J. F. Macklin, Father of Big Time Athletics at MSC, Dies October 10

John Farrell Macklin, the founding father of big time football at Michigan State College, died of a heart ailment in his Philadelphia apartment Oct. 10. He was 65 years old.

The man for whom MSC's enlarged stadium is named, boasted one of the finest coaching records in the annals of football. In five years, from 1911 through 1915, he won 30 games while losing 5 for a percentage of .853. He was the only Spartan mentor in history to have an undefeated season, and the first to beat the University of Michigan.

Macklin Upset Michigan in 1913

That red letter day was in 1913 when Michigan State upset a team coached by the great Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost by a score of 12 to 7. MSC lost a tight one 3 to 0 the following year, but roared back in 1915 to trounce Michigan 24-0. This year marked the end of Macklin's coaching career. He quit, "while still ahead."

During his five years at Michigan State, Macklin served as athletic director, baseball and track coach as well as football mentor.

He also did part-time work as trainer. When he first came to East Lansing the college was putting on games for $200. When he left, guarantees of $10,000 were common, and under his direction the college added immensely to its athletic plant.

Macklin

Death Shocks MSC Campus

To Michigan State faculty members, alumni, and students who knew him Macklin's death came as a blow.

Said President John A. Hannah, "The death of John Farrell Macklin comes as a shock to all who knew him. It deprives Michigan State of one of its most enthusiastic supporters."

"The deep affection in which he was held by the men who played on the football teams he coached and by those closely associated with him during the years he was a member of the MSC staff speaks volumes for his great qualities of leadership."

Hoped for Big Ten Membership

Director of Athletics Ralph H. Young said, "He laid the foundation for our present athletic plants and strength. It was during his time that State first talked of seeking entry into the Western Conference."

Macklin quit his football chores at Michigan State to enter private business in Philadelphia where he served as president of J. H. Weaver and Co., a coal concern. Born in Worcester, Mass., in 1883, Macklin received his undergraduate schooling at the University of Pennsylvania where he captained the freshman squad and was a star tackle and halfback on the 1907 eleven.

Last Campus Visit Came in 1948

His last trip to the campus was in 1948 when he was present for the dedication of the college's new, 51,000 capacity Macklin Field Stadium.

President Hannah, Lyman L. Frimodig, assistant director of athletics at MSC, and O. R. "Dutch" Miller of Saginaw, a former footballer who played under Macklin, were present at his funeral Oct. 13 at Williamsport, Pa.

Chain Stores Designate MSC for New Course

Michigan State College has been selected from a group of more than 20 colleges and universities to set up a new curriculum designed to train students for executive and managerial posts in the nation's chain stores.

A grant of $87,500 from the National Association of Food Chains was announced jointly Oct. 11 by Dean Herman J. Wyngarden of the MSC School of Business and Public Service, under whose supervision the program will be conducted; and John A. Logan, Washington, D. C., president of the NAFC.

First Program of Its Type

Michigan State will receive $17,500 annually for a five-year period, and the program, the first of its type in the nation, is expected to begin Jan. 3, 1950, Dr. Wyngarden said.

The agreement will launch a program of undergraduate and graduate studies leading to a master's degree in food distribution. A special director will be named by the college to operate the curriculum within the School of Business and Public Service.

Graduate Program To Be Set Up

Dr. Wyngarden said the program will utilize certain courses already offered in the business administration department. Others will be expanded and graduate courses will be set up to provide advanced work in management, marketing, finance, and accounting.

Another phase of the program will provide in-service training for outstanding employees of chain stores, with a companion fellowship program financed by individual chains to send employees to Michigan State for special training.

Approximately 25 scholarships are expected to be awarded annually.

Engineers Meet at MSC

"Reduced production costs" was the theme of Michigan State College's first annual Industrial Engineering Conference, held in September.

Seventy persons representing 41 companies in the U. S., Canada and Finland, met with 26 prominent midwestern industrial leaders and educators to discuss methods for reducing costs and increasing production.

William L. Davidson Named To Head New MSC Fund-Raising Program

A permanent long-range fund raising program known as the Michigan State College Fund, has been created with William L. Davidson, '13, named as director.

The Fund will be patterned after similar programs now in effect at many of the nation's college's and universities. It will provide supplementary financial support to Michigan State College for scholarships, fellowships, research projects, and in other phases of academic development where sufficient funds are not available in the college's budget.

To Operate Under Alumni Office

The organization, which is to be operated under the Office of Alumni Relations, was effective with Davidson's appointment.

A 1913 graduate of Michigan State, Davidson has been connected with fund development work for a number of years in the American City Bureau of Chicago. While with the Bureau, he handled various college campaigns, the most recent being the Loyola University, Chicago, Fulfillment Fund. Davidson acted as regional fund director for the National Safety Council in 1944.

Demands for Service Increase

Davidson attributes the national trend for establishing such permanent fund-raising programs at state supported institutions to the steadily mounting demands for college services, both on campus and throughout the state, and the inability of state legislatures to increase appropriations accordingly.

"Indications point to continued demands in the form of Michigan youth wanting college educations and labor, agricultural, business and industrial groups who want special programs of continuing education. This fund program is expected to help Michigan State College satisfy as many of these needs as possible."

Student Fees Increase

Davidson pointed out that although state colleges formerly relied on state appropriations for most of their operating cost, the state's portion is becoming increasingly smaller. He cited the fact that although Michigan State College secured 64 per cent of its operating budget from the state 20 years ago, that figure stands at 53.8 per cent today. Other revenue sources include student fees, which have jumped from 16.9 per cent of the total budget in 1929 to 38.7 per cent today, federal grants, gifts, athletic fees and others.

Thousands Attend 33rd Annual Homecoming Day

A crowd of more than 45,000 jammed the Michigan State College campus Oct. 21-22 to take part in the college's 33rd annual Homecoming Day festivities.

Of this number, over 8,000 were former students and graduates who returned to renew old friendships, engage in a host of social activities, and witness the MSC-Penn State football clash.

Many Alumni Arrive Friday

Many alumni were in East Lansing early Friday for registration, banquets and meetings in the new Student Union, East Lansing and Lansing.

Others arrived in time to join with some 3,500 ardent students who formed at the bandshell Friday evening to take part in the traditional Homecoming pep rally. A huge bonfire, marches by MSC's crack military band, songs and group cheering set the stage and greeted Coach "Biggie" Munn and team members who later addressed the high-spirited gathering.

Alums Have Full Schedule

Saturday was filled with pre-game dinners and get-togethers sponsored by various departments, living groups and student organizations. Following the game was the annual meeting of alumni on the playing field where grads grouped around large class banners and talked over old times with former classmates.

Alums re-entered the social whirl and attended open houses and buffet dinners at dorms, co-op houses and fraternity and sorority houses. Later, alums climaxed their busy day by attending various dances held at many points around the campus. Highlight of the evening was the annual Homecoming Ball held in the College auditorium.

THE AFFAIRS OF STATE

ENROLLMENT

A total of 16,079 students, an all-time record, enrolled in regular classes at Michigan State College for the 1949 fall term.

This is 193 higher than the 15,886 recorded at the same time last year, when MSC ranked as the 12th largest educational institution of the nation in full-time enrollment.

Another 164 students enrolled Oct. 24 for Michigan State's program of agricultural short courses, bringing the final fall enrollment of all students to 16,243. Last year's final enrollment reached 16,010.

The 16,079 total consists of 11,889 men and 4,190 women. Veterans number 7,192, marking the first time since the war that veterans have been in the minority with the beginning of a college year at MSC.

New students numbered 4,268, approximately the same as 1948, and this included 2,703 men and 1,565 women. Of this new student total, only 945 are veterans and 2,884 are first quarter freshmen, having never attended any college previously.

Another enrollment record was achieved in MSC's ROTC unit, not only in total students enrolled, but also in the number of students seeking reserve and regular commissions in the U. S. Army and Air Force. ROTC enrollment totals 2,942 in comparison with 2,547 recorded last year, according to Capt. John Johns, public information officer.

More significant, however, in that military training is required for the first two years at all land-grant colleges, is the 20 percent rise in number of students seeking regular and reserve commissions in a full four-year program. A total of 635 are enrolled, compared to the previous high of 529 reached last year.

Cemented Relations

In spite of a full round of curricular and social activities this fall, students still found time to invent some of their own.

High point came during the evenings preceding the MSC-U of M football game, Sept. 24 when converging forces from both sides infiltrated into enemy territory to paint the opponent's campus red, and maize, and blue, and green, and white. One large white "S" was still visible on the UM gridiron when the Wolverines chalked up to 7-3 victory over the Spartans.

One segment of the Green and White invaders came up with the prize of pranks. A dozen or so "anonymous" Spartans were going to build a wall, not just an ordinary wall, but one which, when completed, would cement the hallowed arch of the University's Engineering Quadrangle. They had practiced on their masterpiece so it could be erected in seven minutes flat.

This they proved beyond a shadow of a doubt when they constructed their wall in the prescribed time in front of Ann Arbor's city hall for members of the local police force who apprehended them.

No, they didn't close the Engineering Quad, they were nabbed before they could get started. Nor did they get off scot free. On social probation for the rest of the term, the junior engineers must rest on a memory that they had executed a prank which made even veteran Ann Arbor police officers chortle.

Gifts and Grants

A total of $115,473.07 in gifts and grants has been received for Michigan State College by the State Board of Agriculture, college governing body, during September and October meetings.

The largest grant was $87,500 from the National Association of Food Chains, Washington, D. C. (See story on page 2.)

Gifts and grants were earmarked for scholarships and specified research projects using Michigan State College facilities and personnel.

A $5,000 gift from the will of Oscar David Morrill, of Ann Arbor, will be used to set up a loan fund to aid worthy students. The will specified that first consideration be given to Washtenaw county students and students whose preliminary training was in rural communities.

Harry L. Caulkins, Detroit, gave $5,000 to be used as an aid to worthy agricultural students.

Research projects launched with funds granted the college will include studies in the fields of social service, botany, animal nutrition, vitamin chemistry, and elevator and farm supply. Other scholarship grants were also received.

An Apple a Day

"Have an apple and vote for Ford" was the gist of a successful campaign that helped make Mark Ford, of Ann Arbor, freshman class president. Ford gave 20 bushels of apples to students while campaigning during the annual frosh elections Oct. 27.

Ford, in his first term at MSC, garnered 447 votes out of the 773 ballots cast to defeat his nearest rival, Jim Furstenberg, of Saginaw.

Also elected to serve with him were Don Hosie, South Wales, N. Y., vice-president; Donna McMahon, Lansing, secretary; and Sally Gibson, Ann Arbor, treasurer.

Student Affairs

Reigning queen over some 45,000 students, alumni and Spartan fans at Michigan State College's 33rd annual Homecoming, was pretty, 19-year-old Marilyn E. Sumner of Detroit.

She was selected by student leaders of MSC's football opponent, Penn State, from a group of 31 original candidates. Miss Sumner, a sophomore, is majoring in education at MSC.

Serving as her court of honor were finalists Lorrie Boone, Detroit senior; Charmaine Chinnow, Grand Rapids senior; Beverly Crain, Ferndale sophomore; and Joann Harbaugh, Lansing junior.

Fraternity and sorority members comprised an anxious group during the first half of the MSC-Penn State football game. Half-time calmed their nerves, however, when announcement was made of the Homecoming display winners. Judges selected Theta Chi's theme as best among fraternity displays, and Alpha Chi Omega took top sorority honors.

Enthusiasm and school spirit is perpetually high during Homecoming festivities, but Friday evening it became more boisterous than ever after some 500 over-zealous students broke away from the scheduled Student Council pep rally. They snake danced up and down Grand River Ave., halting traffic and rocking vehicles. Tiring of the open road, students paraded through a nearby girls' dormitory, burst into the local cinema, and ended their excursion by invading and halting for 10 minutes the annual East Lansing High School homecoming football game.

The parade of some 16 campus beauties got under way in October with the selection of Miss Patricia Martin, Grosse Pointe freshman, as Harvest Queen. She was the first, but certainly not the last. Still to come were the Homecoming Queen, Quonset Queen, Mardi Gras Queen and more than a dozen others.

Other students in the news this fall were Kenneth Goodrich, Lansing senior, who had been elected master councillor of the Order of DeMolay in Michigan; and Jean Cotter, 19, Detroit sophomore, who was named Detroit's Miss D.S.R. for September.

Death claimed Donald A. Erber, 25, business administration senior from Boyne City, who succumbed Sept. 28 in the MSC Health Center of lobar pneumonia. Doctors reported that Erber was in critical condition when he entered the hospital two days before his death.

ized by the Spartan Wives of MSC. According to Frances Shields, president of the club, the bureau will list all sorts of workers from baby sitters to nurses, from typists to teachers.

A Far Eastern Touch

Students at Michigan State are getting a touch of the exotic Far East this fall. Hindi, one of the major languages of modern India, is being taught for the first time on the East Lansing campus.

Dr. Herman Thornton, head of the MSC foreign language department, said that Michigan State is one of the few universities in the nation teaching the language. The course is designed primarily for the American students in such fields as geology and engineering, who expect to work in the Far East after graduation.

On The Cover . . .

Is right halfback Lynn Chandnois, whose brilliant play on the gridiron this year made him one of the nation's top candidates for All-American honors. A flashy, break-away runner, the 6-foot-2 inch, 196 pounder from Flint has averaged 6.5 yards per try in rushing during his four years with the Spartans. This ground gaining ability, added to his brilliant line backing and defensive play, ranks Chandnois with the best of Michigan State College's all-time football greats.

Faculty Affairs

Faculty members continued to make the news during the fall quarter with publication of new books and appointments to high positions in state and national professional organizations.

Prof. Clyde M. Campbell, director of teacher placement at MSC, was elected president of the Professors of Educational Administration Organization at a national conference at Battle Creek in September. Dr. Campbell will also edit the organization's annual publication.

Another president at Michigan State is Prof. J. Donald Phillips, head of the Department of Adult Education, who was named to head the Michigan Rehabilitation Association at its fourth annual meeting in Jackson, Oct. 3.

Publication of a new biography of the life of Silas Wright by Dr. John A. Garraty, of the MSC history department, was also announced in October. A member of the faculty for the past year, Dr. Garraty in his book traces Wright's political career in New York and his development as a statesman on the national scene.

World politics courses at Michigan State took on a strong flavor of "eye witness" reporting as two professors returned from top year-long assignments with the U. S. Government.

They are Dr. Milton E. Muelder, who returned from Germany where he served for a year as deputy director of the education and cultural relations division of the U. S. Office of Military Government; and Dr. Carroll Hawkins, for the past year chief of the political activities branch of the Office of Intelligence Research in the U. S. Department of State, Washington, D. C. Dr. Muelder is head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, and Dr. Hawkins is a member of the department.

A recently retired faculty member who had taught at Michigan State College for 30 years, in September joined the faculty of Clarkson College of Technology, Potsdam, N. Y. He is Prof. Chester Allen, who retired in June as head of the MSC Department of Civil Engineering.

"Cardboard Bossy" Plays Major Role In Lecture Hall and Scholarship Fund

By JOHN FITZGERALD

A cardboard cow and a ready wit are the simple things that have helped establish scholarships at Michigan State College to honor one of MSC's all-time campus greats.

J. G. Hays, extension dairyman at MSC, uses these things to aid the scholarship fund begun by friends as a memorial to his son, James G. Hays, III, who graduated in 1938 and died in November 1941. Young Hays' college activities included president of the Student Council, head cheerleader, founder of the Spartan magazine, membership in Blue Key, Excalibur, Varsity Club, president of the Press Club, and Phi Delta Theta.

Following his graduation, he worked until 1940 when ill health forced his resignation. He went to California in 1941 for treatments of the rare, incurable "Hodgkins Disease."

Jimmy's passing in 1941 did not end his influence on the campus, however. A memorial scholarship, bearing his name, is now available for needy students regardless of classification.

Lecture Proceeds Support Fund

Funds for the scholarship have come largely from lecture proceeds deposited by his father. In 1942, Hays started donating returns from his lecture appearances to the memorial scholarship fund. Friends, alumni, and campus organizations have also aided and the total now stands at approximately $5,000.

The Hays "dairy cow" lecture has become a standby with audiences in all parts of the United States. County agricultural agents or officers of agricultural groups, if asked about the best entertainment for rural or city gatherings would likely say, "Why, Jim Hays and his cow."

In more than 20 years he has delivered his lecture on bovine architecture over 600 times to thousands of people. Bossy isn't the most impressive cow on earth, but she never fails to draw a laugh.

WKAR Program Schedules

Available to MSC Alumni

Returns from a recent questionnaire sent out by the college radio stations WKAR and WKAR-FM indicates that many alumni would like to receive the monthly program bulletin of the stations.

Alumni wishing to receive the program bulletin may send a card requesting this service to Radio Station WKAR, East Lansing.

JIM HAYS AND FRIEND

Various listed on the program as "The Wonders of the Dairy Cow," or "Improved Dairy Type," Hays takes the stage with his synthetic cow and begins a serious lecture on dairying. Following a few remarks about the model cow, the audience becomes aware that the model's charm lies not in her milk producing capacity but in her sense of humor.

Hays' lecture continues to be in great demand for banquets and service club meetings. As the audience laughs heartily at the comments on bovine life, they're not only getting enjoyment but are making it possible for some student to go to Michigan State College under the memorial scholarship.

Birt Darling's New Book Features MSC History

In his new book, "The City In The Forest," Birt Darling, well-known Lansing newspaperman, gives a new and up-to-date version of Michigan State College history.

Published by Stratford House, New York, the new volume traces MSC development from earliest beginnings in the middle 1900's to the institution's recent entry into the Big Ten Conference.

The book, a history of the city of Lansing, is a joint effort of numerous Lansing librarians, historians and owners of original source material. Important incidents, anecdotes and graphic profiles of important campus personalities are all recorded in the book's longest chapter.

Most of the historical facts for the MSC section of the book were gathered by Madison Kuhn, college historian.

First Insurance Clinics Attract 700 in Michigan

Michigan State College's first series of regional insurance clinics proved so successful that a similar program is being planned for this winter, according to Carl Strong, coordinator of insurance training at MSC, and director of the program.

More than 700 insurance men from all over Michigan attended the clinics held in 11 Michigan cities during the month of October. The series was the first of its kind to be conducted in Michigan, Strong said.

Training sessions were devoted to three specific fields of insurance work, including workmen's compensation, business interruption insurance and assigned risk.

Thirteen top-flight insurance agents and educators served as faculty for the clinics which were held in Marquette, Traverse City, Alpena, Saginaw, Flint, Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson, St. Joseph, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

Organizations cooperating in this new venture were the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents; local insurance organizations; Michigan Department of Insurance; Michigan Department of Public Instruction; Northern Michigan College of Education, Wayne University and the University of Michigan.

E. B. Hill Coordinates 13-State Farm Research

Coordination of research on vital farm programs at 13 land-grant colleges was begun recently by E. B. Hill, '15, professor of farm management at Michigan State College.

The work is being done at the request of the North Central Regional Land Tenure committee, sponsored by the Farm Foundation, Chicago.

The regional study will emphasize succession in farming with special attention paid to father and son partnerships, and transfer of farms from one generation to the next.

Publications resulting from the study will give farmers the benefits of research in 13 north central states and will be aimed at greater effectiveness in farm succession.

Future Leaders of Iraq and Iran Enroll at MSC for Special Training

By DON HOENSHELL, '50

Two tiny countries, riding the crest of a new prosperity with the discovery of vast oil reserves under barren deserts, are training their leaders of the future at Michigan State College.

Iraq and Iran, nations which have lived on the fringes of the desert wastes for centuries, are sending 26 selected students to the United States to learn science and new ideas in the art of living. Seventeen of these students had arrived by Oct. 26 to take their places with the more than 300 other foreign students at MSC.

Will Learn Modern Methods

Both countries have arranged lush subsidies for students here—students who will return to their countries to lead the rehabilitation of agriculture with irrigation, new veterinary techniques, and latest developments in many scientific fields.

"They enroll for highly practical courses at Michigan State," said Dr. A. T. Cordray, counselor for foreign students. "They are selected by their governments to study areas which will be most helpful when they return."

Outstanding Program Available

With the oil boom, the two countries for the first time have capital to improve their standards of living. Education was one of the first goals, Dr. Cordray said. Practical applications of principals that have been denied Iraq and Iran will come next, he said.

Government subsidies for students from Iraq and Iran are "generous," Dr.

Cordray said. However, with a heavy British influence in both countries, students expect to feel the pinch of the devaluated pound, he said.

Michigan State College has an outstanding extra-curricular program for foreign students, and from which the students should gain valuable "know-hows" of the American way of life. They are provided American roommates, taken on instructional visits of United States cities and institutions, and have a club in which members are from every nation represented on the campus.

Death Takes Hidden Lake Gardens Superintendent

Dr. Earl I. Wilde, 61, superintendent of Michigan State College's Hidden Lake Gardens at Tipton, died Sept. 29 at Tecumseh, following a brief illness.

Dr. Wilde was appointed to the position of superintendent last January, after 36 years of teaching and experimental work at Pennsylvania State College. While at Penn State, he gained wide recognition for his studies of roses and other ornamental plants.

As superintendent Dr. Wilde was engaged in an extensive program of planting, planned to make the Hidden Lake Gardens one of the major horticultural projects in southern Michigan.

Moose and Natural Setting Selected At Isle Royale for Museum Exhibit

A two-week moose-hunting expedition to Isle Royale national park, located in the northwest corner of Lake Superior, was completed by members of the Michigan State College museum staff in early October.

Under the direction of Prof. Joseph W. Stack, museum head, the expedition bagged four moose for a museum habitat group. Actual construction of the exhibit will be done at the college, although much research in botanical life, life-size measurements of the animals and background was done on Isle Royale.

Moose at Numerical Peak

While on the trip, Prof. Stack came up with some interesting observations concerning the moose situation in Michigan. He believes that Isle Royale moose have reached their numerical peak, estimating that "800 or less" inhabit the island. Prof. Stack arrived at this figure through

Hannah Says Colleges Face Financial Crisis

Michigan State's Pres. John A. Hannah told the nation's top educators last month that all publicly-supported colleges and universities face a "serious financial crisis" that threatens to destroy equality of educational opportunity in the U. S.

Dr. Hannah spoke at the annual convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities Oct. 25 on "Nor Lose the Common Touch." Dr. Hannah, president of the association for the past year, will serve as chairman of the executive committee for the coming year.

Students' Fees On Increase

The crisis, he said, was dwindling state support, which was transferring the financial burden of college educations to the individual college student.

"The states contributed 42.5 percent of the total income for land-grant universities in 1945-46, but only 40.3 percent last year. Meanwhile, the percentage of contribution from student fees increased from 12.3 percent in 1945-46 to 30.4 percent last year," Dr. Hannah said.

He added that in 20 years, state support of Michigan's colleges had dropped 35 percent while the national decrease was only 14 percent.

To arrest this crisis, Dr. Hannah called for stricter economy measures and strong spokesmen who will sell public-education to the "far corners of the nation."

MSC's Virgil Scott Wins Ohioana Medal

Virgil Scott, assistant professor of English at Michigan State College, has been awarded the 1949 Ohioana medal for "The Hickory Stick," his controversial novel dealing with small town school systems.

An annual award of the Martha K. Cooper Ohioana Library Association to the native Ohioan who has written the outstanding novel of the year, last year's award went to Ben Ames Williams for his "House Divided."

Scott, who came to MSC in 1947 after teaching at Ohio State and Minnesota, is also author of "The Dead Tree Gives No Shelter," written in 1947.

talks with Isle Royale natives and from data compiled from an airplane count made by the Fish and Wildlife Service. Prof. Stack said that evidence of overbrowsing indicates the huge animals may have become too numerous for the available food supply.

Will Make Habitat Group

The director and his staff will attempt to reproduce a realistic exhibit showing the modeled animals in their natural Isle Royale surroundings—"a job which may take three years."

To get authentic information for details of the museum display, the hunting party included Mary Catherine Ellsworth, museum botanist and technician; John W. Hope, artist and museum technician; Floyd A. Trumppower, field assistant; and Robert Bartlett, MSC forestry graduate.

1949 Spartans Bid for Top Gridiron Honors

As the 1949 football season neared its end, Michigan State's Fighting Spartans had their sights on two coveted prizes—one was to close the year as a member of the select circle of the nation's top ten teams and another was to cop at least one All-American title.

The Spartans, shooting for a 7-2 record, had gained tremendous prestige in losing to two of the nation's great gridiron powers—Michigan and Notre Dame. In the season's opener, MSC fought the Wolverines to a standstill but lost 7-3, and then swept to five consecutive victories over Marquette, 48-7; Maryland, 14-7; William and Mary, 42-13; Penn State, 24-0; and Temple, 62-14.

Lose to Notre Dame 34-21

Then came the Notre Dame game, which saw the Spartans battle the Irish on almost even terms for the first half, which ended with Notre Dame leading 14-7. The Spartan regulars sagged in the last half as the South Benders tallied three times before MSC made a determined bid. In the waning minutes, Quarterback Gene Glick, passing to Ends Bob Carey and Dorne Dibble, tallied twice on beautiful pass plays to the rousing applause of 51,000 spectators at Macklin Field.

Superlative play by a group of backs headed by Lynn Chandnois, one of the Midwest's leading All-American candidates, outstanding defensive and offensive work of another great line, spearheaded by guards Ed Bagdon and Don Mason, provided the keys to Michigan State's outstanding record.

Chandnois Is Standout

In the Homecoming game against Penn State, Chandnois was a brilliant star in making a 60-yard touchdown run, personally stopping two Penn State scores with timely tackles and pass interceptions, and led all ground gainers with 107 yards on 16 tries. His play against Temple, when he scored two touchdowns and gained 149 yards on 13 tries, was rewarded with the United Press award as the Midwest's "player of the week." Against Notre Dame, "Chad" was held to 3.8 yards per try, but intercepted one Notre Dame pass and got off the longest run of the game, 83 yards, after taking a pass from Glick.

Several sophomore stars had risen to take places with MSC's stars. Chief among these were big Bob Carey, called by newsmen "one of the best pass-catching ends ever to play for the Spartans"; Al Dorow, who filled in superbly after injuries to Glick and Bob Ciolek; and tackle Don Coleman, who has received national acclaim for consistent and bruising play.

CAPTAIN HAL VOGLER: Sideline by a neck injury in pre-season practice, he remains a key figure in Spartan football fortunes.

Injured Spartan Captain Sparks Team From Bench

Capt. Hal Vogler, sidelined for the season a couple of weeks before the Michigan opener because of a neck injury, is playing a harder game of football these days than he ever did on the gridiron itself.

Vogler is still the captain, and more than in name only. He attends every practice session, frequently in uniform, attends to the coin-tossing duties at mid-field before each game, and acts as spiritual leader for his men from the bench and up and down the sidelines.

The first greeting a Spartan gets coming out of the game is a hearty hand clasp from this great captain and a pat on the back; the last before he goes into the game is a word of encouragement and another slap on the back.

Don Mason and Ed Bagdon, senior stalwarts at the guard positions, are field captains for the season.

Kircher Readies Spartan Hoopsters For Rugged 24-Game Basketball Sked

Six veterans and a host of promising newcomers hold the key to Michigan State College's success in basketball in the 1949-50 season.

Spartan mentor Al Kircher, beginning his first year as head coach, has had his charges working out for six weeks in preparation for the Dec. 3 opener against Michigan in Jenison Fieldhouse.

Among the returning lettermen available for a rugged 22-game schedule are Bill Rapchak, Whiting, Ind. senior, last year's leading scorer; Ray Steffen, Flint junior; Robert Robbins, Belflower, Cal. senior; Jim Snodgrass, Pierceton, Ind. junior; Hugh Dawson, Gary, Ind. senior; and Leon Hess, Auburn, Ind. senior.

Feature of the 22-game card is the new Spartan Basketball Classic, double header attractions Dec. 28-29. Wednesday's bill pits Ohio State against Cornell, and MSC against Harvard. The following night Ohio State faces Harvard, while the Spartans meet Cornell.

The regular schedule boasts 10 games against eight Western Conference foes, with Illinois the only Big Ten rival not listed. Thirteen games will be played at home and nine on the road.

Several promising sophomores will be available for the first time. Top candidates include Dan Smith, a forward from Gary, Ind.; Gordon Stauffer, Ft. Wayne, Ind. guard; Sonny Means, Saginaw forward; Al Cummins, transfer from Kentucky; and Bob Carey, 6 foot 4 inch center from Charlevoix and star end on the Spartan football team.

The home schedule is: Michigan, Dec. 3; Indiana, Dec. 10; Missouri, Dec. 17; Georgia Tech, Dec. 22; Spartan Basketball Classic, Dec. 28-29; Notre Dame, Jan. 7; Minnesota, Jan. 23; Western Reserve, Jan. 31; Wisconsin, Feb. 6; Detroit, Feb. 14; and Wayne, Feb. 17. Games away will be: Iowa, Dec. 5; Northwestern, Dec. 23; Indiana, Jan. 2; Detroit, Jan. 9; Purdue, Feb. 4; Ohio State, Feb. 11; Michigan, Feb. 20; Marquette, Feb. 25.

Spartan Mentors Pleased With 1950 Grid Material

Who are the players who will be making football headlines at Michigan State two or three years from now?

From more than 200 hopefuls in training under Freshman Coach Bob Flora, Spartan mentors are seeking the answer.

McCauliffe Heads List

Heading the freshman list is Don McCauliffe, a transfer from the U. S. Naval Academy, and one of the most publicized backs in Middle history. A Chicago lad, McCauliffe has impressed Spartan coaches and is almost certain to see much game service a year hence.

Help in the line may be forthcoming from Dean Thomas, a 220-pound tackle who came to MSC after a brief career at Notre Dame. Thomas, also from Chicago, is a definite prospect for the future.

Others mentioned by coaches for their fine play include: End Ed Luke, of Flint; Guard Frank Kush, Windber, Pa.; Doug Weaver, center from Goshen, Ind.; Dick Panin, right halfback, Detroit; left halfbacks Willie Thrower, New Kensington, Pa., and John Wilson, Lapeer.

Additional backfield help will come from Wayne Benson, Joliet, Ill., fullback, and Vince Pisano, another New Kensington, Pa., prep star. At quarterback, Leo Boyd of Saginaw heads the list of candidates.

Harriers Out to Win Second Triple Crown

Coach Karl Schlademan's cross country team started off the fall season as if defending its triple crown won last season would be a routine chore.

The Spartan harriers walloped a good Purdue team 19 to 44 and beat Penn State 22-35. Warren Dreutzler, who profited greatly by his European tour with the National AAU team this summer, set a new Purdue course record of 21:50:6 for the rugged four-mile course. His time was 18 seconds below the old mark.

A Boilermaker finished second, but right on his heels came five Spartan runners, indicating just what kind of team strength opposing teams will have to combat. They were recorded in this order: Don Makielski, Clark Atcheson, Bill Mack, Bob Sewell and Jack Dianetti.

Coach Schlademan said he expected most serious competition from Manhattan in the IC4A meet on Nov. 21, Wisconsin in the NCAA on Nov. 28, and Shanahan A.C., of Philadelphia, in the NAAU on Dec. 3.

Twelve Game Schedule Will Re-Open Hockey Competition At Michigan State

After a breach of 18 years, ice hockey is being resumed as the 13th intercollegiate sport at Michigan State College.

Coach Harold W. Paulsen, one of the all-time collegiate hockey greats and three-time All-American from the University of Minnesota, has been holding daily practice sessions since October to prepare a team for the home opener against Michigan Tech Jan. 12.

Swamped with Candidates

Paulsen came to the MSC campus last September, and immediately went to work laying the foundations for revival of the ice sport. As soon as the new $250,000 rink was completed in Demonstration Hall last March, he issued a call for players and was swamped with over 200 applications.

Paulsen

During spring term, daily workouts were held and the mammoth squad was finally whittled down to 25 men. This group now forms the nucleus of the roster from which Paulsen will pick his team for the season.

Shoot for Conference Title in 1951

Michigan State joins Minnesota and Michigan as the only members of the Western Conference to sponsor the sport. The Spartans will not be eligible for competition in the Big Ten title race, however, until the 1951 season.

Michigan State's 12-game schedule is a formidable one. The Spartans will be playing Michigan Tech, Michigan, Minnesota and North Dakota, rated last season as the "Big Four" in collegiate hockey.

Marquette Games Also Sought

The schedule follows: Michigan Tech at home Jan. 12-13; Minnesota, away, Jan. 20-21; Michigan Tech, away, Feb. 3-4; North Dakota at home Feb. 10-11; Minnesota at home Feb. 17-18; Michigan at home Feb. 22; and Michigan, away, March 10.

In addition to the four teams named, the MSC athletic council is awaiting word from Marquette University, an old Spartan rival, who is expected to enter the schedule for four games.

Davey Scores as Pro

Chuck Davey, a four-year national collegiate boxing champion at Michigan State College, is making the headlines again in professional circles. The classy welterweight has knocked out two opponents since joining the pro ranks this fall. His latest victory came Nov. 1 in Detroit when he kayoed Mike "Kid" Silva of Detroit in the second round of a scheduled five-rounder.

FOLLOWING ALUMNI CLUBS

By Tom King

Alumni Relations Office, was on hand to assist in organizational planning.

Livingston Club Meets

Square dancing was the highlight of a get-together of Livingston MSC alumni held at Walden Woods in Hartland. More than 30 couples danced to the music of the Jo Finlan Orchestra. Caller for the evening was Riby Holmes, '40, and co-chairmen of the party were Ralph Rose, '38, and Margaret Stewart, '43.

Forty members of the Grosse Pointe MSC Alumni Club met for a dinner-meeting and to see movies of the MSC-Marquette football tilt Oct. 12. The movies were narrated by Howard Worthington, of the Alumni Relations Office, and Tom Crowley, '47, was in charge of the program.

Other Clubs Organize

Plans for organization of a Menominee, Delta and Dickinson County Alumni Club were made by 25 MSC alums Aug. 24 in Escanaba. Dr. Gardner Eversole, '34, presided over the meeting, and the group appointed a committee to name officers and complete organizational plans. Chosen were Emil Larson, '40; Mrs. Robert Smith; Mrs. Harold Eldred, '32; Dr. Eversole; Melvin Nyquist, '39; and William Fernstrom, '49. Art Aronson, '21, was named chairman of the committee.

Detroit Club Holds Dance

Older MSC clubs got rapidly into the fall swing of things, scheduling football movies of State games and holding numerous busts and outings where they could discuss the state of the Spartans' 1949 football machine.

In Detroit following the traditional MSC-Michigan football classic, Sept. 24, the Michigan State College Alumni Club of Detroit held its annual "after-the-game dance" in the grand ballroom of the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Approximately 175 couples representing clubs from all over the state attended the affair, Ray Gorrell and his orchestra provided music for the dance, under the chairmanship of George Culp, '33.

Spartan alumni and enthusiasts also enjoyed being served at the game by fellow-enthusiasts and friends who set up a refreshment stand at the stadium.

They were members of the Washtenaw Alumni Club, who make it an annual tradition each year to serve fellow Spartan rooters with that good half-time cup of coffee or bottle of soda pop.

The Detroit club also held two other meetings, beginning its fall program with a Kickoff Dinner for Press and Radio at the Penobscot Club Sept. 17. Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn and his staff were on hand to give informal comments on MSC's 1949 football prospects. Detroit's top sports writers and radio men attended the banquet. Co-chairmen for the event were Bob Dodge, '46; Harold Marsh, '28. This meeting was followed by a stag smoker attended by approximately 300 alumni.

On Oct. 6 the club also met to see pictures of the U. of M.-MSC football game. Plans were started for the club's second annual football bust to be held at the Book-Cadillac Hotel Dec. 10. The entire Spartan football team and coaching staff will be guests of the club, and senior varsity members will receive MSC finger rings as gifts. Former Spartan football great Dick Colina, '36, will be chairman of the event.

Banquet in Bay City

Another annual pre-football banquet was held in Bay City where 55 members of the Bay County Alumni Club met Sept. 20 at White Birch Hills Country Club. Bob Barron, '48, was chairman of the affair which featured a buffet supper and an evening of dancing.

Two Meetings in Flint

Both alumnae and alumni met in Flint, Sept. 11 and Sept. 29 respectively.

Michigan State College and its facilities was the topic discussed by Mabel Peterson, assistant counselor for women of the college, when she met with 60 women at a tea held in the home of Mrs. Frank Ware, and her daughter, Virginia, a student at MSC.

Purpose of the meeting was to give prospective students information about Michigan State, and 35 girls from Flint, Davison, Clio, Mt. Morris and Swartz Creek with MSC as their destination, attended. They were presented with corsages of white glads tied with green ribbons, and 1949-50 yearbooks of the MSC Alumnae League of Flint.

The committee in charge of the affair included Mrs. Ed Walton, '46; Mrs.

Michigan State College's network of alumni clubs shifted into high gear during the fall months, and kept popular campus speakers busy attending football busts, organizational meetings and banquets all over the state. Standard equipment was the motion picture projector and screen, which enabled alumni who couldn't attend MSC football games to watch the green and white in action. Fall was also the season for electing new officers, and also saw the organization of a number of new clubs.

MICHIGAN CLUBS

New Clubs Form

A new alumni club, consisting of 30 members from Ontonagon and Gogebic counties, was formed Aug. 23 in Ironwood. At a second meeting, held Oct. 4, members elected William J. Helli, '23, president; Charles Gotta, '33, vice-president; Andy F. Bednar, '38, secretary; and Mrs. Grace Fell, treasurer. Elected directors were Mrs. Dorothy DeRubeis, '31; John Moilanen, '33; Mrs. Louis Hermel, '37; and Victor Dayharsh, '24.

At the second meeting, members met at the St. James Hotel for a dinner of fried chicken followed by a business meeting and motion pictures of the Michigan-Michigan State football tussle.

A second new club was formed Aug. 25 at Marquette, to be known as the MSC Alumni Club of Marquette, Alger and Schoolcraft Counties. Alumni Director Tom King showed the new color motion picture of Michigan State, released this summer. Twenty-nine members of the club elected Donald Zettle, '35, president; Harold Heathmen, '23, vice-president; and John Biekkola, '34, secretary-treasurer. Elected directors were Seymour Okun, '43; John Kelly, '29; Clifford Liberty, '34; and Russell Horwood, '26.

More than 100 Michigan State alumni met in Wyandotte Oct. 11 to organize a Down River Chapter and to see movies of the Spartan football team in action. Wes Showalter, '43, and H. Lyle Lyon, '29, were temporary co-chairmen of the meeting, and George Guerre, of the Michael Zimmer, '43; Mrs. Robert Lewis, '36; Mrs. Robert Stonecliff, '35; Mrs. Harry Hoelzle, '42; Mrs. Webb Glowney, '41; Mrs. Frank Johnson, '41; Mrs. Robert Chase; and Miss Mary Lou Miller, '42.

First Flint showing of the University of Michigan-Michigan State football game movies was viewed by 50 members of the Flint alumni group at its club smoker.

Meet in Muskegon

Muskegon MSC grads, 200 strong, met Oct. 4 to see pictures of the Marquette-Michigan State football game. Announcement was made that movies of MSC games are to be shown every two weeks at the Muskegon Heights High School. Howard Worthington was guest speaker at the meeting, which was organized by Chuck Gomery, w'46.

Movies of the Marquette-MSC tussle were also shown at a meeting of the Plymouth Alumni Club Oct. 6. George Guerre was guest speaker at the combination dinner-business meeting.

Banquet at East Tawas

Robert Linton, MSC registrar, was principal speaker at the annual banquet of the MSC Alumni Club of Iosco and Alcona counties, held Sept. 13 at East Tawas. The 69 members present saw the new MSC color movie of the East Lansing campus and older graduates who haven't seen their Alma Mater for some time, were much taken by the vastly enlarged school and its modern buildings.

Registrar Linton spoke on MSC's registration system and of the enrollment figures which have made the college twelfth largest in the nation.

Harold Clark, '24; Mrs. Don Anderson, '35; and Mrs. Elmer Kunze were in charge of the dinner and entertainment.

Movies of the MSC-U of M football tilt were shown Sept. 30 to 50 members of the MSC Alumni Club of Kalamazoo County at the Crystal Room of the Columbia Hotel in Kalamazoo. Alton Kinney, '41, was in charge of the affair.

Stag at Clark Lake

Members of the Jackson Alumni Club held a stag picnic Sept. 3 at Clark Lake for alumni, students and young men planning to attend MSC. The affair began at 1:30 p.m. and games, contests, swimming and a picnic lunch were the highlights of the afternoon.

In charge of the stag was G. K. Honsberger, '28. His committee included Emmett Greenwood, '23; Russell Hopkins, '45; Glen Collins, '17; Henry Larsen; Carl Topping, '23; and Frank Schmidt, '14, president.

Berrien County Rally

Another picnic, held late in August, was sponsored by the Berrien County Alumni Club. Fifty members started the event with an excursion on Lake Michigan on the SS City of Grand Rapids. This was followed by a picnic dinner at the Jean Klock park pavilion. Howard Worthington gave a brief talk and presented a recording of MSC's new alma mater song "MSC Shadows."

Dr. Edward Atwood, '45, was chairman of the picnic.

OUT-STATE CLUBS

Plan Western Tour

President John A. Hannah and Tom King, director of alumni relations, are completing an extensive round of meetings with MSC alumni clubs of the Far West. According to King, this is the first tour of western clubs to be made by college officials for many years, and initiates a series of similar excursions to other parts of the nation during the next year.

Purpose of the trip is to bring alumni together to talk over the affairs of MSC in recent years, many of whom have not been in touch with the school for many years.

"It is quite important," said King, "that our alumni understand the problems, policies and development of Michigan State in these years of growth and expansion since the war." Movies will be shown at the meetings of the Spartan football team in action, and the new motion picture released this summer showing scenes of the campus.

The trip includes meetings with MSC Alumni Club of Colorado, Denver, Nov. 9; the Portland, Ore. Club, Nov. 12; the MSC Alumni Club of Northern California, Nov. 16, at the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley; the Southern California group, Nov. 17, at the University Club in Los Angeles; and with the Tucson, Ariz. Club, Nov. 19.

New Georgia Club

An MSC Alumni Club of Atlanta, Ga., has recently been organized and met Oct. 15 for final planning sessions and drawing up of a constitution. Officers are to be elected in the near future. Nearly 45 MSC graduates, under the leadership of Mrs. Jack Crockford, '47, and Fred Alderman, '27, have been responsible for the formation of the club.

Elsewhere around the nation clubs met and discussed the usual fall topic, football, elected officers and planned for a winter round of parties, dances and get-togethers.

Death Comes to Two Noted MSC Alumni

Two prominent horticulturists, Durward Fisher, '12, and James J. Jakway, '86, died early in the fall at their respective homes in Takoma Park, Md., and Benton Harbor.

Mr. Fisher, a national authority in the field of horticultural science, was on the staff of the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture. He joined the bureau in 1912 and was stationed in Wenatchee, Wash., where his research studies on fruit diseases established him as a nationally prominent expert.

Fisher

In 1917 MSC conferred upon him the degree of Master of Horticulture, and in 1930 he became USDA's principal horticulturist, a position he held until his death Sept. 18. He is survived by his wife, Alida Dearborn Fisher, '12, a daughter, and two sons.

Jakway was State Board Member

James Jakway was one of Berrien county's most distinguished citizens, serving for 37 years as a member of the Berrien County Board of Supervisors. He was a member of the State Board of Agriculture from 1937 to 1943. Mr. Jakway was a former president of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, member of the Michigan Farm Security Administration, and served one term in the Michigan legislature in 1912.
