PROCESSIONAL

ACADEMIC PROCESSION — Williams

Michigan State University Band, Professor LEONARD FALCONE, Director

AMERICA — Smith

My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing:
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrims' pride,
From ev'ry mountainside
Let freedom ring!

INVOCATION

THE REVEREND WALLACE ROBERTSON, D.D.

Minister Peoples Church, East Lansing

ADDRESS

JOHN W. GARDNER, Ph.D., LL.D.

President, Carnegie Corporation of New York

CONFERRING OF DEGREES

JOHN A. HANNAH, D.Agr., LL.D., HH.D., L.H.D., D.Sc.

President, Michigan State University

ALMA MATER — Traynor

M.S.U., we love thy shadows
When twilight silence falls,
Flushing deep and softly paling
O'er ivy-covered halls.
Beneath the pines we'll gather
To give our faith so true,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

When from these scenes we wander
And twilight shadows fade,
Our mem'ry still will linger
Where light and shadows played.
In the evening oft we'll gather
And pledge our faith anew,
Sing our love for Alma Mater
And thy praises, M.S.U.

BENEDICTION

THE REVEREND WALLACE ROBERTSON, D.D.

RECESSIONAL

MUSIC FOR A CEREMONY — Morrissey

The audience is requested to remain seated while those in the procession are entering and leaving the stadium.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

The pageantry and color at commencement exercises reveal a record of academic achievement of the various individuals taking part in the exercises. The following brief description is given that the audience might more readily interpret such achievement.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, met at Columbia University to draft a code which would serve to regulate the design of gowns and hoods indicating the various degrees as well as the colors to indicate the various faculties. This code has been adopted by most of the colleges and universities in America and its use has made identification of scholastic honors an immediate activity.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors are made of black worsted material and have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters may be made either of black silk or black wool and have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. The arm goes through a slit, giving the appearance of short sleeves for the master's gown. Doctor's gowns are made of black silk and are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

Historical associations of color have been continued to signify the various faculties. Art and letters can be recognized by the white, taken from the traditional white fur trimming of the Oxford and Cambridge Bachelor of Arts hoods. Red, long traditional of the church, indicates theology. The royal purple of the King's court signifies law. The green of medicinal herbs immediately identifies a medical degree. Philosophy is signified by the color of wisdom and truth, blue. Because through research untold wealth has been released to the world, science is identified by golden yellow. Oxford pink indicates music and russet brown, the color of dress worn by ancient English foresters, indicates forestry.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the bachelors graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the leading land-grant universities and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in affording liberal and practical education for its students in a broad range of human endeavors.

MSU also serves people of the state, nation and world through its numerous research, extension and international programs.

Now in its 110th year, Michigan State has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the ten largest universities in the nation. It has approximately 2,500 staff members engaged in teaching, research and public service, 435 buildings, and 4,710 acres of land, including 1,440 acres in the campus and housing area and 420 more in planned development.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day — farming — MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of young people today. Michigan State now has the School for Advanced Graduate Studies and 11 colleges — Agriculture, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts, Education, Engineering, Home Economics, Natural Science, Social Science, Veterinary Medicine and the University College — which offer basic courses for all freshmen and sophomores. Nearly 200 areas of specialization are available to undergraduates; approximately 300 are offered for graduate students.

The Honors College, which enables superior students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. Among this year's freshmen were 195 Merit Scholars (149 sponsored by Michigan State University and 46 supported by other sponsors) or more than 12 per cent of the nation's total of this unusually select group.

One of the newest of many innovations in higher education made by Michigan State University is its coeducational-academic residence halls. Incorporation of classrooms and faculty offices with living, dining and recreational facilities has given these giant new dormitories a stimulating academic environment. Four of these residence halls are now occupied and two more will be opened in September. The academic-coeducational arrangement has worked so well that it will be carried one step further this fall when three of the six new residence halls will be reserved primarily for upper classmen. Each of these halls will be the center of curricular and noncurricular activities for a college, creating a "college within a college" atmosphere.

Today, more than 27,000 students attend the University at East Lansing. About 80 per cent are from Michigan, representing every section of the state. Students also come from every state in the nation and 90 foreign countries.

Looking to the future, Michigan State University is preparing for increasingly larger enrollments as the great number of children born after World War II reach college age. To meet this challenge MSU is revising curriculums and developing new teaching techniques through its Educational Development Project.

In the land-grant tradition it pioneered, Michigan State University is concerned with research and service as well as teaching.

All colleges and the Agricultural Experiment Station are engaged in a wide range of research. Some 1,600 individual projects are in progress. The University's research tools include the giant new Control Data 3600 Computer and a 50-million-volt cyclotron, which will begin operations this year. Facilities to be completed in 1964 include a $6 million chemistry building, a $5.2 million biochemistry laboratory, and an $862,000 psychology research building. A $4.7 million veterinary medicine building will be finished in 1965.

Through an agreement with the Atomic Energy Commissions, MSU will become a national center for basic research on plants and their reactions to radiation. Involved is construction of a $2 million building, a stage of about 90 persons and an annual budget of about $1 million when the program is fully underway.

Benefits of the University are brought to every county in Michigan by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Continuing Education Service. Their programs, on and off campus, provide a wide range of technical information and formal course work for hundreds of thousands of Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 50,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Michigan State University's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, Michigan State University maintains research and technical assistance projects at 13 educational institutions in Asia, Africa and Latin America. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

With more than a century of educational achievement behind it, Michigan State University continues to apply its academic and physical resources to the problems of today and the challenges of the future.

THE UNITED NATIONS FLAGS

HONORARY DEGREES

JOHN W. GARDNER

Your career as an educator, author, and foundation executive has been outstanding. Integrity, wisdom and dedication to the best traditions of American education have marked your uncommon success as teacher, scholar and administrator. As a writer and speaker you have given abundant evidence of your keen insights into many of the pressing problems of education and of your imaginative approach to their solutions. You have given an example of distinguished leadership as President of the Carnegie Corporation, but you have given freely of your time and energy to many civic duties also. You have supported with both words and deeds the cause of social service and human dignity. Because of the valuable contributions which you have made to the advancement of educational and cultural life in America, Michigan State University grants to you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

RALPH J. BUNCHE

Your distinguished career as an educator, social scientist and diplomat has brought you an international reputation. During your years with the Office of Strategic Services and the Department of State, you performed a variety of demanding tasks with a high degree of success. In the sensitive area of international affairs, where you have been entrusted with heavy responsibility with the United Nations, you have displayed the finest qualities of diplomacy and leadership. Your rise to eminence is an inspiring example of the achievements which are possible in our American environment for men of vision, courage and faith. Because of your deep loyalty to the principles of liberty and democracy, and the outstanding contributions which you have made to the advancement of free men both at home and abroad, Michigan State University confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

MAURICE J. DAY

Your record of achievement as a scientist, engineer and administrator has given you a distinguished reputation. As a specialist in chemistry and metallurgy you have made outstanding contributions to technological progress and operational efficiency in the steel industry. Not only have you demonstrated administrative leadership in responsible positions with private corporations, the Armour Research Foundation, and other organizations, but you have served this nation in such critical areas as the general strategy discussions of the Naval War College, and as a member of the Panel on Guided Missiles of the National Academy of Sciences. Because of your unusual accomplishments this University has already honored you with its Centennial Award and its Distinguished Alumnus Award. Today Michigan State University recognizes your continuing success in the advancement of man's scientific knowledge by granting to you the degree of Doctor of Engineering.

JAY L. LUSH

Your career in agricultural research has been marked by eminent achievement. As an educator, writer and research scientist you have demonstrated enthusiasm, intelligence and steadfast purpose. Your distinguished work in animal production and genetics has given you an international reputation and has brought you signal honors in Australia, Sweden, Brazil and other parts of the world. Your patient work in dairy production has had particularly important results in man's struggle to increase food supplies for all nations. Wherever your knowledge and leadership have been required, you have contributed to the success of professional organizations and international conferences. Because of your intellectual integrity, your devotion to scientific truth, and your advancement of knowledge, Michigan State University confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

Nominations for the award are submitted by the Alumni Advisory Council and local alumni clubs representing alumni throughout the United States. The awards committee of the Alumni Advisory Council recommends no more than five alumni to the Board of Trustees of the University for final action. The awards are presented each spring at Commencement. The chairman of the Alumni Advisory Council is John T. Hayes, Class of 1949.

Recipients of the awards for 1964 are:

J. JOSEPH CRANMORE

Class of 1935. Business Executive. Currently President of the Packaging Machinery Division of Crompton & Knowles Corporation. After graduation he worked with Kroger Grocery and Packaging Company as stores supervisor and chief internal auditor until 1938. From 1938 to 1941 he was with the Beechnut Packaging Company as regional sales manager. During 1941-1942 he was with the War Department on Procurement and Air Force Supplies. From 1942-46 he served with the United States Air Force in both the United States and European theaters. He joined American Machine and Foundry Company in 1947, where he held a number of administrative positions. From 1950-52 he was divisional sales manager; from 1952-57, corporate sales manager; 1957-59, general manager of the Lowerator Division. In 1959 he became vice president of the company, and in 1960 was named divisional vice president and general manager of the Lowerator Division. In September 1963 he resigned from the American Machine and Foundry Corporation to accept his present position as President of the Packaging Machinery Division of Crompton & Knowles Corporation. He has represented the United States in trade missions to Sweden, Germany and Austria. Is a member of the General Management Planning Council of the American Management Association. Served as an officer in the National Industrial Security Association and Defense Supply Association. Active in the Packaging Machinery Manufacturers Institute and Allied Products Institute. Currently vice chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Michigan State University Development Fund and formerly a president of the Michigan State University Alumni Club of Greater New York.

DORETTA SCHLAPHOFF HOFFMAN

Class of 1943, (M.S.). Educator. Author. Currently Dean of the College of Home Economics, Kansas State University. A native of Wabash, Nebraska, she attended the University of Nebraska, and received her bachelor of science degree with high distinction in 1941. Her master of science degree is from Michigan State University in 1943. Her doctor of philosophy degree is from Cornell University in 1949. She taught and conducted research in foods and nutrition at Michigan State University, the University of Arizona and the University of Nebraska, before becoming chairman of the Department of Home Economics at the University of Nebraska in 1950. She is nationally prominent in home economics circles, being the secretary of the resident instruction section, and a member of the executive committee of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities. She is presently chairman of the American Home Economics Association Public Relations Committee; councilor for the Kansas Home Economics Association; chairman of the Home Economics Administrators in the North Central Regional and Land Grant Universities; and a member of a nine-member work group that reviews State Experiment Stations' research programs in the general area of community, family and consumer research. She is the author of numerous articles which have appeared in periodicals in the fields of biochemistry, nutrition and home economics. She participated in the 10th International Congress of Home Economics in Paris the summer of 1963, and later spent more than a week visiting in the Soviet Union. During the fall semester of 1963, she was on leave to do post-doctoral work at Columbia University, including special research and writing in the areas of home economics and higher education.

THOMAS WALTER KIMEN, SR.

Class of 1935. Accountant. Executive. Currently Vice President R. R. Donnelley & Sons, Chicago. After graduation held various positions with the Cadillac Motor Division of General Motors Corporation in Detroit from 1935-1948. Became associated with Arthur Young & Company, Certified Public Accountants, Chicago, 1948, and directed their management services for midwestern and eastern clients. In 1949 became affiliated with R. R. Donnelley & Sons Company, the world's largest commercial printing company, and has held a number of administrative responsibilities with that organization. These include General Auditor, Corporate Controller, Director of Administration and Director of Management Services. He was elected Vice President in 1959, and has served in a general management capacity since that time. He is a member of the Financial Executives Institute, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, and the Chicago Association of Commerce. He is presently a member of the Development Fund Board of Trustees of Michigan State University.
