreases at many other large universities of the nation.

Linton gave as a big reason for a continued high enrollment MSC's rapid growth and added prominence gained through entry into the Western Conference earlier this year.

He added that decrease in veteran enrollment has not thus far altered MSC's enrollment. Linton also had good news for Spartan co-eds when he predicted that the men-women ratio will remain about the same next year at three-to-one.

"Economy Diet"

Michigan State College tightened its financial belt and went on an "economy diet" in July after the State Board of Agriculture approved its 1949-50 budget of $11,854,241.

Involved in this action, which was based on the appropriation granted by the Michigan Legislature, was the elimination of items totaling $987,238 from the college's operating plans for the next year.

Michigan's lawmakers, as in the previous year, beat the final deadline and passed budgets for the state's educational institutions at the one-day adjournment session June 23. Faced with the possibility of a deficit ranging from $20,000,000 to $60,000,000, the Michigan legislators sliced operating budgets and virtually eliminated building requests of all colleges of the state.

Tentative budget on which the MSC appropriation request was made to the State Legislature had called for expenditure of a considerably larger sum on the education of the 16,000 students expected to enroll for the 1949-50 school year. That budget had anticipated the appropriation of $8,500,492 for general operations. The Legislature, however, made available only $7,513,254 for the college's operation, exclusive of the Agricultural Experiment Station, Extension Service and Hope-Flanagan research program.

"Since the Legislature did not see fit to appropriate the funds for what we considered essential activities and improvements, we have had to cut back here, improvise there, and go on an economic diet generally," MSC President John A. Hannah explained to the board.

"The net effect of all these economies has been to make available funds with which to make certain adjustments which we considered absolutely essential," President Hannah said. Included in adjustments were the scheduling of a second six-week summer session, and salary adjustments for certain key members of the faculty.

President Hannah assured the board that these adjustments would not result in loss of curriculum content or impairment of instruction.

Necessary curtailments included: elimination of 62 teaching positions; increasing of certain recitation sections to a minimum of 50 students each; revision of course offerings in several of the schools; requiring students to pay their own expenses on all field trips; and a drastic reduction of travel by staff members on official college business.

Also eliminated was the college's hope for beginning construction this year on a proposed building for the School of Veterinary Medicine to relieve the critical shortage of laboratory and classroom space. The Michigan Legislature granted a token appropriation of $90,600 with which to prepare plans for the building.

The college had urgently requested $2,265,000 for the construction, which would put the veterinary school back in the "good graces" of the American Veterinary Medical Association. The AVMA last year tendered a highly critical report of physical facilities available for the veterinary training at Michigan State, and indicated possible withdrawal of its recognition unless adequate facilities were provided soon.

Engineering Teachers Meet

Michigan State College will be the site of the 1951 national convention of the American Society for Engineering Education, according to Prof. James M. Apple of mechanical engineering. The conference, to be held in mid-June, is expected to attract nearly 2,000 teachers of engineering from colleges, technical schools and industry.

THE AFFAIRS OF STATE

Faculty Affairs

Two members of the Michigan State College faculty resigned Aug. 31 to accept top administrative posts at Wayne University and the New York Teachers College at New Platz.

Dr. Edgar A. Schuler, associate professor of sociology and anthropology, accepted a position as head of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Wayne University. Holder of a Ph.D. from Harvard University, Dr. Schuler had been at MSC since 1946 and was instrumental in the establishment of the MSC Social Research Service in 1947. Author of more than 30 journal articles in his field, he served in numerous capacities with the U. S. Government between 1936 and 1946, including a post as senior social scientist with the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics in Washington, D. C., 1943-46.

Dr. George Angell, who came to MSC in 1947 as associate professor of education and research consultant in the Basic College, is the new Dean of the Faculty at the New York Teachers College at New Platz. Holder of a B.S. degree from Ohio State and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Syracuse University, Dr. Angell is author of numerous articles appearing in educational journals of the nation.

Earl C. Richardson, agricultural extension editor in the MSC Department of Public Relations, was elected recently to the presidency of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors for the 1949-50 year. The AAACE is composed of information staff members in agriculture and home economics of land grant colleges, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and has associate members from farm and business publications in these fields.

Richardson's election took place in July during the annual meeting of the association at Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y. He served as secretary-treasurer of the group last year and edited its publication, "The Ace." He has served in the past few years on several national committees meeting in Washington, D. C., to study problems of agricultural informational services. In 1947, he prepared the report of the Federal Cooperative Extensive Service to the U. S. Congress.

Richardson

Dr. Bruce E. Hartsuch, associate professor of chemistry, has published a new book, "A Simplified Course in Elementary Qualitative Analysis." The textbook was released recently by D. VanNostrand and Co. of New York City.

"Of Horses and Shoes"

For those who believe the "village smithy" stands no more, a reassuring ring of the anvil will re-echo louder than ever across the campus of Michigan State this fall.

Ralph W. Tenny, director of short courses, attributes this revival of the ancient trade to a growing demand for trained farriers. Result has been a tripling of the number of horseshoeing short courses, one each quarter, offered by the college.

The cry for additional trained horseshoers has come from operators of riding establishments and commercial concerns as well as race track supervisors and farmers, Tenny said.

Waiting list for the course, formerly offered only one term, grew so large that officials began looking for a way to increase facilities.

The Horse Association of America supplied the answer by offering $3,500 a year to hire an additional instructor and to help buy more supplies for the course. Each of three courses offered this year will be limited to 12 students.

Michigan State is the first and believed to be one of two colleges in the nation currently offering such a course. Its popularity and uniqueness came to the fore in February when "Life" magazine ran a picture story on MSC's future farriers.

This structure and its larger neighbor the Natural Science Building, also completed this summer, will increase classroom and laboratory space on the Spartan campus almost 25 per cent. Located on the eastern edge of the campus across from Snyder-Phillips dormitory, the two buildings contain more than 250 classrooms, offices and laboratories, excluding service and storage facilities. Photo is by Everett N. Huby, head of the MSC Photographic Laboratory.

Gifts and Grants

A gift of $74,203.80 for establishment of scholarships was received in August from the estate of Mrs. Eliza Erb, Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Erb, who died in 1946, was a former resident of Waterford, Michigan.

This was among $153,502.80 in gifts and grants accepted for the college by the State Board of Agriculture at July and August meetings.

Mrs. Erb's will specified that the money is to be used for establishing scholarships honoring her parents, Nelson R. and Anna Ganong, former residents of Waterford. One boy and one girl from Oakland county are to be selected each year for the scholarships on basis of character and leadership, together with literary and scholastic or artistic ability and attainments.

Two grants totaling $25,000 (see story on page 2) were received in July from the Atomic Energy Commission and the American Cancer Society, Inc., for research with radio-active isotopes.

The U. S. Public Health Service gave $8,800 to be used by the Department of Bacteriology and the U. S. Regional Poultry Research Laboratory. Project will be to find a test for lymphomatosis, a poultry disease, which has relationship to cancer.

Funds totaling $1,400 were received to finance a study which has been launched to determine religious needs and attitudes of the residents of East Lansing. People's Church of East Lansing is financing the project, to be conducted by the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, under Dr. Orden Smucker. It is expected to be completed within a year.

Naval Research

Activation of a naval research unit at Michigan State College has been announced, with Elbert S. Churchill, MSC bacteriologist, named as unit commander.

Findings, in turn, will be made available to the Office of Naval Research and the numerous sister units throughout the United States.

Under direction of the Federal Office of Naval Research, members of the unit hope to utilize their experience and training in promotion of experimentation and research materials. Similar to groups already in existence at Midland and Ann Arbor, the unit is composed entirely of MSC scientists who are former naval officers.

MSC's Government and Economic Workshops Gain Public Acclaim

Summer school this year at Michigan State saw the completion of a successful round of workshops, conferences and special courses designed as practical instruments in bringing latest techniques and study in specific fields to the people of the state and nation.

Among courses both new and traditional that gained added momentum and popularity were the three-week workshops in State and Local Government and Economic Education.

The Workshop in State and Local Government, July 5-22, brought educators from all over Michigan in contact with top state government officials to talk over government problems on the local, county and state levels.

Workshop Draws Praise

Workshop members found themselves thrown into the political hotbed when City Manager Clarence H. Elliott, of Jackson and D. Hale Brake, state treasurer, disagreed violently as to the effectiveness of county government in Michigan. Said Elliott, "County government in Michigan is lousy." Brake objected in strong terms.

Reported Willard Baird, chief of the Lansing bureau of Michigan's Federated Publications, "Whether county government in Michigan is or isn't 'lousy' wasn't decided by the workshop, but the dispute highlighted the workshop's unique and effective purpose in bringing controversial questions of politics and government before Michigan residents."

Recording of MSC Songs By Glee Club Available

A recording of Michigan State College songs, made by the 70-voice MSC Men's Glee Club in April, is now on sale, according to John McGoff, president of the glee club.

The record contains four songs, "MSC Shadows" and "Fight Song" on one side and "MSC Spartans" and "Stout-Hearted Men" on the other. This is believed to be one of the few recordings now available of Michigan State's new Alma Mater—"MSC Shadows."

The records will sell for 75 cents, and the proceeds will be used to finance a tour of the MSC Men's Glee Club to alumni clubs all over the nation, McGoff said. Special rates will be arranged for alumni clubs wishing to purchase records as a group, according to McGoff. Interested persons should write to Prof. David Machtel; Director, MSC Men's Glee Club; Department of Music, MSC.

"Disagreements were inevitable and numerous," he said, "but these differences among the experts, reported by nearly every daily newspaper in the state, placed before Michigan readers the difficulties involved in achieving a system of government which will meet conflicting needs."

The Economic Workshop, which ended Aug. 19, was brand new to the campus and attracted 75 educators, economists and members of business and labor organizations from all over the nation.

Educational Council Proposed

Here members listened to top executives in business, labor and government fields discuss some of the critical and complicated problems of the nation's economy. Here also they studied closely with these men to try to work out better high school curricula and community adult education projects.

Out of the workshop came a plan whereby a Michigan Council for Education would be formed to act as a clearing house of information and aid to teachers and communities in setting-up local programs.

Oldest Campus Building Undergoes Face-Lifting

West wing expansion and extensive remodeling of the campus home of MSC President John A. Hannah is scheduled for completion in the near future.

The historic landmark, only original building remaining on the campus, was constructed in 1857. It has served as residence for a number of distinguished faculty members, as a women's residence hall, and was the home of the late Frank Murphy, former governor of Michigan.

Cost of the remodeling is to be defrayed from funds set aside in 1941 from the estate of Frederick Cowles Jenison, benefactor of the college.

Although care has been taken to preserve the facade of the historic structure, plans call for replacement of certain frame portions of the building by fireproof brick construction, some interior alterations, and construction of the new west wing.

Because of constant changes during 92 years of its occupation, the structure is poorly arranged, and the State Board of Agriculture acted in June to have the home made over to better serve the many needs of Michigan State College.

Erection of Continuing Education Center Begins

Construction has begun on the new Michigan State College Continuing Education Center, financed largely by a grant of $1,400,000 from the Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek.

Will Be Completed in Year

The seven-story structure, which will be one of the finest conference buildings in the nation, is expected to be completed within a year.

Located at the western edge of the campus, the building will headquarter the Continuing Education Service of the college. It will also serve as a laboratory for training of hotel administration students and house the Department of Hotel Administration. An additional $95,000 has been contributed by the hotel industry of the nation for furnishing guest sections of the center.

Other Buildings Completed

The building will contain 21 conference rooms, auditorium, ballroom, small dining room and 193 guest rooms, intended exclusively for persons attending conferences and special guests of the college.

The past summer also saw the completion of a number of other campus structures under MSC's post-war $31,000,000 building program, almost $19,000,000 of which is self-liquidating with no expense to the public.

The new Natural Science building, one of the largest and finest of its kind in the nation, and its neighbor, the Physics and Mathematics building (See Cover) have added nearly 25 per cent in classroom, office and laboratory space of the campus.

The Natural Science building is now center for the departments of geology and geography, botany, physical science, biological science, and entomology and zoology with laboratory space for each. At capacity it can accommodate approximately 3,000 students and Physics and Mathematics building will serve at least 1,250 students.

New Student Union Completed

Michigan State students, for the first time this fall, will have full access to the enlarged and totally remodeled Student Union. Included are bowling alleys, ping pong rooms, reading, music and browsing rooms. All construction on the Union was done on a self-liquidating basis, without public expense.

The housing problem has been solved for 500 men students returning to school this fall. Students will be housed in the west wing of Robert S. Shaw Hall. The dormitory is expected to be completed next summer.

These are a few of the pictures sent in to various campus offices in recent weeks.

Two "slips" in the last number of Days of Yore have caused the editors to bow their heads in apology to the class of 1939, and to the co-eds of the class of 1899. Despite our statement, the class of 1939 also had its commencement activities in the bandshell. As for the co-eds of '99, they were inadvertently trimmed from the picture.

Spartans Tackle Wolverines in Sept. 24 Opener

By FRED STABLEY

The most eagerly awaited football season in Michigan State history—first as a member of the powerful Western Conference—is at hand.

Since August 31, Coach "Biggie" Munn and his assistants have had a squad of 70 grid hopefuls, including 30 lettermen, hard at work in preparation for a rugged nine-game schedule which begins with Michigan Sept. 24 at Ann Arbor.

Team Has Rugged Schedule

Munn's charges hope to emulate last year's 6-2-2 record and national ranking as 14th squad in the nation. The Spartans also are one of four teams conceded a chance of breaking Michigan's string of 23 consecutive victories. Following the Michigan game, the Spartans will play six home games on consecutive Saturdays against Marquette, Maryland, William and Mary, Penn State, Temple and Notre Dame. The last two games will be away from home, against Oregon State Nov. 12 and Arizona Nov. 19.

The first scrimmage was held within the first week of practice in line with Munn's opinion that "there is no better way to get a fast line on what has happened to the players over the summer layoff."

Crane, Lumsden, Gilman Move Up

Early practice indicated that "old familiars" will man the first team again this season. This will be true not only for the eight posts where veteran incumbents are back, but also for the three positions where star first-stringers were lost through graduation.

"Bud" Crane seems to have the edge for George Guerre's old left halfback spot and, of course, "Bud" is anything but a new hand.

Big Dave Lumsden, reserve center for two seasons, finally has the shadow of Bob McCurry removed and should get first call on the pivot position.

At left end, "Red" Gilman is heir apparent to Warren Huey and Ed Sobczak. He already has won two varsity letters and has proven himself under fire.

Veterans Fill Other Positions

For the rest, old hands will be back at first string positions. Lynn Chandnois, right halfback; Gene Glick, quarterback; and Frank Waters, Jim Blenkhorn and LeRoy Crane, fullbacks, have the backfield positions well in hand. Hank Minarik is due for a great season at right end. Pete Fusi and Capt. Hal Vogler are ready for front line tackle duty again, as are that great pair of guards, Don Mason and Ed Bagdon.

Schlademan's Veteran-Studded Team Schedules Eight Outstanding Events

The crack cross-country team which last year scored a grand slam of national championships for Michigan State will be back in action again this fall with virtually the same personnel.

Only Tom Irmien of the top men will be missing from the team which won the IC4A, NCAA and NAAU championships, an unprecedented feat.

Team Topped by Nine Veterans

Among the returnees are Capt. Bill Mack; Warren Druetzler, who this summer toured Europe with a barnstorming AAU track team; Jack Dianetti, Bob Sewell, Gil Hunt, Clark Atcheson, Bill Mallory and Ed and Don Makielski.

Among sophomores bidding for the team for the first time will be Maurice Maloney, of Kenmore, N. Y., perhaps the most promising of the lot; Ekin Graber, of LaGrange, Ill., Allan A. Mack, of Palos Park, Ill., and Robert W. Collins, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Set Two-Mile Relay Mark

This quartet of hopefuls set a new freshman two-mile relay record over the indoor course last winter, galloping the 16 laps in the excellent time of 8:03.7.

The schedule is a tough one, but Coach Karl Schladean's harriers could score another triple crown victory. The complete schedule: Oct. 8—Purdue and Notre Dame at Lafayette, Ind.; Oct. 22 or Nov. 5—Penn State at East Lansing; Nov. 12—Central Collegiate Conference, site to be determined; Nov. 21—IC4A championships, New York City; Nov. 28—National Collegiates at East Lansing; Dec. 3—National AAU championships at Detroit.

Football Games to Get Wide Radio Coverage

Michigan State home football games this fall will be aired by the largest assemblage of radio stations in the school's grid history.

Carrying all home games will be WKAR, the college station; the Michigan National Bank network, composed of stations WJIM and WILS, Lansing; WOOD, Grand Rapids; WELL, Battle Creek; WFDF, Flint; WSAM, Saginaw; WHLS, Port Huron; and WKMh, Dearborn.

Arrangements are not complete in all cases with stations and networks desiring individual games, but another dozen stations are expected to broadcast the games.

Hayden, Spartan Sports Great, Dies August 10

James G. Hayden, '30, one of Michigan State's all-time sports greats, died Aug. 10 at the Pawating Hospital at Niles after an illness of approximately six months.

Hayden, 42 years of age, was at the time of his death on leave as highway traffic engineer for the U. S. Army of Occupation in Germany. He had been in the military service since 1941, and was returned to the United States June 12 for medical treatment.

Hayden served as agent for the Bureau of Roads in 1931; highway engineer, coach and teacher in Washington, D. C., 1932-36; assistant traffic engineer for the National Safety Council 1936-40; and as fleet engineer with the Horton Motor Co. of Charlotte, N. C., 1940-41.

Was Nine-Letter Man at MSC

While at MSC, he won nine major sports letters, including three each in football, baseball and track. He was president of the Varsity Club, vice-president of the Inter-Fraternity Council and treasurer of the senior class.

Survivors include one sister, Ruth; and his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Hayden of Cassopolis. Burial was in his hometown of Cassopolis Aug. 13.

Athletic Council Mulls Latin-American Invite

A Michigan State graduate, Ricardo A. Paredes, class of 1946, has invited Spartan athletic teams to visit the Republic of San Salvador.

Paredes is technical advisor to the director general of physical education for the Central American republic. He was a physical education major at MSC.

Invitation Under Consideration

Athletic Director Ralph H. Young said he had placed the invitation before the Athletic Council for its consideration. Specifically mentioned in the letter were the basketball, baseball and swimming teams as possibilities for such a visit. Paredes also spoke in terms of these teams visiting other Latin-American countries on the same trip.

While interested in the proposition, Mr. Young said the scheduling problems for such a tour would be very difficult. The only possibilities would be during Christmas or Easter recesses.

The long and the short of the Michigan State football team this fall will be sophomore Bob Carey, six-foot five-inch end, and John Yocca, five-foot nine-inch guard.

New Faces for 1949 Spartan Lineup

Bob Carey

Klein

Coleman

Bill Carey

Ciolek

Jones

Every up-and-coming college football team has its outstanding sophomore prospects around whom future elevens will be built, and the 1949 Michigan State Spartans are no exception.

Pictured above are six of the most promising first year varsity men, all of whom are likely to be heard from before the current season is finished.

Carey Twins Show Promise

Bill and Bob Carey are twin brothers who earned their preliminary spurs by outstanding performances in the spring intra-squad game. Both are ends. Big, rangy and crack pass receivers, they present the arresting possibility that in another year or so the first string Spartan flankmen may be Carey and Carey. The Careys hail from Charlevoix, Mich.

Allan Jones, from Washington, D. C., is a fine quarterback candidate. He shows signs of developing into a good field general, passes well and can run with the best.

Coleman, Klein Stand Out

Don Coleman, of Flint, is rated one of the finest guard prospects to come along in years. He showed he had varsity potentialities in Spring training and then played a bang-up game in the climatic intra-squad contest.

Joe Klein, of New Kensington, Pa., is another fine guard prospect who proved his mettle last spring. With players like Don Mason and Ed Bagdon ahead of them, neither Klein nor Coleman figures to crack into the first string line-up, but they should see lots of reserve action during the next season.

Another Ciolek for Spartans

Bob Ciolek is the latest of the Michigan City, Ind., Ciolek clan to make his bid for athletic prominence at Michigan State. Older brothers Gene and Ed were Spartan athletic stars several years back. Well over six feet tall, strong and fast, Bob has everything it takes to become a great quarterback. He is a crack south-paw passer and a good defensive player to boot, as he illustrated in the Spring game.

Huey Named Assistant Freshman Grid Coach

Warren Huey, stellar Spartan end from 1945 through 1948, has been appointed instructor in physical education and an assistant football coach at Michigan State.

Huey, whose home is in Punxsutawney, Pa., assumed his position Sept. 1. His immediate job is to assist Robert Flora with the freshman squad.

The new Spartan coach is just 21 years old. He won his first varsity letter when a 16-year-old freshman. A year later he won All-American honorable mention honors.

Huey

As a junior he was presented the "Governor of Michigan" award given annually to the most valuable player on the team. Huey seemed on his way to further honors last season until a leg injury benched him midway in the campaign.

This summer he was honored with a bid to the All-Star game in Chicago along with George Guerre and Bob McCurry. He accepted and went to the training camp, but his bad leg prevented him from seeing game action.

FOLLOWING ALUMNI CLUBS

By Tom King

Vacations over, MSC alumni prepared themselves for a fall packed with activity as Michigan State headed into its first year as a member of the Western Conference.

A number of clubs during the past months held picnics and celebrations all over the nation.

Ann Arbor Club Meets

In Ann Arbor, Dr. Floyd Owen, '02, opened his 24-acre estate to 120 members of the Washtenaw County MSC Alumni Club for one of the larger outings of the summer. Named "Broadway Hill," Dr. Owen's home is situated on the highest point overlooking Ann Arbor.

Active in alumni affairs for many years, Dr. Owen is one of the founders of the Ann Arbor club and is chairman of the Alumni Memorial Fund drive. He estimates that approximately 400 MSC alumni live in Washtenaw County, the majority of whom actively participate in the club.

The club has also arranged to operate a concessions booth 100 feet east of Gate 2 at the MSC-Michigan football game. Soft drinks, mums, hot dogs and pennants will be sold at the booth which will be presided over by Fred Arnold, '38, and John Swisher, '40.

Toledo Club Elects

The Toledo, Ohio, alumni group met for a picnic June 19 at the home of Tom H. Anderson, '46. Swimming and softball held the spotlight, and Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were chief cook and bottle washers. Approximately 70 persons attended. Elected officers for this year were: Donald D. Stone, '13, president; William H. Fish, '46, vice-president; J. Edson Jepson, '35, secretary-treasurer; and Weston L. Gardner, '42, social chairman.

Meeting in Hastings recently, Barry MSC Alumni elected Charles Higbie, '22, president; Fred Adolph, '22, vice-president; and Mrs. Marc Squire, '33, secretary-treasurer. Chosen committee chairmen were Keith Chase, '19, activities; Mrs. Fred Hauser, '41, membership; Carlton Swift, '31, athletics; Ted Knopf,

'27, talented students; and Don Siegel, '30, legislative.

Hoeft State Park near Rogers City was the site of a picnic held July 31 by members of the Alpena-Presque Isle-Montmorency MSC Alumni Club. The picnic was held in the park pavilion with approximately 50 persons bringing potluck lunches. Previous to the picnic a board of directors meeting was held to approve the constitution and make final organizational plans. William Engle, '48, president of the group, was in charge of the affair.

Detroiters to Hold Dance

Following the UM-MSC tussle the Detroit Alumni Club will sponsor its annual post-game dance at 9:30 p.m., Sept. 24. The affair will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Book-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, and tickets may be purchased from Ray Shedd or George Culp at telephone Woodward 33870.

Balloons for the kids, a children's horse shoe contest, races, volley ball and softball games highlighted a picnic and outing sponsored by the Kent County Michigan State College Alumni Club, held at Townsend Park, Grand Rapids, July 27.

Approximately 100 alums attended to cheer the kids on to that first prize. Mom and Dad also joined in, although they had to take second place to "junior" who was the only one eligible to win. Rex C. Ten Eyck, '36, club president, managed the affair.

At a board of directors meeting of the Newaygo MSC Alumni Club July 15, announcement was made of five new committee heads. The meeting was held at Fremont. Appointed chairmen were: Alfred Truman, '34, legislative committee; Mrs. Stanley Stroven, '37, activities; Miss Anne Becker, '31, membership; Kirk Deal, '19, athletics; and L. D. Brundage, '28, talented students committee.

Moore Named Head

Officers and directors were elected recently by members of the Calhoun MSC Alumni Club. New president is Glenn B. Moore, '46; Stuart Stickel, '48, vice-president; and Mrs. Theodore Johnson, secretary-treasurer. Elected directors were Mrs. Eldon Shotwell, '38; Mrs. Larry Barnaby, '37; Leonard J. Foster, '28; Deland Davis, '29; William Wood,

'19; Mrs. Maxwell G. Hammer, '39; Mrs. Harry D. Gardner, '43; Robert Geyer, '43; Robert Brevitz, '23; Leonard White, '42; Mrs. John L. Preston, '38; Mrs. John Coolidge, '39; and John S. Twist, '41.

Oregon Club Rallies

The annual picnic of the Oregon Society of Michigan State College Alumni was held Aug. 14 at the Portland home of Mrs. H. C. Raven. Twenty-four club members and friends met for the mid-day picnic, held on the lawn overlooking the Willamette River. Music was provided in the form of cornet solos by Albert H. Gillette, '92, reputed to be the world's oldest cornetist. Plans were made for a get-together in connection with the Michigan State-Oregon State football game to be played in Portland in November. In charge of game reservations is J. L. Shaw, '10, and L. V. Benjamin, '20, will be chairman of the football banquet. R. W. Nahstoll, '40, club president, was in charge of the picnic-meeting.

Macomb Fetes Students

Earlier this summer the Macomb MSC Alumni Club sponsored a "Punch Bowl Hop" for vacationing students of the college. Held in the Civic Center of Mt. Clemens, more than 100 alumni, students, and friends of the college danced to the music of Delbridge and Gorrell.

Said club president Floyd Hicks, '42, in reference to their unique meeting, "the association since its beginning has been very much interested in getting to know the students attending MSC, its short course students, alumni and all persons interested in the college."

Because a number of persons affiliated with Michigan State College are interested in joining an alumni club in their area, it has been requested that eligibility be defined.

According to the Alumni Office "anyone who has ever attended MSC, regardless of length of time, will be considered an alumnus and will be eligible to membership in the National Association and in local clubs."

ABOUT THESE ALUMNI

By Gladys M. Franks

1901

Edward G. Martin is a proctologist in Detroit with offices at 1447 David Whitney bldg.

1903

C. Lyle Demorest is associated with the Hayes Mfg. corp. in Grand Rapids and lives in Belding, Mich., at 11655 Parnell rd. Three of his four children have attended M.S.C.—Alice '38, Charles '48, and Alan '50.

1907

Bernice Black Dail and Spencer D. Kelley were married June 30 and are making their home in Lansing at 417 Carey st.

1908

William M. Rider has retired as secretary of the Pa. Holstein Breeders' Assn. and has moved from York, Pa., to 1300 Summit ave., Catonsville, Md., where he will keep up his interest in animal and dairy husbandry.

1909

Glenn Gilbert, formerly with the U. S. Dept. of Agr., has retired to his farm near Dorr, Mich. . . . Karl Hoppman is building inspector for the Ford Motor co. and lives in Detroit at 1141 Merrick. . . . Frank Morissette is staff master mechanic for Chrysler in Detroit where he lives at 5814 Haverhill.

1911

College days were relived in all their glory a few weeks ago when Arnold "Red" Fluemer, who has lived in the Philippines for the past 36 years, and Ralph "Spike" Burton, '12, met in Detroit for the first time since they were students on the East Lansing campus. Talk also veered to Fluemer's 38 months imprisonment under the Japanese during the war. He was lying ill on the ground when paratroopers of the 11th Airborne Division reached the American prisoners. "I'll never be able to explain it," he told Burton. "I hadn't been able to walk for days. I thought I was dying. When I heard those American troops, I jumped up, forgot my cane and crutch and walked 100 yards to shake hands with them."

1914

Francis and Hazel (Cook, 15) Kenney recently returned to this country from Japan where he was stationed nearly three years as chief of the trade services division of SCAP. They are living at Francisco Farm, Rockville, Md., where he reports: "I will continue to practice my profession of consulting economist while I profess to practice my vocation of farming." . . . (Personal note to Norton Mogge—I think my typewriter must have skipped a few spaces when it came to your name on the list of '14ers back on campus for their 35th. My apologies for the omission.)

1916

The Navy recently announced that a fellowship in the Royal Aeronautical Society of London, England, has been awarded to Ivan H. Driggs, of Bethesda, Md., for his contributions to aeronautical science. Mr. Driggs is director of research in the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. The Royal Society was formed in 1866 and recently was given a royal charter by King George. . . . The Marshall (Mich.) Evening Chronicle paid fine tribute recently to E. B. More for his quarter-century service on the local school board. And he was president of that body all but one of those years!

Horace O. Bone has a furniture business in Arcadia, Calif., where he lives at 274 W. Foothill blvd.

1918

Paul Rankin is assistant superintendent of schools in Detroit where he lives at 16823 Plainview road.

1919

Milton Earle is superintendent of schools in Westport, Mass. . . . Samuel Robinson is on the faculty of Olivet College, Olivet, Mich.

1922

Roy Weldon is sanitarian for the Kent County Health dept., with offices in Grand Rapids at 316 Ottawa N.W.

1926

Dr. Fred W. Mare has his dental offices at 2400 Eastern S.E., Grand Rapids. . . . Florence Yakeley and Irwin S. Boak were married July 12, and are making their home at 21 Pine st., Canton, N. Y.

1927

Russell Roberts, ophthalmologist, has offices in the Culver bldg., Culver City, Calif.

1928

Madge Rooks Doty received her M.S. in library science from Western Reserve Univ., Cleveland, in June. . . . J. M. Lutz may be reached at the Red River Valley Potato Research Center at East Grand Forks, Minn., where he is "now engaged in potato harvesting, transportation and storage research." . . . The sympathy of the class is extended to Wilfred Newell, of Wyandotte, Mich., whose wife, the former Mary Wilson of Lansing, died July 17 in Spokane, Wash., while accompanying her husband on a Y.M.C.A. tour of the West. . . . Adam Sayes is with the Detroit Edison co. as a designing engineer in the steel division, and he lives in Detroit at 19532 Westphalia.

B. Taylor Hachmuth superintends the Comstock Park (Mich.) school and lives in that community at 530 Hachmuth road. . . . Lois Sprinkle Knowlton and Charles Winsor Kenyon were married June 18 and are at home at 1 Scott Circle, Washington, D. C. . . . Alyce Charles Ludwig is high school librarian in East Lansing where she lives at 220½ Beech st. . . . Howard Luscomb is associated with the Gibson Refrigerator co. in Greenville, Mich. . . . Foster Mohrhardt directs library service for the U. S. Veterans Administration in Washington and lives in Alexandria, Va., at 1002 10th street, Apt. C-1.

1931

Theodore Foster is an attorney in Charlevoix, Mich., where he and Mrs. Foster (Mary Rayner, '35) make their home at 220 Park ave. . . . J. Curtis McCan has a milk distributing business in the metropolitan area near Highland Park, N. J., where he lives at 246 Grant ave. . . . Lt. Col. William J. Meyer, chief of military personnel in Hdqs. Military Transport Service USAF in Washington, is a student at the Naval War College in Newport, R. I. He and Mrs. Meyer and their four daughters live at 77 Tuckerman ave., Middletown, R. I. . . . Seymour Voorhees is engaged in product study work for General Motors and lives in Berkley, Mich., at 1722 Harvard rd.

1932

Roy Donahue, extension agronomist at College Station, Texas, is co-author of a book entitled "Our South—Its Resources and Their Use" and published by Steck and Company. . . . Carl Haradine owns and operates Richelieu Lodge at Three Rivers, Mich. . . . William and Mildred (Anderson, '30) Nivison are living at 602 Gardner

Necrology . . .

JOSEPH PERRIEN, '93, active in real estate circles in Detroit for many years, died in that city on July 19. He was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club, the Detroit Yacht Club, and the Detroit Boat Club. He is survived by his widow.

HERBERT A. HAGADORN, '98, who retired three years ago after many years service with the General Electric Co., died Oct. 27 in Bridgeport, Conn.

CHARLES B. TAYLOR, '04, farmer and member of the Oakwood (Mich.) school board for a number of years, died in Plant City, Fla., June 28. His widow survives.

IRMA MUZZALL GREGG, '08, wife of Orestes I. Gregg, '07, retired member of the MSC extension staff, died in Houghton Lake, Mich., on July 18. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Ruth Gregg King, '35, and three sons, Emory M. '33, Glenn C. '31, and Phillip R.

ROBERT H. CARRUTHERS, '31, well known Shiawassee county farmer and partner in an elevator and coal business, died at his home near Bancroft, Mich., May 4. Mr. Carruthers was associated with his mother and his brother, Cameron J. Carruthers, '23, in the operation of a 1,000 acre farm, and an elevator and coal business in Owosso. He was active in the Owosso Kiwanis Club, Durand Congregational church, and Shiawassee County Farm Bureau. Besides his mother and brother, he is survived by his wife, two sons, and two sisters, Grace Carruthers Northway, '27, and Jean Carruthers Gilbert, '32.

HARLEY F. HARRIS, '41, engineering graduate and veteran of World War II, was killed in an airline plane crash in the Santa Susanna mountains in California on July 12. He is survived by his wife, one daughter and his parents.

Trezise, '16, Named Dean of Engineering

Frederick W. Trezise, '16, has been appointed head of the College of Engineering Science at the University of Illinois' Chicago Undergraduate Division.

He will have charge of work in engineering and architecture which last year had an enrollment of 1,200 full-time students. Since 1947, Trezise has been chairman of the Division of Engineering Sciences at the U. of I. extension division in Galesburg, Ill., discontinued in June.

Worked with TVA 1942-47

As a consulting engineer, the new dean has done work in surveying, city planning and geology throughout the Midwest. Trezise served with Lawrence College, Wis., from 1921 to 1942; and was hydraulic engineer and personnel officer with the Tennessee Valley Authority 1942-47.

He received a B.S. degree in civil engineering from MSC in 1916, and an M.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1934.

Spartan Alums Receive Top Atomic Assignments

Two Michigan State College graduates have received important assignments in projects connected with the atomic energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. They are Lloyd I. Hughes, '23, of Toledo, Ohio, and Richard W. Cook, '33, Oak Ridge.

Cook Heads Oak Ridge Plant

Cook, who was graduated from MSC in civil engineering in 1933, has been named acting director of the Atomic Energy Commission's operations office at Oak Ridge. A veteran of five year's experience with the atomic project, Cook was among the first army officers assigned to Oak Ridge in 1944. Prior to this he was a colonel in the Army Engineers corps.

Hughes, vice-president and treasurer of the engineering firm of Kaighin and Hughes, is probably one of the happiest men in Toledo. His company recently received the Atomic Energy Commission's contract to do preliminary planning for a $70,000,000 addition to the Oak Ridge plant.

Hughes Gets Atomic Contract

The highly secretive project, according to the AEC announcement, includes "advance planning on plumbing, heating, ventilation and piping for plant K-29, which will produce uranium-235 by the diffusion process."

Hughes' firm has under contract projects for some of the nation's largest corporations and was among 5,000 companies in the nation considered for the Oak Ridge job.
