ACADEMIC COSTUME

The pageantry and color at commencement exercises reveal a record of academic achievement of the various individuals taking part in the exercises. The following brief description is given so that the audience may more readily interpret such achievement.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Commission, a group of leading American educators, met at Columbia University to draft a code which would serve to regulate the design of gowns and hoods indicating the various degrees as well as the colors to indicate the various faculties. This code has been adopted by most of the colleges and universities in America and its use has made identification of scholastic honors an immediate activity.

Three types of gowns are indicated by the code. Those worn by the bachelors have long, pointed sleeves. Those worn by masters have long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. The arm goes through a slit, giving the appearance of short sleeves for the master's gown. Doctor's gowns are faced with velvet. The sleeves are full, round and open with three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing of bars on the sleeves may be black or the same color as the binding of the hood.

Hoods are made of material identical with the gown and are lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. If the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hoods and indicates the department or faculty to which the degree pertains.

Historical associations of color have been continued to signify the various faculties. Arts and letters can be recognized by the white, taken from the traditional white fur trimming of the Oxford and Cambridge Bachelor of Arts hoods. Red, long traditional of the church, indicates theology. The royal purple of the King's court signifies law. The green of medicinal herbs immediately identifies a medical degree. Philosophy is signified by the color of wisdom and truth, blue. Because through research untold wealth has been released to the world, science is identified by golden yellow. Oxford pink indicates music, and russet brown, the color of dress worn by ancient English foresters, indicates forestry.

The color of the velvet of the hood is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture should be maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science.

At Michigan State University, it is customary to identify the bachelors graduating from the different departments of study by tassels of the official department color as established by the Intercollegiate Code.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University, one of the leading land-grant universities and the first agricultural college in America, strives for excellence in affording liberal and practical education for its students in a broad range of human endeavor.

MSU also serves people of the state, nation and world through its numerous research, extension and international programs.

Now in its 119th year, Michigan State University has grown from three buildings and six faculty members to one of the largest universities in the nation. It has more than 3,000 staff members engaged in teaching, research and public service, 431 buildings, and more than 5,000 acres of land of which 2,010 acres are in existing or planned campus development.

Founded in 1855 to educate youth for the major occupation of that day — farming — MSU has broadened its offerings to meet the educational needs of today. The University now has the School for Advanced Graduate Studies and 16 colleges — Agriculture and Natural Resources, Arts and Letters, Business, Communication Arts, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Human Medicine, James Madison, Justin S. Morrill, Lyman J. Briggs, Natural Science, Osteopathic Medicine, Social Science, Veterinary Medicine and the University College. Some 165 programs of instruction are available to undergraduates; 76 departments offer graduate studies.

The Honors College, which enables superior students to waive normal graduation requirements and undertake individual programs, attracts many of the nation's finest young scholars. Michigan State University also is a prominent sponsor of the National Merit Scholarship Program, comprised of an unusually select group of scholars.

One of the many innovations in higher education made by Michigan State University is its coeducational academic-residence halls. Incorporation of classrooms and faculty offices with living, dining and recreational facilities has given these giant dormitories, now nine in number, a stimulating academic environment. Each of these halls is the center of curricular and noncurricular activities, creating a "college within a college" atmosphere.

The "small college within the larger university" concept was introduced at MSU by the establishment of the Justin S. Morrill College, which offers a limited enrollment liberal education program with an international emphasis. The concept was expanded by the establishment and opening of the James Madison College and the Lyman J. Briggs College. James Madison offers a curriculum for the study of public policy problems within the framework of the social sciences and related disciplines. Lyman Briggs makes available a liberal curriculum for students especially interested in science and mathematics.

Today, more than 41,000 students attend the University at East Lansing. About 85 percent are from Michigan, representing every section of the state. Students also come from every state in the nation and 80 foreign countries.

In the land-grant tradition it pioneered, Michigan State University is concerned with research and service as well as teaching. All colleges and the Agricultural Experiment Station are engaged in a wide range of research. Approximately 2,000 individual projects are in process. The University's research tools include the Control Data 3600 and 6500 computers, a cyclotron of the sector-focused type capable of accelerating protons to 50 MeV (60,000 miles per second), and the MSU Observatory which houses a 24-inch reflecting telescope, a computer and related equipment. Modern facilities include the following buildings: chemistry, biochemistry, psychology research, veterinary medicine, plant science research, natural resources, food science, pesticide research, and Life Sciences I.

Through an agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission, MSU has become a national center for basic research on plants and their reactions to radiation; involved is a $2 million building, a staff of approximately 90 persons and an annual budget of approximately $1 million.

Benefits of the University are brought to every county in Michigan by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Continuing Education Service. Their programs, on and off campus, provide a wide range of technical information and formal course work for hundreds of thousands of Michigan citizens. The Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, one of the finest conference centers in the nation, annually hosts nearly 50,000 adults who come to the campus for some 600 conferences and other educational meetings.

Michigan State University's land-grant concept of service is international. Supported by grants from the federal government and private foundations, Michigan State University maintains research and educational assistance projects in Asia, Africa and Latin America. International projects have given many faculty members overseas experience, adding a new dimension to their teaching.

With more than a century of educational achievement behind it, Michigan State University continues to apply its academic and physical resources to the problems of today and the challenges of the future.

HONORARY DEGREES

ROBERT E. BROOKER

Your accomplishments over the past four decades as an industrialist and corporation executive have been exceptional. Because of your intelligence, energy and vision you have advanced through important positions with such major organizations as the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and the Whirlpool Corporation to your present situation as chairman of the Executive Committee of Marcor, Inc. All of the business organizations with which you have been associated have profited from your broad knowledge and your enlightened view of corporation management. These successful endeavors have been enriched by your unselfish services on behalf of civic and educational institutions. This University has benefited greatly from your lasting interest in its academic improvement, and particularly for your assistance in developing an extensive continuing education program in Benton Harbor. Because of your outstanding contributions to the advancement of American industry and to the economic and cultural welfare of your fellow citizens, Michigan State University is pleased to grant you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

KENNETH B. CLARK

During your distinguished career as a psychologist, educator and administrator, you have displayed not only the special insight of the social scientist, but also the compassion of the man dedicated to human welfare and racial harmony. Although your trenchant studies of human experience concern many segments of modern society, you have, through your books and your public service, had a profound impact on the lives of disadvantaged people in urban America. Your work and influence contributed importantly to the 1954 Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools. In addition to these activities, you have given generously of your time and energy to professional organizations and national educational programs. Your many years of provocative teaching at the City University of New York have been notable for the enthusiasm, integrity and meaningful interaction with people that identify all your endeavors. In recognition of your unusual accomplishments, your sustained faith in the dignity of mankind and your continuing devotion to humane values in our society, Michigan State University is pleased to grant you the degree of Doctor of Science.

HONORARY DEGREES

WALTER CRONKITE

Your career as a journalist and television news correspondent has been an uncommonly successful one. As a reporter and editor with Scripps-Howard newspapers and later as a United Press war correspondent during World War II, you carried out a variety of difficult assignments with characteristic energy and imagination. In such undertakings as your coverage of the Nuremberg war crimes trials and your exemplary work as a CBS television correspondent, you have had a pervasive influence on the standards of contemporary journalism. As managing editor of the CBS evening news, an enjoyable and informative program heard by millions of Americans, you continue to leave the mark of your keen judgment, journalistic skill and engaging personality. Whether as a correspondent, lecturer or magazine contributor, you have shown a penetrating insight into the meaning of human affairs and a constant concern for the cultural and social condition of the American people. Because of the important contributions which you have made to the advancement of your profession, and your devotion to the principle of intellectual freedom in a democracy, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

COY G. EKLUND

In the years since your graduation from Michigan State University, you have had a distinguished career as a business executive. Even before your graduation you had become an agent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and the initiative and resourcefulness demonstrated in your undergraduate days have remained an important asset in your continuing success. Through your imaginative and progressive leadership you have become president of Equitable, one of the largest life insurance companies in America. You have also given your enthusiastic support to many civic and cultural projects. As a member of the Board of Directors and chairman of the Finance Committee of the Americans for Indian Opportunity and as author of the first dictionary and instructional manual of the Chippewa language you have contributed importantly to the cultural welfare of the American Indian. You have also served with distinction in such various offices as president of the Michigan Reserve Officers Association and as a trustee of the Salk Institute. Your labors in behalf of this institution, as a founder of the Michigan State University Alumni Association and a trustee of the Development Fund, illustrate the loyalty, unselfish spirit and social responsibility which have marked all your undertakings. In recognition of your many contributions to the advancement of your alma mater and to the economic, social and cultural advancement of your fellow men, Michigan State University is pleased to award you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

MARION L. PATCH HILKER

Class of 1940. Vice President and advertising manager for the H. W. Gossard Company of Chicago, Illinois, Mrs. Hilker is the first woman in the company's history to attain this level in management. The company, which manufactures women's wear, is international in scope, and has operations throughout the United States, several European capitals and Cape Town, South Africa. Mrs. Hilker has been associated with the firm for more than fifteen years. Prior to that she held advertising and promotion positions with the J. C. Penney Company in Denver and the Wiebolt Stores of Chicago. After graduation from the College of Human Ecology (Home Economics) at Michigan State University, where she majored in retailing, clothing and related arts, Mrs. Hilker attended Northwestern University on a Wiebolt Scholarship where she received a masters degree in Business Administration. She has taught fashion merchandising at Northwestern University and has served in various capacities for the Association of National Advertising, the Chicago Fashion Group and the Chicago Womens Advertising Club. Active in civic affairs, Mrs. Hilker is a member of the Chicago Art Institute, the Lincoln Park Zoological Association and the Chicago Museum of Natural History. This spring, the College of Human Ecology presented her with a Distinguished Alumni Award.

JAMES W. MILLER

Class of 1949, M.A. 1950, Ph.D. 1956. Deputy director of the Manned Undersea Science and Technology Program for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Department of Commerce. Dr. Miller has headed federal programs in conjunction with other governmental agencies, universities, industry and foreign nations in efforts to measure the performance and physiological functioning of marine scientists living on the ocean floor, and to provide facilities to enable man to work under the sea on science and research projects to obtain a better understanding of the ocean environment and its resources. In 1966 Dr. Miller was presented an Arthur S. Flemming Award when he was selected as one of the ten outstanding young men in the federal government by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. For his contributions he has received numerous other honors, including the Superior Civilian Services Award from the Navy in 1966 and the Navy Distinguished Civilian Award in 1969. Dr. Miller has been elected a fellow in the American Psychological Association and the Human Factors Society, and he is listed in "American Men of Science" and "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry."

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

DONALD J. MORFEE

Class of 1948. President of the Swindell-Dressler Company, engineering and construction division of Pullman Incorporated, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Mr. Morfee joined Swindell-Dressler in 1965 and shortly thereafter was elected executive vice president and in 1970 he was named president. In 1969 he was named to the MSU Alumni Association Executive Board. He has been active in the steel industry since graduation from Michigan State University and he is a member of the American Iron and Steel Institute, American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, the Society of Steel Engineers, American Ceramic Society, American Society of Civil Engineers and Society of American Military Engineers. He is a former Air Force pilot and served in the European Theatre of Operations during World War II. Active in civic, business and fraternal affairs, Mr. Morfee has served the World Affairs Council, Junior Achievement of Southwestern Pennsylvania, and the Duquesne University Foundation. He is a member of the Duquesne Club, University Club and Chartiers Country Club.

JACK N. WIDICK

Class of 1942. Jack Widick is senior vice president of the American Hospital Supply Corporation. After graduation from Michigan State University with a degree in chemistry and mathematics, he joined Cenco Instruments for two years before serving with the Naval Reserves through 1946 when he returned to Cenco where he remained until 1954. Mr. Widick joined the Scientific Productions Division of American Hospital Supply Corporation in 1954 as assistant to the president. Four years later he was named vice president of the division and in 1968 he was promoted to president. In 1971, he was named as a group vice president of American Hospital Supply Corporation and a year later became a member of the board of directors, and earlier this year he was named senior vice president. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, The Chicago Chemists' Club and Alpha Chi Sigma.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

RALPH D. WYCKOFF

Class of 1920. Mr. Wyckoff retired from Gulf Research & Development in 1963 as director of the Instrument Division and vice president of the Gulf Minerals Company and Dominion Gulf Company. Since that time he has served as research professor of geophysics in the Department of Earth and Planetary Sciences at the University of Pittsburgh. Mr. Wyckoff began his career with the Gulf Oil Corporation in 1929 as a research engineer. As his responsibilities increased over the years, he pioneered many concepts on which modern reservoir engineering and oil recovery practices are based. Mr. Wyckoff is known principally for his work as a geophysicist, particularly for his efforts in developing the pendulum for gravity prospecting. He was also instrumental in development of the airborne magnetometer and the Azon bomb, the Allies' only guided missile in regular combat operation during World War II. In 1964, Mr. Wyckoff was awarded the Anthony F. Lucas Gold Medal which recognizes distinguished achievement in improving the technique and practice of finding and producing petroleum. He is a member of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, a fellow of the Physical Society, a member of the Institute of Electric and Electronics Engineers, the Institute of Mining, Metallurgy and Petroleum Engineers, and the Geophysical Union.
